DEWEY ATTACKS SPENDING SPREE OF NEW DEALERS

Says Waste Blocks Prosperity.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Jan. 23.—Thomas E. Dewey, district attorney of New York, tonight attacked the spending policies of the New Deal. He indicted the Roosevelt administration for the "crime" of denying opportunity for jobs to millions of American people.

Thomas E. Dewey.

Dewey, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, addressed an overflow crowd of 16,000 persons at Mechanics' hall here. He declared that the Washington administration has squandered billions of dollars which should have gone into the stream of private enterprise "to transform unemployment into employment, relief into jobs."

It will be the duty of a new G. O. P. administration in Washington next January to bring government expenditures within the borders of sanity, Dewey declared. He asserted that by the end of 1940 the Roosevelt régime will have spent more than half as much money as all previous administrations in the 150 years since George Washington.

Confers with Leaders.

In addition to this major address in the series of speeches Dewey is delivering on his political and economic philosophy, the candidate conferred at length with the influential party leaders in the Bay state.

By this swing into New England the candidate and his supporters hope to create a receptive climate for the election of Dewey delegates in the coming primaries. He visited Rhode Island last night. Tomorrow he will travel to rock ribbed Republican Maine for a talk with G. O. P. leaders at Portland.

Three former Republican governors had lunch with Dewey this noon. They were Chaning H. Cox, Frank G. Allen, and Alvan T. Fuller. Fuller has publicly announced his support of Dewey. He described the young prosecutor as the party's strongest candidate and "the Sir Galahad to lead the Republicans to victory."

Introduced by Cahill.

Lieut. Gov. Horace Cahill introduced Dewey tonight in the absence of Leverett Saltonstall, present Republican governor of Massachusetts who is in Florida recuperating from a severe attack of influenza. A telegram from Saltonstall expressed his disappointment that he was unable to be at the meeting.

Punching the administration in one of its most vulnerable spots—its spending-borrowing policy—Dewey accused the Washington planners of refusing to balance the budget because they found it the easier course "to spend and spend and tax and tax and run up debts and even larger debts which become a burden on coming generations."

TEXT OF DEWEY SPEECH

The text of Dewey's address follows:

"Tonight I want to talk to you about the price of the New Deal—and who pays it. It is spending $17,500 dollars a minute, more than one million dollars an hour. That's the rate at which our government is pouring out money. But that's not the way it is taking it in. The government takes in only 55 cents for every dollar it spends.

"This is a fitting place to talk about this business of government spending. Because in Massachusetts your new Republican governor has not been afraid to take the question of spending and the implications of spending to the people of this commonwealth. He has acted with directness and courage. He has earned wide respect by his course. I know the people of Massachusetts are proud of the achievements of Gov. Saltonstall.

"In the current discussion of our national finances, two questions ap-

ACTION INSURES ANOTHER YEAR'S INQUIRY ON ISMS

5 Illinoisans Oppose Committee.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—The house, by an overwhelming vote of 345 to 21, today indorsed a resolution to extend for another year the Dies committee's investigation of un-American activities. The action followed that of the house rules committee, which yesterday voted unanimous approval of the year's extension.

Martin Dies.

It is expected that an appropriation of $100,000 to finance the 1940 work of the Dies committee will be voted in a day or two, and that the committee will be able to carry on its energetic drive for information on subversive activities. In the last year and a half the committee has exposed such activities on a broad scale.

Five Illinoisans Vote No.

Two hours of explosive oratory preceded the final ballot in the house today. Twenty-five members seized the opportunity to discuss communism in the government and a wide variety of disclosures about subversive activities in America which have been presented by the Dies committee. Similar evidence of a sensational nature remains to be spread upon the record, members of the committee asserted.

Five Illinois Democrats were included among the 21 legislators who opposed continuance of the investigation. They were Representatives Kent E. Keller of Ava, Frank W. Fries of Carlinville, and Raymond S. McKeough, Arthur W. Mitchell, and Adolph J. Sabath of Chicago. No other state had as heavy a representation on the pink brigade—the term which has been applied to opponents of the Dies committee.

No Republicans Opposed.

There were no Republican votes against the resolution. Of the 16 others who voted in the negative one was the American Labor party member from New York City, Vito Marcantonio, who was elected with communist party support, and the remaining 15 were Democrats, making a total of 20 Democrats in opposition. One of these was Mrs. Caroline O'Day [D., N. Y.], close friend of Mrs. Roosevelt, the President's wife, who has criticized the committee for investigating the American Youth congress. Mrs. O'Day said she was against the Dies committee because its methods were un-American.

The other Democrats voting against the extension were Thomas F. Ford, Lee E. Geyer, Franck R. Havenner, and Ed V. Izac, all of California; William T. Schulte of Indiana; Frank E. Hook and Rudolph G. Tenerowicz of Michigan; Joseph B. Shannon of Missouri; Walter M. Pierce of Oregon; Michael J. Bradley, Matthew A. Dunn and James P. McGranery of Pennsylvania; John M. Coffee and Mon C. Wallgren of Washington.

Concentrate Attack on Dies.

The little band of radical members who fought continuation of the inquiry concentrated their attack upon Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the committee, who was absent because of illness. They supported Representative Hook, who made a personal attack upon Dies, accusing the Texan of associating with Merwin K. Hart, whom Hook described as a prominent collaborator of the Christian Front. Seventeen members of this organization were arrested recently in New York City and charged with conspiracy to overthrow the government.

Hook's charges were termed a flimsy tissue of falsehood by a number of members. When he refused to reveal where he had obtained his information Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] introduced a resolution to expunge all of Hook's charges from the record. The resolution was referred to the rules committee, which

Riverside, Cal., Jan. 23 (AP).—Caught in a blinding rainstorm, an army bomber crashed today, killing four of its six occupants. The plane struck Box Springs hill, two miles northeast of Riverside and only seven miles from its army air base destination at March field.

The dead were: First Lieutenant Raymond W. Sumi of Nashwauk, Minn., the pilot; First Lieutenant Benjamin G. Holloway, Columbus, O.; Sergt. Gerald D. Wilcox, Bennett, Ia., and Private Leonard E. Riley, Wichita Falls, Tex.

Two men, Sergt. Cecil C. Purvis, Glennville, Ga., and Private Frank Carroll, Hyde Park, Mass., landed safely by parachute.

Returning from Maneuvers.

March field authorities said the huge metal ship was returning from war game maneuvers at Monterey, Cal., via Sacramento. The plane, a B-18 Douglas bomber, was of the superflying fortress class.

D. M. Stephenson of Riverside, only known witness to the crash, said the plane nosed into the earth but did not burn. He asserted that Carroll landed near him by parachute and together they ran to the wreckage. Carroll was bleeding from the nose and mouth but appeared uninjured otherwise. Here is Carroll's account of the accident, as told by Stephenson:

"We were flying high—about 9,000 feet, I guess—when the motors missed and the ship went into a spin, and we were all ordered out of the plane.

Only Two Get Out.

"Something apparently was wrong with the emergency door, and only two of us were able to get out. The ship was spinning, and there was nothing we could do to stop it. I landed in Piegeon pass, near the wreckage. Purvis came down on Blue mountain, some distance away."

Lieut. Sumi's ship was a unit of the 19th headquarters bombardment group, the air corps division which received the coveted Daedalian and Columbia safety trophies last year for flying many thousands of miles without an accident.

Bad weather also forced down all but one of 38 bombers which set out this morning for March field on a mass flight from Hamilton field, near San Francisco. The planes, particpating in a mass movement of troops, carried 342 enlisted men and 18 officers.

Of that group only one plane reached March field. The others flew into a furious snowstorm north of Bakersfield and landed at that city. The storm halted all commercial aviation in southern California.

OREGON CITY TO BUILD POWERPLANT; CHEAPER THAN FEDERAL OFFER

Eugene, Ore., Jan. 23 (AP).—Water Board Superintendent J. W. McArthur advised Paul J. Raver, Bonneville power administrator, today that Eugene had decided to expand its facilities because it was cheaper than purchasing power from the government.

The superintendent said his statement replied to Raver's request from Washington for information "which could be released to the press" to offset reports that Eugene's action was influenced by a Bonneville policy of dictating resale rates.

McArthur explained in a telegram to Raver that the decision to construct a $510,000 plant was made despite withdrawal of resale restrictions in the final Bonneville proposal.

Home rule figured strongly in the negotiations, McArthur added, until Raver receded from his position that "Uncle Sam should be in the driver's seat."

Eugene, at the southern end of a $2,000,000 transmission line thru the Williamette valley from Vancouver, Wash., was an Oregon pioneer in public ownership.

SOUTH IN WINTER'S GRIP

While Chicago enjoyed moderate wintry weather yesterday the deep south was battling heavy snow storms and low temperatures that threatened to destroy huge quantities of citrus fruits and growing vegetables.

At Knoxville, Tenn., the snowfall was 12 inches and at Atlanta, Ga., 9¼ inches. Columbus, Miss., had nearly a foot of snow and Birmingham, Ala., 8 inches. Zero temperature was recorded at Dallas, Tex., and another Texas city, Fort Worth, was in the midst of the longest period of cold weather in 41 years.

Ice floes were causing trouble for boats on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. Engineers said an ice gorge in the Ohio, upstream from Vevay, Ind., was 100 miles long and that it was forcing the stream to dig new channels. The Mississippi was frozen over solidly at Quincy, Ill.,

Gandhi Poses Independence Plea to India

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 23 (AP).—In a move regarded as a gauge of how vigorously Indians want to press Great Britain during wartime, Mohandas K. Gandhi's Congress party has proposed that each of its organized millions pledge himself anew on Friday to India's independence.

The tenth annual celebration of what the congress calls Indian Independence day will come Friday.

Watch People's Reaction.

Elaborate machinery has been erected to chart the reaction. Gandhi's board of strategy, the working committee of the Congress party, has urged all party members to take the pledge.

The first paragraph of the pledge says:

"We believe that it is the inalienable right of the Indian people to have freedom and enjoy the fruits of their toil and have the necessities of life so that they may have full opportunity for growth. We believe also that if any government deprives the people of these rights and oppresses them, the people have a further right to alter it or abolish it."

[Here the British censor cut out what apparently was a paragraph of the pledge text. Deletion of a word describing the pledge in two places in the story also was made.]

Violence Is Discarded.

The pledge states that congress members recognize the most effective way of gaining freedom is not thru violence, and adds:

"We pledge ourselves anew to the independence of India and solemnly resolve to carry out the nonviolence struggle for freedom. . . . We pledge ourselves to a disciplined observance of Congress principles and policy. . . ."

Gandhi, indicating he favors an honorable compromise with Britain over Indian demands for independence, has arranged a conference with the British viceroy, Lord Linlithgow, for the first week in February.

Scots to Lose Their Kilts as Protection Against Gas

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP).—To protect their legs against poison gas, Scottish soldiers are going to lose their famous kilts. War Secretary Oliver Stanley announced in the house of commons today that Scottish regiments will wear uniforms covering their legs. Only drummers and pipers will be given new kilts.

AMERICANS FLEE RED POLAND; SEE GERMAN TROOPS

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 23.—Thirty-one American refugees arrived in Bucharest today after four nervous months under soviet rule in eastern Poland. They brought the first eyewitness reports of the presence of German troops in Lwow and stories of the dismal living conditions since the Russian occupation.

Map locates points mentioned in story.

These were the first Americans to get away out of a total of 180 who were caught in eastern Poland when Germany and Russia split up that country. The remaining 149 either lacked the proper passports or money for traveling. They were unable to get government aid.

Assemble at Lwow.

The refugees first assembled at Lwow and then traveled across Russian Poland. They entered Rumania yesterday in groups and reached Bucharest today. They plan to leave shortly for America.

Five missionaries from the Congregation of the Holy Cross, Notre Dame, Ind., were among the refugees. They were the Reverends Hilary Paszek, Joseph Kmiecik, B. J. Sbtuczko, and Brothers Roman and Hormisdas. Others included Miss Wanda Peter of Chicago and Arthur Waldo, Polish-American editor of the newspaper Nowy Swiat of New York.

The inhabitants of southeastern Poland, the Americans reported, believe that the Germans are filtering in there slowly so as to be ready for a southward move this spring to cooperate with Russia.

"For two weeks there have been German troops in Lwow, altho I don't know how many," said Waldo. "I saw them myself in the courtyard of the barracks where they are quartered. These were the former barracks of the Polish crack cavalry regiment, the 16th cavalry, I believe."

Troops Hide in Villages.

There are reports in Lwow, Waldo said, of large numbers of German soldiers billeted in obscure villages where they cannot be seen by prying eyes. He said he was unable to go there to verify the reports. He asserted railway officials informed him that five to seven trainloads of Russian troops left Poland every night recently, not toward Finland but in the direction of Podwoloczyska on the former Russian-Polish frontier near Rumania's province of Bessarabia.

Waldo and his wife reached Poland Aug. 22 and tried to escape after the German invasion but they were cut off and arrested by the Germans. They broke out of an old schoolhouse where they were locked up and managed to reach Lwow but had gotten no farther when the Russians arrived there.

The first German soldiers seen in Lwow early in December, Waldo said, went west with about 200 trucks to pick up Germans being returned to the reich. The troops there now, he said, are new arrivals.

Take Over Garrisons.

A Russian colonel explained their presence by telling Waldo that arrangements are being made for the Germans to take over garrisons in the southern parts of Russian Poland, around the oil fields. He asserted that the civil government would remain in Russian hands.

NEWS OF THE NEW BOOKS

A rich man's desire to live indefinitely is one of the leading themes of a striking new novel reviewed today in the Tribune book department on Page 12.

Among other new books reviewed are: a famous American writer's recollections of his childhood, and a startlingly original study of Christopher Columbus by one of the greatest modern Spanish philosophers.

175 MEN PERISH AS SUB OR MINE SINKS WARSHIP

England's 23d Naval Casualty to Date.

LONDON, Jan. 24, Wednesday (AP).—Great Britain early today announced that its swift destroyer Exmouth had been sunk by a torpedo or mine and that every one of nearly 200 officers and men aboard was believed to have perished.

The 1,475 ton flotilla leader had a normal complement of 175 men, but such complements usually are increased about 10 per cent in wartime.

It was Britain's twenty-third acknowledged naval ship loss since the war began less than five months ago; its second destroyer sunk within four days, and its heaviest loss of life at sea since November. A terse admiralty announcement said:

"It is feared there are no survivors."

Sunk in North Sea.

The scene of the sinking was the North sea, where another British destroyer, the 1,485 ton Grenville, also a flotilla leader, went down Saturday with the loss of 81 men. In that disaster 118 men were saved.

The Exmouth, of the same class as the Grenville, was completed in 1934 at a cost of $1,320,956. Of the Admiralty type, it carried five 4.7 inch guns, seven smaller guns, and eight 21 inch torpedo tubes. It was the fifth destroyer lost and the first to go down with all hands. The other destroyers lost, besides the Grenville, were the Blanche and Gypsy, sunk by mines and the Duchess, lost in a collision.

With the sinking of the Exmouth, Britain's acknowledged naval losses to date total 82,088 tons. The biggest casualties were the 29,150 ton battleship Royal Oak, torpedoed at the Scapa Flow naval base on Nov. 14 with a loss of 786 lives, and the 22,500 ton aircraft carrier Courageous, torpedoed in the English channel on Sept. 18 with a loss of 578 lives. On Nov. 25 the German pocket battleship Deutschland sank the British armed merchant cruiser Rawalpindi off the coast of Iceland with a loss of 280 lives.

Comparison with Nazi Losses.

Against the British sinkings, Germany has admitted the loss of only the 10,000 ton pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee, a few submarines and two 400 ton patrol boats. Winston Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty, claims, however, that the Nazi sea losses have been much higher, including half of Germany's U-boats.

The Exmouth was commanded by Capt. R. S. Benson, who last month received the distinguished service order for successful action against enemy submarines. He was on the bridge of the Exmouth at that time.

Earlier it had been announced that the British 1,523 ton vessel Baltanglia and the Norwegian 1,598 ton Pluto sank after striking mines off the English northeast coast. No lives were lost. Reuters [British news agency] said the Norwegian steamer Sydfold, 2,433 tons, had been sunk by a mine or torpedo off the Scottish coast. Five of the crew were missing and 19 were rescued by another Norwegian ship.

The recent sinking of the 1,304 ton Swedish steamer Foxen also was disclosed by British sources. No details were given.

The admiralty listed four British and eleven neutral ships as lost last week—a total of nearly 60,000 tons of shipping. It said three German ships were lost, one by scuttling, one by a mine, and one by capture.

JAPANESE ANGER GROWS

TOKIO, Jan. 24, Wednesday (AP).—Japanese indignation over a British cruiser's seizure of 21 Germans from a Japanese liner increased today. Domei, authoritative news agency, reported that ranking naval officials in Tokio had discussed "measures designed to prevent a recurrence" of the incident. The Germans were taken off the liner Asama Maru Saturday within 35 miles of Yokohama.

Navy Minister Admiral Zengo Yoshida met with admirals commanding the Japanese fleets and naval bases. A spokesman declined to discuss their decision other than to say "we are waiting for Britain's reply to the Japanese protest."

Repeats Japan's Protest.

Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita summoned Sir Robert Craigie, the British ambassador, to a conference yesterday during which, Domei said, Arita repeated his government's protest against the affair and also a request that Britain refrain from further halting of Japanese ships. At least three other Japanese ships now on the seas are known to be carrying Germans.

[In London a British spokesman said the Japanese protest did not challenge Britain's right to halt and search a Japanese ship, but expressed concern over the status of the Germans. The spokesman said Britain considered the captured seamen a potential part of a belligerent force because Germany has conscripted its manpower.]

Domei said Arita told Craigie that Japan was making full preparations to "take adequate effective measures" in upholding its contention the seizure was illegal. Observers expressed belief a Japanese neutrality patrol might be established if another incident occurs.

Demands Return of Germans.

Arita was said to have informed Craigie that the seizure had greatly aroused the Japanese and a recurrence would "greatly affect" the relations between the two countries.

With the cabinet's backing Arita announced he would "insist that the Germans taken from the Asama Maru be returned to Japan" by the British.

Arita explained the incident to the privy council while 50 members of the diet visited Prime Minister Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai for an official explanation.

The Japanese Seaman's union, with a membership of 120,000, issued a statement at Kobe censuring Capt. Watanabe of the Asama Maru for "betraying the seamanship of Japan" by allowing the British to take the Germans.

Another Liner Stopped.

HONOLULU, Jan. 23 (AP).—A prominent passenger aboard the Tatuta Maru radioed the Honolulu Star-Bulletin today that the Japanese liner had been stopped by a destroyer, but had not been searched.

The passenger, who asked that his identity not be disclosed, said the destroyer inquired as to the Tatuta Maru's destination. The liner in turn asked the name of the destroyer and to what nation it belonged, but received no answer.

There are five Germans aboard the liner.

New Incident in the Making.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Jan. 23 (AP).—Informed sources today declared a second British-Japanese incident appeared in the making with the sailing of the Japanese liner Heiyo Maru from Valparaiso, Chile, with 23 German officers and seamen bound for Germany. These sources said the British Pacific patrol was expected to stop the Japanese ship and take off the Germans.

The Germans went to Valparaiso from east coast ports where their ships have been tied up by the British blockade. The Heiyo Maru left Valparaiso Jan. 20.

CHINESE REPEL JAPANESE DRIVE IN SNOWSTORM

HONGKONG, Jan. 23 (AP).—In battles fought in pelting snowstorms and bitter cold, the Chinese reported today they had routed a Japanese attack near Chaocheng in western Shantung province; thrown back a Japanese attempt to break thru their lines in northern Hupeh province, and dynamited two troop trains in Shantung.

In the Chaocheng battle the Chinese said many Japanese dead and large quantities of arms were left on the field. Many were killed when the trains were blown up on the Tsingtao-Tsinan railroad, they said.

GERMANS RAID FRENCH; EACH SIDE CLAIMS VICTORY IN FIGHTING

PARIS, Jan. 23 (AP).—The British-French high command's communique tonight said: "Nothing to report."

This morning's war summary stated: "West of the Vosges mountains an enemy raid was repulsed with losses." Military quarters added that a French outpost blasted the German raiders, causing them to retire in confusion and leave their dead behind.

Prisoners Taken, Says Berlin.

"In the border region southeast of Pirmasens a scouting troop without any losses took several prisoners. Besides the captives the enemy lost numerous dead."

FREEDOM ISSUE CLOSED, DECLARE FILIPINO LEADERS

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 23 (AP).—Assembly leaders and other politicians said today President Manuel Quezon's address yesterday on the state of the nation had closed the door to reëxamination of the question of Philippine independence.

Others, including some American observers, said they felt Quezon had left the door open to reëxamination of the problem, as suggested by former High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, in light of world conditions.

Liberty Set for 1946.

Present plans call for complete independence for the islands in 1946.

Quezon declared in his address that despite the possibility of aggression from some other power after independence, the Philippines "must secure a place, however modest, in the concert of free nations."

Going Free, Says Speaker.

Jose Yulo, assembly speaker, said the statement was a clearcut definition of Quezon's attitude toward independence and declared that Filipinos could now "concentrate our efforts to prepare the country for the responsibilities of independence in 1946, instead of laboring under false expectation that they can indefinitely continue to depend upon the generosity of the United States for our national well-being and security."

High Commissioner Francis B. Sayre said Quezon's address was courageous and challenging and manifested his high qualities of leadership.

Britain Will Fix 20 Mile Speed Limit in Blackout

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP).—Capt. Euan Wallace, minister of transport, announced today in commons that Britain's blackout restrictions would be continued despite protests. He also said a 20 mile speed limit would be imposed in urban areas to help curb accidental deaths during such air raid precautions.

VATICAN SPEAKER CHARGES POLAND IS BEING STARVED

Broadcasts Claims of Nazi Oppression.

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 23 (AP).—The Vatican radio station today broadcast in English an account of horror and inexcusable excesses which a speaker said had been inflicted on Poles under German rule and which, he said, had pained the pope.

The speaker, identified as an English Jesuit recently returned from Poland, said 70 per cent of the Polish population was facing starvation and that Poles and Jews were being herded into separate ghettoes while food reserves and tools were stripped from Poland to replenish German stores.

Not an Official Statement.

The speaker broadcast the same account in Italian last night and arrangements were made for a broadcast in German later today. The broadcast was not an official church statement, but the station is under Vatican control.

The speaker said that bad as conditions were in the soviet occupied part of Poland, even more violent and persistent is the assault on elementary justice and decency in that part of prostrate Poland which has fallen to German administration.

The richest part of Poland, he said, has unceremoniously been stolen from its rightful proprietors, who are being packed off in foul smelling trains.

Calls Methods Brutal.

The broadcaster asserted that a system of inferior deportation and ignominy is being organized in the depths of one of Europe's severest winters on principles and by methods that can be described only as brutal.

He said that the majority of the clergy in western Poland had been arrested, the greater number of churches closed, and church records confiscated by the Germans.

"Boys and girls are herded together and transported to Germany like slaves for hard labor," he said.

Sets Forth 4 Reasons in Defense of Actions.

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP).—The British government stood firm tonight in defense of its war blockade practices in an increasingly serious conflict with American interests, even at the risk of new strain on Anglo-American friendship.

Britannia, confident that it rules the waves, indicated sympathy with American annoyance at lengthy delays of ships and seizure of cargoes, especially at Gibraltar, just as it did on the questions of the Pan-American neutrality belt and interference with American mails. Again, however, it had an uncompromising reply.

In this case an official British spokesman replied to an aide memoire given to Lord Lothian, the British ambassador at Washington, D. C., last Saturday, by Secretary of State Cordell Hull. This diplomatic document, a formal reminder of preceding oral representations, objected to discriminatory treatment of American shipping in the Mediterranean and expressed the American government's serious concern.

Gives Reasons for Delays.

The British spokesman, on behalf of the ministry of economic warfare, gave four reasons why American ships were delayed at contraband control stations three times as long as those of Italy, which, incidentally, is the object of intensive British diplomatic courtship:

1. Failure to supply advance information concerning their cargoes.

2. The mixed nature of these cargoes, often including as many as 300 items, thus requiring a longer time for examination than those of Italian ships, which are largely bulk.

3. Varied destinations in the Mediterranean of American ships, whereas Italian ships usually go only to Italy.

4. Neglect by American shippers to take full advantage of various British schemes of guarantees that goods carried will not reach Germany.

France Spurns Safety Zone.

The French government at the same time issued a statement refusing to renounce the right of empire ships to counterattack if fired upon by German warships in the 300 mile Pan-American safety belt. This followed a previous British declaration similarly reserving belligerent rights in the zone.

Like the British, the French suggested that the American governments give satisfying assurances against the presence of German warships or supply ships within the zone, if the Americas really want those waters respected.

The French also demanded effective measures to keep German ships in American ports once they have taken refuge there, and complained of lack of control by the various American governments of unneutral activities by radio.

The United States has made complaints to Britain on these other phases of the British war effort:

Suspension of tobacco imports from the United States in order to conserve the British hoard of dollars for war purchases; forcing of American ships into war zones, in contravention of American neutrality legislation, for examination of cargoes; the general blockade of German exports.

Reports Export Recovery.

Today Lord Stamp, economic adviser to the government, told the house of lords that British export trade was recovering but urged a constant watch on those things which enter into export costs and deprive Britain of the means by which the nation can live and win the war.

Lord Elibank, suggesting the establishment of wage control boards, said Britain would find it difficult to compete in foreign markets if its prices rise out of proportion to economic circumstances.

Wages, he said, already were 12½ per cent higher since the start of the war. The ministry of labor, however, reported clothing prices 20 per cent higher, food prices 14 per cent higher and fuel 7 per cent higher than in September.

Delegates representing 87,000 Scottish mine workers agreed, in Glasgow, to demand a 2 shilling [40 cents] increase in the minimum daily wage, which now is eight shillings [$1.60].

NO EXTENSION OF TRADE PACT, JAPANESE TOLD

Must Negotiate to Gain New Treaty.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan 23.—The United States today made it plain to Japan that this government will not negotiate a temporary agreement with Tokio to replace the commercial treaty which expires at midnight Friday.

Kensuke Horinouchi.

Kensuke Horinouchi, Japanese ambassador, was told that the United States means to stand by its renunciation of the Japanese treaty in protest against Japan's aggression in the far east.

By this action the state department indicated its disbelief of reports received by several members of the senate foreign relations committee that Japan and Britain have negotiated a secret treaty. It was reported that Britain has purportedly agreed to recognize Japanese domination of China and to remain neutral in the event of a war between Japan and the United States in return for Japan's pledge not to molest Hongkong, Singapore, Australia, New Zealand, and Dutch colonies in the West Indies.

Ambassador Sees Berle.

The Japanese ambassador came to the state department to consult Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who was at home with a cold. He then presented three specific questions relating to what Japan can expect on expiration of the treaty to Assistant Secretary of State Adolph A. Berle Jr. The questions were:

1. Whether, on the expiration of the treaty, there would be any change in import duties on Japanese products and port tonnage rates on Japanese ships.

2. Whether there was any possibility of an exchange of notes between the two governments defining the status of trade relations.

3. What would be the status, following expiration of the treaty, of Japanese merchants, who under provisions of the treaty have been doing business in the United States.

Depends on Developments.

In response to the first question he was told that the expiration of the treaty would not, of itself, bring about any changes, that the future commercial relations between the two countries would depend entirely upon developments.

Concerning possibility of an exchange of notes defining the status of trade relations between the two countries, he was told that this question would have to be held open.

As for the status of Japanese merchants, the ambassador was told that it has been decided that allens who, in the absence of treaty provisions, cease to have the status of treaty merchants may be permitted to qualify as visitors temporarily admitted for business or pleasure under the immigration act of 1924.

Uruguayan Ministers Ask $65,800 Grant to Aid Finns

MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 23 (AP).—The council of ministers approved today the Uruguayan government's bill to contribute 100,000 pesos [about $65,800] to the aid of Finland. The bill now goes to congress.

PADEREWSKI: I'LL DELIVER POLAND FROM CAPTIVITY

Pianist Made President of Exiled Parliament.

PARIS, Jan. 23 (AP).—Weak with the weight of his 79 years but undaunted in spirit, Ignace Jan Paderewski stirred to tears the Polish parliament in exile, which elected him its president today, in pledging that body to raise Poland "from the ruins."

Ignace Paderewski.

The slender pianist's hands, which won Paderewski world fame but have not touched a keyboard since Germany invaded Poland, brushed aside the cobwebs of 20 years' political retirement to take the president's gavel of the national council.

"I do not know," the white haired musician said as tears streamed down the faces of the delegates in the Grand ballroom of the Polish embassy, "if God will let me take part much longer in the work of the national council."

Calls Poland Immortal.

Altho he had to be helped to his feet by a secretary, Paderewski's voice gained strength and rose almost to a shout as he cried:

"Poland is immortal. We will deliver her from captivity and will raise her from the ruins. We take this engagement before God!"

Paderewski, who served as the first premier of Poland in 1919, declared the creation of a powerful army was the government's first aim and appealed for unity in internal matters to concentrate on rebuilding Poland.

He gave special thanks to America's Poles "to whose generosity we owe a great part of our power to aid the Polish refugees and population in distress."

With a show of the old time political vigor with which he led Poland's fight for freedom during world war days, Paderewski said he was certain that Polish "governments in the last 13 years were in a large part responsible for the fate which has stricken Poland."

Leaves Piano Behind.

Apparently the acceptance of the council presidency meant the end of the great pianist's musical career.

Paderewski for the first time in two decades left his piano at home in Switzerland when he came to Paris.

"I do not want it," he explained. "I have no need for it."

He frequently toured the United States giving concerts. His last tour ended in New York last May when he suffered a heart attack.

A large portion of the millions he earned—particularly in the United States—has been donated to Poland.

After being conquered by Germany last fall the Poles set up a government in exile in Angers, France.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 23 (AP).—An orchestra leader, a radio singer and a film actress have given legal notice that wedding bells are in the offing.

Harold Wesley [Hal] Grayson, 31, orchestra leader, and Frances Bowe Slaugh, 21, whom he met while playing at Catalina Island, said they would be wed Sunday.

Maris Wrixon, young actress, and Rudolph A. Fehr, a film cutter, plan to be married when screen duties permit.

American Mail Reaches Germany After 3 Months

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Letters mailed months ago to Americans in Germany by Americans in the United States occasionally filter thru the ironclad English censorship and arrive at their destination here. Some Americans this week received letters mailed at the end of October and early in November. Clipper mail in recent weeks has failed to arrive.

RUSSIAN FLYERS STRIKE FINLAND WITH NEW RAIDS

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 23 (AP).—Soviet warplanes swarmed over central Finland anew today, killing 19 persons and wounding many at the rail center of Nurmes with a single bomb, while the Red army was reported to have lost more than 1,000 men in a furious but futile land offensive against unyielding Finnish lines.

The casualties at Nurmes were caused when a soviet air bomb scored a direct hit on a crowded air raid shelter. Other persons were wounded in subsequent machine gunning of the population.

The raid on Nurmes, which is on the northern shore of Lake Pielinen, apparently was aimed at the railroad which runs northwestward across the country to the Swedish frontier.

Report Hospital Bombed.

In another raid on Hyrynsalmi, 100 miles north of Nurmes, a hospital was reported bombed but there was no immediate report of any casualties.

Unofficial advices said that Hango, Finland's "Gibraltar of the Baltic," and Tamisaari also were raided. Other soviet raiders appeared over Helsingfors and Rovaniemi, in Finnish Lapland, but were driven off by antiaircraft guns.

The Finns are reconciled to the probability that there will be thousands more of these raids. Already 102 of Finland's larger towns and cities have been bombed.

1,000 Killed in Two Days.

North of Lake Ladoga, the Finnish high command's night communique said the Russians left more than 1,000 dead after two days of unsuccessful mass assaults in the vicinity of the Kollaan river.

One Russian tank was destroyed and two more were put out of commission on the Karelian isthmus, the communique said, during a violent artillery duel which broke up soviet reconnaissance patrols between Summa and Muolajarvi.

Six, and possibly nine, soviet warplanes were reported downed while Finnish aircraft carried out photographic and reconnaissance flights and directed artillery fire against the invaders.

Warships Hit by Bombs.

Major attention was directed to activity across the Gulf of Finland, where the Russians were rushing ground preparations for further air onslaughts against the Finns from the new soviet bases in Estonia.

New damage inflicted on the Red fleet was reported by Scandinavian correspondents who said the 23,606 ton Russian battleship Marat was damaged in a Finnish air raid on Sunday on the soviet naval base at Kronstadt, near Leningrad.

These dispatches said the 8,500 ton soviet cruiser Kirov, presumably laid up in Kronstadt for repair of damage previously caused by Finnish shells, was struck again in the same raid.

Additional dispatches from Latvia said the Red fleet had lost three destroyers, a number of auxiliary vessels and a battleship since the war started. The 23,256 ton battleship October Revolution, flagship of the Baltic fleet, was said to have been put out of commission for several months by Finnish warplanes which bombed her in port.

In addition, mines were reported to have sent to the bottom two Russian submarines and four minesweepers.

The Red fleet sank two German and two Finnish vessels, one Estonian merchant ship and several Estonian fishing boats before it became virtually frozen up two weeks ago.

Revive Attacks in North.

KIRKENES, Norway, Jan. 23 (AP).—Revival of military activity in the Petsamo region of Finland was indicated today by the sound of artillery fire at Pitkajarvi, 15 miles south of the arctic nickel mining town of Salmijarvi.

Observers on the Norwegian side of the border meanwhile were puzzled by the way a large number of Russian bombing planes have concentrated on an uninhabited region of Finland in the last few days.

Yesterday they dropped 600 incendiary and 400 high explosive bombs in a small area where there are no Finnish soldiers or civilians. They damaged a log hut.

The Russian Communique.

"Jan. 23: Ukhta and Repola sectors [opposite Suomussalmi and Lieksa in Finland], activities of scouts. Petrozavodsk sector [northeast of Lake Ladoga], activities of some infantry detachments. Karelian isthmus, artillery fire and activities of scouts. Soviet aviation made reconnoitering and fighting flights."

EMPIRES WARN RUMANIA ON OIL SUPPLY TO NAZIS

Will Resist Pressure on Foreign Firms.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 23 (AP).—Rumania was warned by Great Britain and France today that grave complications might follow any attempt to compel British and French oil companies in Rumania to furnish oil for Germany.

Rumania recently created a national petroleum commission with sweeping powers over Rumanian oil production, and some foreign circles believed this was in response to German pressure to obtain all the oil possible from Rumania.

The new commission can control production, refining and export of all Rumanian oil in conformity with the interests of the state, and has authority to take over companies not submitting to its orders.

Resist Forced Production.

The envoys of Britain and France were understood to have told the Rumanian government today that while their governments did not dispute Rumania's right to regulate the oil industry, they would not tolerate forced production by British and French owned companies for the benefit of Germany.

At the same time reliable sources reported that two passenger trains from Bucharest to Berlin via Russian Poland would begin service early next month. This resumption, the informants stated, was made possible by soviet consent to German operations and policing of some 200 miles of rail line thru annexed Russian territory.

Germany's main object in getting control over this line was not resumption of passenger service, these sources explained, but to speed up much needed shipments of Rumanian oil and wheat.

Germans Deny Reports.

BERLIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—Authorized German sources today denied Rumanian reports that German troops and railwaymen were deployed along the rail line through Russian occupied Poland to the Rumanian frontier.

They said Russia was administering this section of former Poland alone.

Great Britain was accused by the Germans of spreading reports that the reich was pressing Rumania because of an oil shortage and that the Polish oil fields were about to be taken over by Germany.

This was termed by authorized sources as a build-up for Winston Churchill's speech last Saturday, in which the first lord of the British admiralty urged the small neutral nations to go to war with Germany.

NAVY EXERCISES ONLY ROUTINE, SAYS PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23 [Special].—President Roosevelt today dismissed as routine the maneuvers of 22 vessels of the Atlantic squadron in the Caribbean sea. The knowledge of the maneuvers became public here when reports were received that the Atlantic squadron had been sighted in the area which was recently designated as a special army and navy department.

The Atlantic squadron exercises are the first to be undertaken separately by the newly created wing of the fleet. Last February the Atlantic squadron coöperated with the entire fleet in maneuvers in the Caribbean, which were witnessed by the President.

The vessels are engaged in normal training exercises, Mr. Roosevelt said, altho no Atlantic squadron has engaged in such exercises since before the world war.

COMMONS AIRS RECEPTION GIVEN HITLER'S FRIEND

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP).—The furore over the recent return from Germany of Unity Freeman-Mitford, English admirer of Fuehrer Hitler, echoed today in the house of commons.

War Secretary Oliver Stanley in response to questions said that only normal wartime precautions were taken at Folkestone on Jan. 3, except for two extra sentries, when she was brought back on a stretcher. As far as military authorities were concerned no special expense was involved, Stanley said.

Miss Freeman-Mitford, daughter of Lord Redesdale, had a bandaged neck when she arrived at the channel port. There were unconfirmed reports that she was suffering from a bullet wound.

HELD IN ATTEMPTED RAPE.

Luther Ceshley, colored, was arrested yesterday in his home at 1116 North Franklin street for questioning about the beating, robbing, and attempted rape of a woman in the 1100 block of Felton court Monday night. The woman identified Ceshley, who is 29 years old. He denied the charge.

A romance that began 18 months ago while both were working at the Bon Air Country club, near Wheeling, will culminate Sunday in the marriage in Chicago of Robert Eberly, singer with Jimmy Dorsey's orchestra, and Miss Florine Callahan, a New York City chorus girl. Eberly gave his age as 23 and Miss Callahan's as 25 when they obtained a marriage license at the county clerk's office yesterday. They will be married in St. Mary's church.

HERTZOG OFFERS RESOLUTION TO RESTORE PEACE

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Jan. 23 (AP).—Gen. J. B. Hertzog, former prime minister, today told parliament that the time has come when the war against Germany should be ended and peace restored before the world plunges into great slaughter. Hertzog, who resigned as prime minister last Sept. 6 when beaten in his stand against a declaration of war, offered a resolution favoring peace to the first session of parliament since that in which he relinquished his office to Gen. Jan Christiaan Smuts.

AMERICANS FLEE RED POLAND; SEE GERMAN TROOPS

Tell of Army's Activity Near Rumania.

was made when the Russians took a military census Dec. 7 to Jan. 7. They listed all men between the ages of 18 and 50. These persons probably will be drafted into the army in May.

Faced with the prospect of all able-bodied men being taken to Russia, inhabitants are whispering of a possible revolt, the refugees said.

Many priests, former Polish soldiers, Ukrainian nationalists, and Jews have been deported to Russia. Fourteen thousand voluntarily went to work in the coal mines, the refugees said, adding that many fled when they saw the working and living conditions. Some got back to Poland.

Rumanians Worried.

What the Rumanians dislike about the reports of the German infiltration and military preparations in that region is that it is just opposite their frontier, near Cernauti, where the valleys of the Rivers Prut and Siretu [Sireth] offer the best natural route for invasion. The concentration of military forces there worries them, even if the number still is small.

Lwow is in a region of Poland rich in petroleum deposits. It is possible the Germans are there merely to protect oil supplies which, it was reported here, Russia intends to turn over to Germany. In 1938 the wells in the Borislaw region near Lwow produced 325,000 tons of oil.

It was learned that at least one well was sabotaged recently by dropping into it part of the machinery, which breaks any drill used in an effort to open it up.

The American refugees told gloomy stories of disorganization in Russian Poland with a rapidly inceasing food shortage and general hardship due to the lack of fuel and other necessities.

Conditions have not yet reached the famine stage, they said. They declared they did not suffer but poorer persons were unable to get enough to eat. Everything useful, even scrap-iron and rags, is being shipped into Russia, they said.

Clothing, all forms of textiles, and leather virtually have vanished from shops. These goods are being shipped to Russia. All shops were "nationalized" in the first week of January. The doors were sealed until inventories can be taken and the management is organized. Most stocks, however, already had been exhausted.

The hotels are unheated because fuel is not obtainable, the refugees said. Hotels seldom serve proper meals even at high prices.

Peasants Disillusioned.

Conditions, they asserted, have disillusioned Ukrainian peasants who greeted the Russian troops in September as their liberators. The peasants built triumphal arches in the villages and threw flowers before the soldiers as they entered. That was because they hoped for better living conditions and an independent Ukrainian republic as promised by the soviets.

Prices are skyrocketing, the Americans said. Butter, which cost 40 cents a pound in September, now costs $3.60 when it can be found at all. Other prices are rising proportionately.

Apart from the food shortage many persons are hungry because they cannot pay the prices, the refugees reported. They said it was necessary to stand in line many hours because only about a dozen shops are open in Lwow, altho the population is about 600,000. One refugee said there was a bread shortage because it had been taken for the German soldiers.

The American missionaries reported that mission buildings at Czartoryzk were seized by the government, but that they were not molested and were allowed to stay there. They said they could not engage in missionary work because that was considered meddling in politics.

The refugees told of the miserable conditions of the Russian soldiers who wore thin overcoats, cotton shirts, and no underclothes except such rags as they could find to wrap around themselves.

A TRAVEL TOUR—THAT'S WRITER'S WEST FRONT LIFE

French Army Shows Sights but Keeps Secrets.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE WITH THE FRENCH ARMY, Jan. 23.—This city, which must not be named, is where foreign correspondents gather to get their news of the French front lines. They find a well organized military press service that takes them on routine tours like any good travel agency. There are certain classic attractions, such as great fortresses of the Maginot line, which one is assured no conscientious traveler should miss any more than a tourist in the American Rockies should skip Yellowstone park.

After going thru this routine for eight days, I find that I have seen many things personally interesting but am stumped by the problem of what one may write for American readers. The classic sights have been described; the stock of adjectives used to describe the Maginot line fortresses must now be exhausted, and I am sure the world has had plenty of literature on the dead and deserted city of Strasbourg.

Censors Are Problem.

To be sure, I have picked up a few picturesque anecdotes and made some notes on details of the way in which the French military machine is working. But as soon as I mention these to the proper authorities, I am told these are exactly the items that could never get past the censors.

All activity in eastern France is dominated at present by the temperature. This is the most severe winter Europe has known in a generation. It appears to have affected each side equally and operations have been practically at a standstill.

One afternoon while bending to the bitter wind on a hilltop in one of the bigger works of the Maginot line, I heard occasional explosions far over to the right, about one every 20 minutes.

Shells Begin Their Journey.

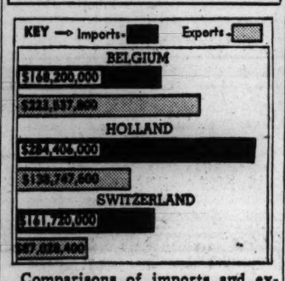
"Those are our guns," said the official who was accompanying me. "We are hearing only the departure of the shells. They are so far off that you can't hear their contact explosions. Those guns probably are 155's [155 millimeter guns, about 6.1 inch]."

On another day, in the foothills of the Vosges mountains, I heard a cannonade at a distance. This time the shots were close enough together to produce the characteristic roll of bombardment. This lasted for about an hour, then ceased. The officer accompanying me conjectured that the noise was caused by a "coup de main," meaning a local operation carried on for a specific purpose, usually the taking of prisoners.

These two cases were all the military activity I heard or saw. This does not mean that the front was completely tranquil.

The quietest of all sectors appears to be one directly along the Rhine river. The officer commanding the Kehl bridgehead of Strasbourg, where thru field glasses at a loophole in a casemate we saw the Germans moving about, said he had not heard a shot from the opposite bank for three days.

War Hits Trade



Comparisons of imports and exports of three neutrals during the first four months of the war.

BELGIANS ANGRY OVER BRITISH BID TO JOIN IN WAR

Do Not Need Advice, Churchill Told.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Jan. 23.—While the indignation of the Belgian government and press has been somewhat mollified by the official British statement that Winston Churchill was speaking only for himself Saturday when he urged the small neutrals to join forces with the empires against Germany, the reaction to the speech has been anything but what the first lord of Great Britain's admiralty would desire, either here or in Holland.

Calls Speech Serenade.

"Even Britain's friends in the government," THE TRIBUNE was told officially, "deeply resent Churchill's advice. We noted that he was careful not to give offense to America, but picked out the small nations whose safety, and even life, may depend upon their maintenance of the strictest neutrality. The suggestion that the Belgian king and government are unmindful of the best interests of the nation, coming as it does from a high British official, certainly has made a bad impression."

The newspaper Pays Reel today characterized Churchill's speech as a serenade.

It is natural, the editor said, that England should want allies, but Belgium is sufficiently endowed with good sense to know what to do without listening to his [Churchill's] advice.

"Our king imposed our policy of independence and neutrality because that was the wish and interest of the country," Pays Reel said.

Belgian Trade Better.

Economic circles were interested today in publication of Belgium's trade figures for the last four months of 1939. Altho not reaching prewar totals, they did discover in them a surprising and happy fact. During that period Belgium's excess exports over imports rose from 10 to 133 per cent over the similar period in 1938. This was accomplished in Belgium when the normal unfavorable trade balances in Switzerland and Holland increased.

During the war period of 1939 Belgium imported goods valued at $168,200,000 and exported $223,537,800 worth. During the same period Holland's exports amounted to $138,747,600 as against imports of $284,406,000. Switzerland's imports amounted to $161,720,000 against exports of $87,028,400.

CANADA AND U. S. COMPARE ALASKA HIGHWAY PLANS

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 23 (AP).—Canadian and American studies of possible routes for the British Columbia-Alaska highway will be compared here tomorrow when the United States and Canadian commissions meet for the second time.

The commissions hope to arrive at similar recommendations for submission to their respective governments. Military usefulness of the highway possibly will be a factor in the American commission's plans.

The commissions first met jointly in Victoria, B. C., last June, and extensive surveys of possible routes thru British Columbia and the Yukon have since been made.

Rep. Warren G. Magnuson [D., Wash.] heads the United States group.

ROOM AND BOARD $10 A DAY! THAT'S THE BERLIN PRICE

Hotel Rooms Cold; Meals Simple and Expensive.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Prices of meals in Berlin hotels and restaurants are prohibitive for ordinary Germans who occasionally, ate in a high class establishment as a treat before the war.

With the food problem growing more serious, it is almost impossible to eat even the simplest food in fairly good restaurants or hotels for less than $4.50 to $6 a day. It is quite easy to spend $8 to $10. These prices prevail in a half dozen of the best eating places in the capital, but it is only in those restaurants that food is available in anything like adequate quantities for normal prewar appetites.

3 Meals Cost $5.60.

Breakfast at my hotel cost 80 cents. "German coffee" [a substitute], a small piece of butter, two small gray rolls, and jam was served. This can be varied by having "German tea." The luncheon cost $2.80. There was soup, a small pork chop, a small portion of potatoes and carrots, German coffee, apple tart, bread, and butter. My $2 dinner last night consisted of potato soup, macaroni, endive salad, bread, butter, and German coffee. Yesterday was a meatless day and it was possible to eat somewhat cheaper.

Germans who have been unable to invite guests to dinner because of food rations today learned that the regulations will be relaxed for a few special occasions.

Henceforth extra rations will be allowed wedding parties and 25, 50, and 60 year wedding anniversaries. Guests will be limited to 12, and proof must be submitted that the occasion falls within the prescribed rules. Guests also must be identified as bona fide to prevent abuses of this privilege. Hosts will be allowed to purchase for each member of the party about 5 ounces of meat and 1½ ounces of fat, such as margarine or butter.

Hotel Rooms Expensive.

Even the biggest Berlin hotels fail to offer the minimum in prewar comfort. Rooms are expensive and as a result of the coal shortage heat is nonexistent except in a few high class establishments. Usually hot water is not available.

I am paying $6 a day for a small room with a bath in which lukewarm water is available from 6 to 11 a. m. The radiators are slightly warm to the touch but give little heat.

The houses of diplomats are well heated and when I visited the propaganda ministry I found it cozy.

I arrived in Berlin after a 24 hour ride from Basel, Switzerland. During the trip many soldiers and civilians stood up for 10 to 15 hours in frigid, unheated corridors. The compartments of the train were heated. Persons crowded into them in addition to the six passengers who had seats. The passengers in the compartments voluntarily relinquished their places at times to give those in the corridors a chance to come in and thaw out.

Unable to Reach Diner.

There was a diner on the train, but the corridors were so jammed with passengers and luggage that it was impossible to reach it. The conductors made no attempt to collect tickets. The train was due in Berlin at 10 p. m. and arrived at 2 a. m. Delays of eight to 10 hours are not unusual, however, and over the weekend Berlin trains arrived in Basel 17 hours late.

The cold was blamed for the delay and one German asked how American trains managed to operate on time with three to four months of cold every year.

PRESS LASHES ITALY'S CITIES FOR THEIR LOW RECORDS IN BIRTH RATE

ROME, Jan. 23.—Italy's urban centers, particularly in the north, are held up to scorn in all newspapers today for their low birth rates.

Southern Italy, and especially the farming districts, reported the highest rates. The new province of Littoria, in the former Pontine marshes, led with 46.1 births per 1,000, and was followed by Zara with 37.4.

Cities reported as follows: Naples, 27; Palermo, 26.1; Rome, 24.2; Milan, 16.1; Florence, 15.8; Trieste, 15; Turin, 14.9, and Genoa, 14.

The figures show the cause is moral and not material, said the Messaggero, which warned that the culprits will be "pursued and fought."

DENY APPEALS OF 2 IRISH BOMBERS; ONE CHANCE LEFT

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP).—The appeals of two Irishmen from death sentences for the Coventry bombing last August which cost five lives were rejected today by the court of criminal appeal as more than 100 officers stood on guard. Possible action by the illegal Irish Republican Army was feared. The date of execution of the two, Peter Barnes, 32 years old, and James Richards, 29, will be set by the home office unless a commutation is granted by their only avenue of appeal, the home secretary. They were convicted of murder in the death of a woman victim.

DISCLOSE TERMS OF WANG'S DEAL WITH JAPANESE

Gives Tokio Many Rights; Gets Few in Return.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 23 (AP).—As former Chinese Premier Wang Ching-wei opened an oft-postponed crucial conference at Tsingtao today to promote establishment of a Japanese-approved new central government in China, his followers here disclosed that a "gentlemen's agreement" already has been signed for a peace with Japan.

This agreement, they said, was signed by Wang and "unofficial" representatives of the Japanese government with the approval of the Japanese army. It contains 12 points under which Wang, who broke with the Chiang Kai-shek regime a year ago, would, in the name of China, make peace with Japan and grant most of the objectives for which Japan invaded China.

"Invalid," Chiang Says.

It would give Japan economic dominance over China and sweeping military and political rights in several important special areas with Tokio giving no guarantees.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, the Chinese leader, in a statement in Chungking said that the Wang-Japanese agreement was "invalid," but that it deserved the serious consideration of the world because it disclosed "the sinister Japanese ambition" to make China a protectorate.

At Tsingtao Wang, whom the Japanese cabinet approved on Jan. 8 as head of a Chinese central government with which it would coöperate, conferred with leaders of the Japanese-controlled governments at Peking and Nanking on the establishment of a central political council. Japanese military authorities took special precautions to protect the delegates.

Terms of Agreement.

Wang's followers here said the principal terms of the tentative peace agreement were:

1. Recognition of the Japanese conquest of Manchukuo.
2. Signature of a Japanese-Manchukuan-Chinese anticomintern alliance.
3. Agreement by Japan to withdraw troops within two years from any area of central or South China where "the new government demonstrates its ability to maintain peace and order."
4. Joint government of Inner Mongolia by the Japanese army and the Chinese.
5. Establishment of North China as a semi-autonomous area.
6. Maintenance of permanent Japanese garrisons in North China and Inner Mongolia as defense against Russian and Chinese communists.
7. Drawing up of detailed plans for economic development of China's industry and resources thru "joint Chinese-Japanese coöperation."

Nationalization of Railroads.

8. Nationalization of railroads and other transportation facilities in central and South China, with "supervision" of their operation by Japan.
9. "Supervision" by Japan of Chinese customs, which is expected to be the chief source of revenue for the new government.
10. Permanent Japanese occupation of Hainan Island, off the southern tip of China and opposite French Indo-China, for purposes of "national defense" and naval operations.
11. Establishment of the seat of the new government at Nanking with retention of the Nationalist flag now used by the Chiang Kai-shek régime at Chungking.
12. Creation of a central political council as the supreme governing body, composed of representatives of the present Nanking and Peking régimes, of Wang's followers and of other Chinese elements not now associated with any of these groups.

HEIR TO BORNEO KINGDOM CUT OFF BY WHITE RAJAH

SINGAPORE, Jan. 23 (AP).—The rajah of Sarawak, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, by proclamation today deprived his nephew and heir, Anthony Walter Daybell Brooke, of his title and authority as rajah muda [crown prince]. The rajah said his nephew's powers, conferred upon him in March, 1939, were cut off because he was "not yet fitted to exercise the responsibilities of this high position."

The white rajah withheld further explanation of the family difficulty in his 50,000 square mile Borneo kingdom. The nephew passed thru Singapore last month en route to England for war work. The rajah's daughter, Baba, married Bob Gregory, a British wrestler, in 1937.

Rajah's Wife "Amazed."

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 23 (AP).—The ranee of Sarawak said today she was "amazed" that her husband, the rajah of Sarawak, had deprived his nephew of the title of rajah muda or crown prince. The ranee, who is visiting here, said: "I knew the nephew was considered a little young and had made a rather unfortunate marriage but I didn't expect anything so drastic."

TODAY IS POST DAY

"FLOOR PLEASE?"

IN THE NUMBER of good things it has to offer, a great magazine is like a great store. Fact is, magazine means store, in French.

Take the variety in this week's Post, for instance. It has romance, mystery, politics, adventure, sport, marriage and humor.

Of course, no store on earth could ever pack in the millions of people who prowl through the pages of the Post every week, enjoying its stories, articles, cartoons, editorials—and advertisements.

Yes, people say they like to read the advertisements in the Post. That's one reason why American business awards more advertising dollars to the Post than to any other magazine in the world.

For advertisers who want their sales to go UP, the elevator is waiting—that express car with the big crowd, gentlemen.

Floor please?

HOUSE VOTES 345 TO 21 TO EXTEND DIES COMMITTEE

Five Illinoisans Opposed to Investigation.

Casts Doubt on Hook's Charges.

Representative Hook was assailed from both sides of the chamber. Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.] said he doubted that any member of intelligence would place any credence in Hook's charges. Representative Frank B. Keefe [R., Wis.] expressed astonishment that any congressman should attempt to impose upon his colleagues with what Keefe called such a flimsy array of allegations.

Hook, irate, shouted that he would stick to his assertions. When asked where he had obtained his material and who wrote his statement, he roared: "None of your business!"

Allen Cites Dies Enemies.

There was one grain of comfort for the Roosevelt administration in today's developments. Majority Leader Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.], fearful of the political effects upon the entire Democratic party which might result from further exposure of communistic infiltration into the government, was reported to have obtained privately a pledge from a majority of the committee that no hearings would be held between the national conventions in June and the November election. This report could not be confirmed, however.

The closing debate found Representative Leo E. Allen [R., Ill.] arguing that the merits of the investigation could be determined by listing the enemies the Dies committee has made.

Thomas Wins Applause.

"Who are these enemies?" he asked. "There is Earl Browder, sentenced to four years in prison on evidence first disclosed before the Dies committee. There is Labor's Nonpartisan league, the American Youth congress, the American Student union, which has given its blessing to Russia's attack on Finland; Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. The opposition of these organizations and persons alone should furnish proof that the committee has rendered a public service."

Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.] was applauded when he told the house that he had received information that the American League for Peace and Democracy was about to go out of business. Testimony before the Dies committee revealed that 463 government employés and officials were members of this communist front organization.

Begins Work in 1938.

The Dies committee began its work in August, 1938. It has held hearings all over the country and has gathered 7,000 pages of testimony which, in the opinion of its own members, shows that at least 1,000,000 Americans have been subjected to un-American propaganda and to some extent persuaded to adopt foreign governmental isms.

A recent unanimous report of the committee asserted that there was indisputable proof that the communist party in America is a foreign conspiracy disguised as a political organization. The report also declared that the German-American bund and other Nazi-Fascist groups are rackets, basing their appeal on religious and racial hatreds and devoting themselves to the task of setting up a dictatorship by violence.

Reds Called Border Patrol.

Discussing the communist party, the committee members said: "It is a constituent member of the communist internationale and is its agent in the United States. The communist internationale is completely dominated by the communist party of soviet Russia. The committee is forced to conclude that in practice the communist party is functioning as a border patrol on American shores for a foreign power—the soviet union."

It was added that the party advocated drastically changing the form of government in the United States of America, and that its activities under the circumstances were a violation of the treaty of recognition between the American government and the soviets.

Evidence on which these conclusions were made came from communist leaders and foreign leaders and from official communist literature. Browder, the party leader, had admitted that he would try to turn any aggressive war by this country into a "civil war."

Exposes Reds' Secret Service.

Another point much stressed by its friends was the Dies committee's exposure of the extensive system of secret service agents maintained in this country by the soviets. Russia, the committee asserted, regarded America as a fertile field for propaganda, and one in which the constituted authorities placed little difficulties in the way of propagandists.

An important body exposed by the committee was the American League for Peace and Democracy, which was denounced as a part of the general communist front. The committee alleged, after much investigation, that this organization had formed "nuclei" in more than 20 governmental departments, and that more than 700 government employés were members. It recommended urgently that earnest Americans believing in traditional constitutional government refrain from lending their names to such organizations.

The committee exposed the communist influence in the Congress of Industrial Organizations headed by John L. Lewis. Leadership in 10 or 12 of its subordinate unions, the committeemen declared, had been proved "tinged with communism."

Students Union Named.

Among these were the National Maritime union, the Fur Workers' International, the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen, the Transport Workers, the United Furniture Workers of America, the American Communications association, and the United Cannery, Packing and Allied Workers.

Other organizations named as belonging to the communist front were the American Students union, International Workers' Order, Southern Negro Youth congress, League of American Writers, Workers' alliance [composed of relief clients], and the Young Communist league. The committee held that this last named body and the American Youth congress had only a minority of practicing communists as members, but that this minority exerted an influence out of all proportion to its size.

Walter Eakins, 18 years old, 817 West 59th street, who completed 18 months in St. Charles School for Boys on a burglary conviction in 1938, and Benjamin Efting, 20, of 6635 Lowe avenue, were held to the grand jury as burglars yesterday by Judge Frank Padden in Felony court. Efting was held in $20,000 bond on four charges and Eakins in $5,000 bail on one charge. The burglaries were committed in private homes between Dec. 31 and Jan. 16. The two were captured last Saturday.

SAYS PRESIDENT VIOLATED LAW IN ARMS SPENDING

Emergency Expenditures Hit by Senator.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—Senator William H. King [D., Utah] charged in the senate today that President Roosevelt violated a provision of law, the penalty for which includes removal from office, in ordering unauthorized expenditures by the army and navy under his national emergency proclamation of Sept. 8, 1939.

Senator King.

Senator King made his charges when the $251,822,588 deficiency bill, carrying appropriations for the so-called emergency expenditures ordered by Mr. Roosevelt, came up for consideration in the senate. He said the expenditures were made in violation of a law which congress passed to prevent deficits and the spending of money without authorization by congress.

Aware of Legal Point.

President Roosevelt let it be known at a press conference shortly after the issuance of his emergency proclamation that he was fully aware of the legal question involved. He said he had discussed that question with two justices of the United States Supreme court. Apparently he referred to Justices Harlan F. Stone and Felix Frankfurter, who had been his guests on a Potomac yachting trip.

The President also said he consulted the controller general of the United States, Fred H. Brown, whom he appointed, but that Brown preferred not to submit a formal opinion. The inference was that the opinion would have to be adverse.

King Cites Law.

Senator King read section 665, title 31, of the United States code, which provides, in part:

"No executive department or other government establishment of the United States shall expend in any one fiscal year any sum in excess of appropriations made by congress for that fiscal year, or involve the government in any contract or other obligation for the future payment of money in excess of such appropriations unless such contract or obligation is authorized by law.

"Nor shall any department or any officer of the government accept voluntary service for the government or employ personal service in excess of that authorized by law, except in cases of sudden emergency involving the loss of human life or the destruction of property."

Not Warranted, He Says.

"I should like to know what authority exists for this large appropriation bill," said Senator King. "Obviously this statute as I read it would interdict these expenditures. It seems that congress, charged with the responsibility of raising revenue and of making expenditures to meet the obligations of the government, ought to inquire into these violations of the law and should by its action indicate that it will not approve unauthorized expenditures.

"I understand that those in charge of the pending bill concede that contracts have been entered into calling for large expenditures of the public funds and that those contracts have not been and are not authorized by law.

"I know of no condition which has arisen during the last few months since we made a very large appropriation for the army and for the navy which would warrant a deficiency bill of several hundred million dollars. Our shores have not been invaded. We do not anticipate any war."

Defends President's Action.

Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], chairman of the naval subcommittee of the appropriations committee, defended President Roosevelt's action in ordering the increased expenditures.

"The senator says that he knows of no emergency requiring the incurring of a deficiency," Byrnes said. "The emergency was the world war, and as a result of that the President on Sept. 8 issued an executive order declaring that an extraordinary emergency existed."

The President requested a deficiency appropriation of $271,999,523, but the house reduced the amount to $264,611,252 and the senate appropriations committee cut it to $251,822,588. Among other things, it carries funds for increases in the enlisted strength of the army, navy, and National Guard.

IN THE KEY OF F

By CALEB

IN matters of apparel, these short and shivery days merely emphasize the feminine instinct for looking ahead. Style questions of the present have been laid to rest . . . what of the future? In a setting of cozy sophistication, she wants an occasion devoted to modes compact of April accents—would review what the designers "have up their sleeves" for Spring.

Such was yesterday afternoon's second annual "Spring Notes" Tea and Fashion Show . . . staged at 3:30 o'clock in our Walnut, Wedgwood and English Rooms, under the auspices of the Woman's Symphony Orchestral Association. In this event, with its fully two thousand attendance, time and place and atmosphere were gaily keyed to the kindred chords of Fashion and Femininity.

Always forehanded in the mutually related fields of what to hear and what to wear, Chicago women began specializing early in melody for the mind and spirit. Some fourteen years ago, in fact, saw the founding, by Lillian Poenisch, head of the Chicago Woman's Band, and two associates, of the only professional all-women orchestral organization in the country. Signal success and widespread interest have attended its latest season of four concerts in Orchestra Hall; and among the personnel of eighty-seven accomplished artists in its ranks are French horn, trumpet, flute, clarinet and violin players of national recognition.

Blending harmony of design, fabric and line with the harmony of sound provided by ten Woman's Symphony members, proved highly logical — even in mid-January. "No waiting," says Milady, "to reconnoiter Spring wear when the first robin's piping, the first crocus a-glimmer! We want our styles available now, while there's leisure to look and unhurried opportunity to consider."

Alert to her wish, Field's became the logical meeting-ground for the whole orchestration: symphonic setting, tea-time collation, and the paraded surprises of the approaching season . . . interpreted by two-score mannequins modeling 1940's smartest formals, informals and sportswear for Spring.

A Field Day, in short, of the best to hear and the best to wear!

Climaxed, at the close, by The Bride and her lovely maids, this long-awaited event officially opened, by anticipation, the April and May apparel-days ahead. Frost-edged winds may still be flying, and winter's white bees still unhived—but so far as fashion-minded femininity is concerned, Le Printemps has already appeared.

DEWEY ATTACKS SPENDING SPREE OF NEW DEALERS

Charges Waste Blocks Prosperity.

pear to be confused. To me they are quite distinct.

"The first question: Is the New Deal right in its policy of unlimited spending of borrowed money?

"I believe that the American people, aware of the consequences, will decide that this policy is wrong.

"If they believe it is wrong, we come to the second question: Can runaway spending be stopped?

"Now, what does this second question really mean? It asks in effect: Does the United States government manage spending, or does spending manage the United States government? Do our 130 million people run their government, or does nine billion dollars a year run our people?

Predicts Spending Halt.

"The New Dealers would have us believe that the American people have lost control of their own destiny, because they say this unbridled spending cannot be stopped.

"This is the challenge posed to America by the New Deal. To this challenge there can be but one answer. The American people can stop this reckless spending. And furthermore, they will stop it.

"We talk about an annual expenditure of nine billion dollars and a national debt of 42 billion dollars. I don't know any way to bring such amounts within our comprehension. Nobody ever saw nine billion dollars. If I started to count it at a dollar a second, it would take me 280 years.

LASHES AT DEFEATISM

Accuses New Deal of Fostering Such an Attitude.

"I am sure the administration in Washington is very tired of hearing about its budget. It is perfectly plain that the administration is too tired to do anything about its budget.

"Since the New Deal refuses to do anything about balancing its budget, and since its budget estimates don't make sense, many otherwise intelligent citizens throw up their hands in despair.

"But that is dangerous business. That is precisely the defeatist attitude the administration has been fostering on the subject of the budget. It is part and parcel of its defeatist attitude on the whole subject of our economic future.

"This defeatism is based on the theory, first, that the American people are finished as a great and growing nation, and second, that they can't understand their financial problem, anyway, so why worry them about it.

"To be sure, seven years of maladministration in Washington have temporarily held back the growth of our country. But I deny that the American people are finished. America is at the morning of its destiny.

Cites Meaning of Budget.

"I don't believe for one moment that the facts of this country's economy and its finances are beyond the understanding of its citizens. The mystery of New Deal high finance may be beyond their understanding, but not the principles of a sensible budget.

"Now, in the first place, what is a budget? In everyday use it means a statement of probable income and probable expense. It doesn't seem to mean this to New Dealers. A reading of the recent budget message indicates that they must have gone to the dictionary and found this definition of a budget: 'A collection or store, as of news, anecdotes, etc., widely used in a colloquial or in a figurative sense.'

"In round figures our national government will take in 5 billion dollars this year, according to its own estimates. It is going to spend at least 9 billion. Five from nine leaves 4 billion dollars in the red.

Warns of Consequences.

"What does this financial hocus-pocus mean in personal terms? How much is this administration taking out of your pocket every day? What does it mean to your children and mine? Are your children and mine going to be free men or are they being sold into the bondage of debt by an irresponsible and spendthrift administration?

"These questions are live and real and they affect the whole future of America. I am as convinced that we can solve this problem as the New Dealers are convinced that they cannot. We must solve it.

"For there has never been any government anywhere which continued indefinitely spending more than it could collect in taxes without a final tragic reckoning. Such spendthrift governments have always in the end been brought up sharply by one of two alternatives. They slashed expenses and imposed crushing taxes, bringing hard times and suffering for all the people. Or they accepted inflation of the currency and repudiation of the government debt, thus also bringing hard times and suffering for their people. There are only two roads and they both come out at the same place. We in this country do not need to go down either of those roads if we recover control of our financial destiny in time.

ANALYZES DEBT EFFECT

Tells What It Would Take to Raise 9 Billions.

"Now, there are some people who say, 'Let's just run a little deficit.' They want to go just a little bankrupt. Even if we dared go just a little bankrupt, let's first see the effect of our present course.

"Take New England, for example. It is a great industrial region. If all the industrial workers of New England gave up all their earnings to the United States government, it would take them eight years to supply as much money as the government spends in one year.

"Take the 480,000 workers in the steel industry—the largest manufacturing industry in the country. If they gave up all their wages to the government, it would take them twelve years to provide the 9 billion dollars that this administration spends in one year.

Points to Tax Bill.

"Where does the administration get this enormous amount of money? Well, it borrows part of it. But how about the rest? Some people think the rich pay all the taxes. It has been proclaimed from the White House and from every rostrum in America that the New Deal, by soaking the rich, would make the poor better off. There are two kinds of politicians—one comes to power by pretending to soak the rich and to be the friend of the poor; the other tries to tell the truth.

"Now the plain truth is that the rich don't pay this staggering tax bill. Let's see why.

"Take 1937—the best year we had under the New Deal. The personal income tax rates ranged from 4 per cent to 79 per cent. Yet the total amount collected was only 1¼ billion dollars. Even if the government had confiscated from every individual in the United States every cent of his income over $10,000 a year, what would be the result? The grand total thus collected would not amount to even half the cost of the government in that year. If the government had taken from every individual every cent he earned over $5,000, it would still have been 3¼ billion dollars short of paying the government expenses in that year.

Masses Pay, He Says.

"Then who does pay the cost of the New Deal? It is the great mass of the American people who have to pay that bill. You can't get away from the facts. The cost of a spendthrift government is paid by every man, woman, and child in the country.

"Here's how. Many of you came here in cars. If your car cost $700, $20 was federal tax. If you are listening in on a radio which cost $33, the government took $3 of the price you paid.

"Now, take out a package of cigarets. Will you look at it a moment? Look at the blue revenue stamp. You find on that stamp a portrait of a departed statesman. But you don't find on that stamp what it means. That isn't printed on the stamp. That stamp means that out of 10 to 15 cents you pay for an ordinary pack of cigarets, 6 cents goes to the federal government.

DESCRIBES TAX BURDEN

Lists Levies Imposed on Many Every Day Items.

"These taxes are in the price of almost everything you buy. If your refrigerator cost $150, the tax was $7.15. On gasoline the federal tax is a cent a gallon plus 2 to 7 cents in state taxes. The federal tax alone is 4 cents a gallon on lubricating oil. It is ½ cent a pound for every pound of sugar you buy. Two and a quarter cents a pound on every tire you buy for your car.

"The New Deal is digging its hand into your pocket every time you turn around. If you want to powder your nose, it takes 10 per cent of the price of the powder. If you want to telephone your mother, it takes at least 10 cents on every telephone call that costs more than 50 cents. It takes 1 cent out of every 10 from every movie admission over 40 cents.

"All these and similar taxes on your daily needs mount up to more than 2 billion dollars a year for the federal government. They come out of the pockets of every one of you, whether you can afford it or not. They are the taxes coming right into your homes and your daily lives.

"So, who foots the bill for all this spending? It is every one of us, rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief. The total spending of all government in this country is more than everybody in the whole United States earns in three months and one week out of each year.

"A little more than three weeks have passed of this new year. It won't be until April 8, 11 weeks from now, that the people of this country will have earned the money to cover what the federal, state, and local governments will spend this year. And half of this amount will be spent by the federal government alone.

GIVES SPECIFIC EXAMPLE

Shows Share of Earnings That Working Man Pays.

"Let's look at specific cases. I have an analysis of what the ordinary resident of my state of New York with a wife and two children pays in taxes.

"Let's take a working man. He makes $20 a week. He pays in federal taxes $42.80 a year. With state and local taxes his total bill is $205 a year. Out of every week's pay of $20 the tax collectors get $4.

"Take the truck driver who earns $40 a week. He pays $77 a year in federal taxes and a total of $381 for all taxes. Nineteen cents out of every dollar he earns goes to pay the cost of government.

Strikes at Borrowing.

"But that is not the whole story. Even these all-pervasive taxes are not meeting the cost of government. As I have said, the federal government will raise this year by taxes only 55 cents out of every dollar it spends. The other 45 cents it has to borrow. Now the American people are going to have to re-pay that borrowed money in the same way they have to pay the rest of the bill. On the staggering total of debt of this country, we are already paying a billion dollars a year in interest alone.

"The Democratic party rode to power in 1932 on a torrent of bitter words. They accused the Republican administration of waste and extravagance in its four and one-half billion dollar budget. They promised to cut that budget by 25 per cent. Instead the New Dealers have more than doubled that budget. At the end of eight years they will have spent more than half as much money as all the previous administrations in the 150 years since George Washington took office.

Finds Only One Answer.

"And so, I ask you: Do we have to cut our national spending back to the borders of sanity? Can there by any doubt of the answer?

"How difficult is the task? The New Dealers say they can't solve the problem. I agree. They never tried. Their whole philosophy is defeatist from beginning to end. They haven't tried to balance the budget because it is not the easy thing to do. The easy thing to do is to spend and spend and tax and tax and run up debts and ever larger debts which become a burden on coming generations. That is the easy thing to do. But now it is time to try the hard way. I know it can be done.

CITES OWN ECONOMIES

Explains How He Pared Down His N. Y. Budget.

"It was done in my own office. The year before I became district attorney of New York county, the cost of public prosecution in that county was $1,150,000. Now I could easily double that budget. I could spend $2,000,000 a year in the administration of that office. And the job would be a lot easier. But the people of New York can't spare that kind of money for public prosecution. They can't spare half that much money. So we cut the budget from $1,150,000 to $886,000. And the next year it was cut to $829,000. That is a reduction of 28 per cent. It wasn't easy—it was the hard way.

"It can be done in the county. It can be done in the state. Last year the Democratic administration of the state of New York, taking their cue from Washington, proposed enormous increases in taxes and spending. Without cutting one penny from the relief of the needy, and without impairing a single essential service, the Republican legislature reduced the budget by $25,000,000.

Insists on Federal Action.

"And so with the federal budget. It can not only be balanced. It can be brought down to a reasonable figure. But both are impossible without the will to do the job. That is what is missing from the executive branch of our government today.

"This administration has attempted to evade its responsibilities by the slick device of challenging others to show it how to balance its own budget. But no one can even tell what a New Deal budget is until after the money is spent and it is too late to do anything about it. Every budget estimate of deficit by this administration has been too low. Except for one year, every estimate has been too low by from two to three billion dollars. Every budget of the New Deal has been made worthless by that overpowering urge to spend.

"Since June 30, 1933, it has increased the number of government employés supported by the American people from 570,000 to 930,000.

"Such are the staggering results of burocracy run wild.

Deplores Vast Waste.

"And so it is with every item of government expense. No effort has been spared to find new places to spend new money.

"But even waste of money is not the greatest offense of this administration. The crime of the New Deal is its denial of human opportunity to millions of people. The New Deal stands condemned because its policies have prevented the employment of nine million Americans who want to work.

"The total cost in human misery can never be counted in dollars. It can never be included in the dollar totals of the burdens to be carried by our children and our grandchildren. It can only be known by those who have suffered in our own time. Perhaps it is known best by the young men and women who have reached maturity during this period.

"There has been a startling decline in the number of young people getting married in this country. Compared with the period of 1922 to 1928, the number of marriages has fallen 25 per cent by 1938. One out of every four young couples who would normally have married has been denied that opportunity by economic conditions for which the administration must be held responsible.

CALLS FOR JOB CREATION

Charges Administration Policies Block Employment.

"There is a net increase of half a million new workers each year in this country. Where are they going to get jobs? They are going to get jobs only if jobs are created. Why aren't new jobs being created?

"In this industrial society jobs are made by providing plant and equipment with which men can make goods. A capital investment of from four to eight thousand dollars is necessary to create one industrial job.

"Contrast the situation today with that in the decade of the 1920s. From 1920 to 1929 the federal debt was cut 8 billion dollars while 37 billion dollars of private capital was raised and invested. In the 1930s government debt went up 24 billion dollars and less than 11 billion dollars of private capital was raised.

Finds Capital Choked.

"In the 1920s four and a half dollars of private capital was put to work for each dollar of reduction in the national debt. In the 1930s only 45 cents of private capital was invested for every dollar of increase in the national debt. The flow of private capital has been choked while government has been spending huge sums of money. Thus, in its first responsibility to the men and women seeking a livelihood, the New Deal has utterly and completely collapsed.

"Here is the first duty of the national administration which will succeed the New Deal next January. It must again release the energy of private enterprise to transform unemployment into employment, relief into jobs.

"Only in this way can any administration balance its budget. Only in this way can it restore the balance of our national life. That is the step no New Deal administration can ever take because it would be turning its back on all the theories of these seven lean years.

Promises to Keep Faith.

"And these seven lean years have made it impossible for any administration to balance the national budget overnight. We are all agreed that we are getting from government today many things that are good. We are all agreed that we are not going to economize at the expense of the unemployed or the aged. Just as we must pay interest on the New Deal's debts, we must keep faith with those with whom the New Deal has broken faith.

BLASTS NEW DEAL ALIBI

Says Relief Costs Can't Explain Unbalanced Budget.

"Just for a moment let us look at the New Deal alibi for its unbalanced budget. The alibi is that recovery and relief monies keep the budget unbalanced. But look at the last completed fiscal year. All the money spent on relief plus the money dissipated in the spending program together amount to 3 billion 100 million dollars. Taking that from the total expense of 9 billion 300 million dollars, you still have 6 billion 200 million dollars left for the other expenses of the government.

"Do the same thing to the first New Deal year which ended in 1934 and the other expenses were only 3 billion 600 million dollars. Wholly aside from relief and the spending program that is a net increase of 2 billion 600 million dollars. There goes the alibi.

Can Have Faithful Government.

"We can and will again have a government which keeps the faith. We will keep faith with the needs of every man on relief. And in a larger sense we will keep the faith so that he may again recover his American birthright—an opportunity to earn his livelihood in a proper place among his fellow men.

"The restoration of these opportunities is the main task of the next administration. Any administration that will do that can balance its budget. And it is the job of every administration to balance its own budget. And when the New Deal administration throws up its hands and says it is unequal to the job, then it is time to get a new administration.

"Only a new broom can sweep clean the budgetary litter of the New Deal.

"Only a new administration can reopen the gates of boundless opportunity for the people of this young and growing nation. Beyond these gates lies the natural heritage of the American people."

Dewey Tells Ills in Spending

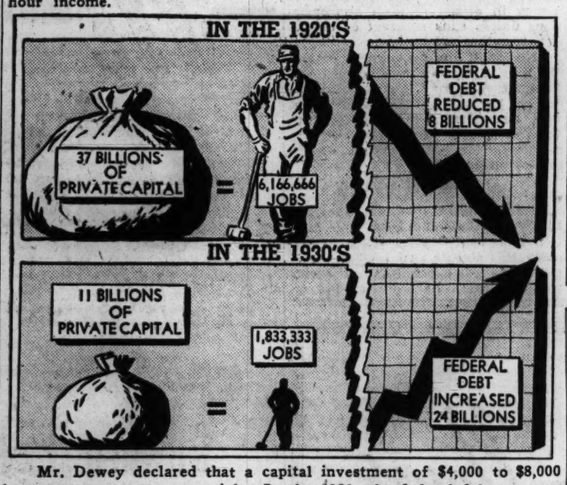
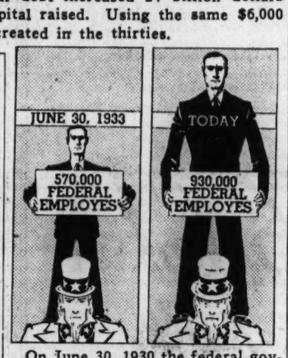
Thomas E. Dewey, speaking in Boston, declared that the New Deal is spending money at the rate of $17,500 a minute. That would amount to $1,050,000 an hour. Mr. Dewey compared the spending rate with the income rate by saying that for every $1 spent the income is only 55 cents. On that basis the New Deal is receiving only $577,500 an hour income.



Mr. Dewey declared that a capital investment of $4,000 to $8,000 is necessary to create one job. In the 1920s the federal debt was reduced eight billion dollars at the same time that 37 billion dollars was being invested privately. If $6,000 represents average needed to create one job, then 6,166,666 jobs were created during the twenties. In the 1930s, said Mr. Dewey, the federal debt increased 24 billion dollars and less than 11 billion private capital raised. Using the same $6,000 average, only 1,833,333 jobs were created in the thirties.



On June 30, 1930 the federal government was supporting 570,000 employes. Today the government is supporting 930,000.

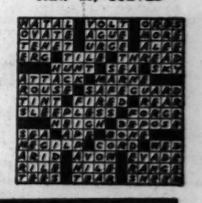
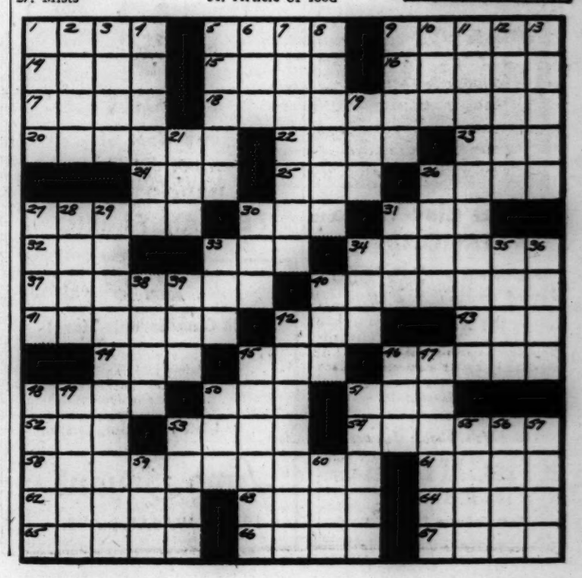
PUZZLE OF TUESDAY, JAN. 23, SOLVED





LAW EXPERIENCE OF NLRB LAWYER 1 DIVORCE CASE

Transferred for Insults and Gets Pay Raise.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23 [Special].—Solomon Lippman, a National Labor Relations board review attorney, 27 years old, admitted today to the house committee investigating the labor board that his legal experience before being assigned to the Milwaukee labor office consisted of handling one uncontested divorce case in Chicago.

Solomon Lippman. [Acme Telephoto.]

Lippman's conduct of a case against the Harnischfeger corporation of Milwaukee resulted in a complaint to the Washington office.

Insults Lawyer; Gets Raise.

Charles Fahy, board general counsel, was told that Lippman adopted an insulting manner in interrupting counsel for the Harnischfeger corporation and made aside remarks. Lippman then was transferred to the Washington office and his salary was increased from $2,600 to $3,000 a year.

The labor board was accused today of violating the law in negotiating a $20,000 settlement of back wages between the Mt. Vernon [Ill.] Car Manufacturing company and its employés. After making a finding in the case the board partly reversed itself, drawing rebukes from the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. Included in the board finding was an order for the company to break a contract with the A. F. of L. and make contract with the C. I. O. The settlement deal has been appealed to the courts.

SPONSORED BY BOSWORTH.

Harry A. Sellery Jr., one of the young attorneys for the National Labor Relations board, whose limited experience was told Monday before the house investigating committee in Washington, was recommended for his job by Dr. Robert R. Bosworth, chairman of the Lake county Democratic central committee, it was disclosed yesterday.

Dr. Bosworth, who is a dentist and an arbitrator for the Illinois industrial commission, said Sellery joined the government legal staff in Puerto Rico in 1935. Two years later Sellery wrote Dr. Bosworth, asking a transfer, and this was recommended by Bosworth to the late Senator J. Hamilton Lewis. Sellery is now paid $3,400 a year by the labor board.

Sellery's home is at 215 Bronson avenue, Highland Park, but he is not listed as a practicing attorney in Lake county. He is 29 years old. His father, who is in the clothing business at 80 East Jackson boulevard, refused to discuss his son's legal qualifications or political connections. Young Sellery was graduated from the Northwestern university law school in 1935.

Receives Award

Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota and his son, Glen.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23 (AP).—Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota tonight received a diamond studded gold key from the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce as the country's outstanding man under 35 years of age in 1939.

Perry Pipkin of Memphis, Tenn., president of the organization, made the presentation at a dinner and praised the 32 year old governor's record.

"Gov. Stassen's record as governor, tho short, has been most outstanding," Pipkin said in a speech. "Results have already been obtained in better civil service for Minnesota, a great reduction of violence in labor disputes by use of conciliation, financial savings to the state by a better system of management, the requirement of supplies and materials to be put on a competitive bid basis and by creating greater integrity in government."

Stassen accepted the award "not so much in a personal sense but rather as an award to the young men of Minnesota."

NEW WATERWAY PACT MAY ALLOW MORE LAKE FLOW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—President Roosevelt revealed today that the latest draft of the proposed St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada, now under discussion, would not limit Chicago to the present diversion of 1,500 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan.

If negotiated and ratified by the two governments, the President declared, the new treaty will not include the rigorous restrictions on waterway diversion at Chicago that former drafts have contained.

Heretofore the treaty makers have proposed that the 1,500 cubic feet provision—the limit set by the United States Supreme court, but subject to change by action of congress—be written into the St. Lawrence treaty.

Shackles on Congress.

This, Senator Scott Lucas and other Illinois representatives have insisted, would tie the hands of congress and condemn the waterway forever to an inadequate flow, insufficient either for sanitation or satisfactory navigation.

When advised of the President's statement that the new treaty draft liberalizes the diversion clause Senator Lucas declared that to be satisfactory such a proposal would have to be protected by one of two ironclad guarantees.

Either a provision for a maximum diversion of 5,000 cubic feet per second should be written into the treaty itself, Senator Lucas said, or Illinois should be guaranteed by the administration that suitable legislation to provide the increase has been prepared and will be passed simultaneously with ratification of the treaty.

Favors Constant Level.

President Roosevelt gave his views on Lake Michigan diversion at the White House press conference. At the same time a Canadian delegation was discussing provisions of the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway and power project treaty with administration representatives in the state department building, across the street from the executive offices.

Mr. Roosevelt did not say how an increase in diversion would be provided for in the treaty, but he indicated the problem remains open for further negotiations. He indicated it might be worked out thru agreement.

The President said he felt that with the coöperation of Canada, sufficient diversion will be possible to maintain satisfactory navigation at all times. He said a constant level at Chicago—the same as exists at Minneapolis and St. Paul—will benefit the whole country.

Opposes Water for Sewage.

As for waterway diversion for sewage removal, that is another matter, President Roosevelt asserted, and he is against it. What Chicago needs, he said, is a sufficient number of sewage treatment plants, requiring only a small amount of water. Told that such plants are being built, he said that was fine, but that the city needs more.

"We ought to get the whole matter settled now," Senator Lucas declared, "or we'll be right where we are today. We should have specific provisions written into the treaty, or complete assurance that necessary legislation will be passed when the treaty is ratified.

"We do not have sufficient water to handle waterway transportation. The dams are not adequate. We need more water for navigation, and to protect and conserve wild life along the river. There isn't enough water in the river now to carry full barges."

HOUSE GROUP SLICES ANOTHER 13 MILLION OFF APPROPRIATIONS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23 (AP).—A house committee gave the current economy drive a $13,314,300 boost today and brought to $128,143,300 the reductions from administration estimates in appropriations already in the congressional mill.

The appropriations committee lopped $11,491,900 off the treasury-postoffice supply bill, recommending $1,032,154,612 to finance those two departments for the year starting July 1. At the same time, it slashed $1,822,400 from an urgent deficiency measure for naval armor and tax refunds, holding it to $58,502,600.

The house previously had cut $94,800,000 from an appropriation for the independent government agencies, altho it was indicated that much of this money would be expended later. In addition, the combined efforts of the house and the senate appropriations committee whittled approximately $20,000,000 from the session's first deficiency bill carrying emergency funds for the army, navy, coast guard, and federal bureau of investigation.

STATES BEG U. S. TO REPLACE TAX CUT OFF BY TVA

Congressmen Hint: 'Can't Have Cake, Eat It Too.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—Tennessee Valley authority spokesmen appeared before the house military affairs committee today in support of a bill intended to reimburse states and counties in the TVA region for tax revenue lost when the government took over a number of private power companies.

Representative Arends.

The military affairs committee passes on TVA legislation because the war department has jurisdiction over navigable waterways and because one of TVA's ostensible functions is the production of munitions in wartime.

The measure, sponsored by Senator George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.] was viewed coldly by members of the committee and there were indications that it faces rough going.

It's People's Problem.

Noting that citizens in the affected area were responsible for the replacement of private utilities with government owned plants, and are the sole beneficiaries of the action, Representative Leslie C. Arends [R., Ill.] inquired: "Is this another case of what the President mentioned the other day when he said that you can't have your cake and eat it, too?"

The present law provides that the TVA shall pay, in lieu of taxes to the states of Alabama and Tennessee, 5 per cent of the gross proceeds received from the sale of power generated at hydroelectric projects located within those states.

The Norris bill amends the law, lifting the percentage to 10 per cent immediately and gradually reducing it annually until it becomes 5 per cent in 1948, remaining stationary at that figure thereafter.

The funds thus accrued would be distributed to the states of Georgia, North Carolina, Mississippi, and Kentucky, as well as Alabama and Tennesse.

Present Total $560,000.

William C. Fitts Jr., general counsel of TVA, told the committee that under the present law approximately $560,000 will be paid by the TVA for the fiscal year 1940, of which Alabama will receive $330,000 and Tennessee $230,000. Payments in 1939 were $243,000, and were much smaller in preceding years.

Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] remarked that any extra funds paid over by the TVA naturally would cut down any amounts scheduled to be paid back into the federal treasury. Representative Charles R. Clason [R., Mass.] noted that consumers in the TVA region are paying lower rates for their power and might be expected to make up any tax losses due to the absorption of private companies by the government.

Last week President Roosevelt sent a message to congress asserting that the importance of TVA as a power project had been overemphasized. He suggested that the TVA region be made a national playground. Critics of the administration wondered whether this message was intended to alleviate hostility to the Norris bill by convincing the public that it should help meet local revenue deficiencies in the region on the ground that it was a vacationland for the entire nation.

LYONS BACKERS CLAIM LEAD OVER GREEN IN 4 POLLS

Hail Straw Vote Results in Governor Race.

Headquarters for Richard J. Lyons, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, yesterday released the results of four straw vote polls all of which showed Lyons running far in advance of Dwight H. Green, one of his leading opponents.

One of the most comprehensive of the polls included 10 downstate cities and two north side intersections in Chicago. A total of 3,243 straw votes were collected, according to James E. Hill, downstate manager for the Lyons-Brooks combination, with these results: Lyons, 1,845; Green, 1,398.

Leads in Chicago Polls.

Diversey and Milwaukee avenues and Cicero and Milwaukee avenues were the two Chicago intersections included. The polls there gave Lyons 234 votes to 186 for Green. Downstate the poll takers visited Kankakee, Champaign, Mattoon, Vandalia, Peoria, Galesburg, Moline, Freeport, Rockford, and Joliet. Lyons led Green in all except Freeport, where the count was Green, 120, Lyons, 117.

Another of the polls was taken by a newspaper in southern Illinois, which sent post cards to all Republican county officers, precinct committeemen downstate, ward and township committeemen in Cook county, the state central committee, and G. O. P. members of congress and the legislature. To date returns in this poll total 1,218, giving Lyons 1,101 and Green 207. Eighty per cent bear downstate postmarks, Hill declared.

Another post card poll included only Republican precinct committeemen in Cook county. In this poll Lyons was reported leading Green, 968 to 169.

Canvass Precinct Captains.

The fourth straw poll was taken among Cook county precinct captains, and carried the question: "Who is your first choice for governor of Illinois on the Republican ticket?" The names of all avowed and prospective candidates were then listed alphabetically.

In 10 days this poll has collected 912 returns, with the vote standing at 704 for Lyons and 208 for Green. Lyons led Green in all but two of the 50 wards—the exceptions being the 7th and the 33d.

Forty of the 50 city ward committeemen and 28 of the 30 township committeemen in the country towns of Cook county attended a Brooks-Lyons organization meeting in Hotel Sherman headquarters late yesterday, according to Hill.

DENY SERRITELLA PLEA; RACE NEWS PHONES MUST GO

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday dismissed the petition of State Senator Daniel A. Serritella requesting that the commission restrain the Illinois Bell Telephone company from cutting off service to his two racing news services. The services are the Madison Publishing company and Jockey Publications, Inc. Their telephone service is scheduled to be cut off at noon tomorrow.

Early in December the telephone company moved to discontinue service to the Serritella news agencies at the request of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney. The shutdown was postponed, however, by the appeal to the commission. Courtney asserted that the companies furnished racing information to handbooks as well as to the general public and therefore furthered gambling.

Attorneys for Serritella said a rehearing would be requested.

Prom Leaders

MARJORIE KUH.

JANE MYERS.

Four senior leaders of campus activities were selected by the student social committee at the University of Chicago yesterday to lead the annual Washington promenade at the Lake Shore Athletic club Feb. 21. The prom is the major social activity of the student year.

The two woman leaders will be Jane Myers, 7819 Kingston avenue, a homecoming queen and president of Esoteric club, and Marjorie Kuh, Marinette, Wis., chairman of the student settlement board. Their partners will be Charles Pfeiffer, Racine, Wis., student head marshal and a member of Owl and Serpent, senior men's society, and Robert Reynolds, Topeka, Kas., chairman of the student social committee and a member of Owl and Serpent.

UNION LEAGUERS MAP NEW DRIVE ON SLUSH FUNDS

John L. Clarkson, president of the Union League club, said yesterday that officials of the club are studying, with a view of taking further action, the reply of Attorney General John E. Cassidy to the club's exposé of collection methods employed by the Illinoisans, the fund-raising agency of the Democratic state administration.

Cassidy's response to the denunciation of the 2 per cent collections was to suggest that the club was "unduly apprehensive" and to recommend that they place what evidence they had in the hands of the prosecutor of the county in which the alleged violations occurred.

"At this time," Clarkson said, "all we can say is that Cassidy's letter is being studied by John A. Dienner, chairman of the public affairs committee; by Perry Ten Hoor, chairman of the civil service subcommittee, and by me. Any decisions we may make will then be referred to the board of directors."

Pancake Champ's Capacity Only 52, but He Keeps Title

Humboldt, Ia., Jan. 23 [Special].—Charles Sharp, 71 years old, a retired farmer, today retained the pancake eating championship he won a year ago. To attain victory this year he ate 52 cakes and drank 29 cups of coffee at one sitting. Last year he consumed 55 cakes and 33 cups of coffee.

GREEN ASSAILS BIPARTISANS IN RANKS OF G. O. P.

Defies Party Foes Who 'Deal with Enemy.'

Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor, struck out last night in a radio speech over W-G-N at bipartisans carrying the Republican label who "have made it possible for the Democrats to control recent elections and go unpunished."

"These disloyal Republicans," the candidate asserted, "have brazenly boasted that no one who lacks their support can be nominated on the Republican ticket."

While Green did not mention names he said he accepted the challenge.

Raps Trading with Enemy.

"If," he told the voters, "you want the Republican party to rid itself of men who have traded with the enemy in recent battles, April 9 [primary day] is the day to do it.

"We cannot go into this history-making 1940 campaign with men who sell out their party in November. I have not and will not seek the support of the bipartisan leaders who deserted the Republican party last spring."

Green declared that the places of bipartisan leaders "will be taken in this fight by men of integrity, or personal and party loyalty, men I shall be glad to have call upon you in my name."

This apparently referred to the partial slate of candidates for ward committeemen which has been put in the running in several wards.

In Race Until Finish.

"With their aid," he added, "I will carry my candidacy for governor to the loyal Republican voters of Illinois and I will not rest on the decision of masqueraders in my party."

Green said positively that he was in the gubernatorial race until the finish.

"In bringing my visit in your home to a close tonight," said Green, "let me give the responsible people of the Republican party this assurance: I am a candidate for the nomination for governor of Illinois and when the Republican voters take up their ballots in the polling places on April 9th to vote for governor they will find there the name of Dwight H. Green. With the victory on April 9 which you will help me bring about we can then go forward as a united, free and clean Republican party to meet the common enemy next November and win."

Green said that the nation needs Illinois in the front rank of the Republican party, "as it was 80 years ago when Illinois took a major part in the founding of the Republican party in Bloomington."

Green and Richard J. Lyons, one of his leading opponents, left for Springfield last night, where today Green will attend the opening of his downstate headquarters. He will also consult his managers on whether an indorsement of his candidacy should be sought tomorrow at the meeting of the county chairmen's association.

Lyons and Wayland Brooks, candidate for senator, said they would make no move for an indorsement by the chairmen's group.

A list of properties delinquent in real estate taxes printed in last Thursday's TRIBUNE incorrectly listed the Dearborn-Lake garage as owing $19,991. The list was released by the county treasurer's office, which yesterday reported that the delinquent sum should have applied to a property at 217 North Dearborn street. The garage is located at 30 West Lake street. The same list showed Harry Powers as owing $136,400, but failed to note that Powers is a trustee, not an owner, of property at 65 East Jackson.

MAU AND BERG GO ON TRIAL IN BERWYN THEFT

Ernest W. Mau, 62 years old, city treasurer of Berwyn who served two prison terms for forgery in Minnesota, and Matthew Berg, former treasurer of the suburb, went on trial yesterday before a jury in the Criminal court of Judge William J. Lindsay. They are accused of embezzling $3,726 from the Berwyn special assessment funds.

Matthew Berg.

Lawyers for each co-defendant charged the other with being solely to blame. Mau's lawyer said the funds were under Berg's control, and Berg's lawyer asserted his client was the victim of a political conspiracy.

Several Berwyn officials, called by the prosecution, identified records showing the alleged embezzlement, which was discovered in accounts for December, 1936. Mau and Berg are being tried under a special statute covering municipal officers. If convicted they face penalties of from 1 to 15 years in prison.

Judge Rules Home Is Man's Castle, Even if It's Tavern

A tavern keeper may entertain a guest in the back room after closing hours if the back room leads to the tavern keeper's home. That's what Judge John V. McCormick decided in South State street police court yesterday when Peter Zamlis was brought in on a charge of breaking the closing hour law in the Zamlis tavern at 3956 Archer avenue. Zamlis said he was only being hospitable to a friend and the judge dismissed him.

FALLS DEAD IN HOME.

Ernest Grieshaber, 51 years old, 1142 North Wells street, a WPA laborer, fell dead of a heart attack in his home last night.

Going! Going! Going!
Three Swell Months of Fun!

SOMEWHERE in this town there's a certain man who has his mind made up—"come spring" he's going to walk down to his Buick dealer and get himself one of those 1940 honey lambs.

To him we'd just like to say, why the delay?

Why pass up even one month of sheer joy behind the husky big Dynaflash straight-eight power plant that's the talk of the town for pull—and the marvel of the nation for smoothness?

Why go without the unduplicated comfort of soft, steel BuiCoil Springs, or pass up the sure-footed steadiness of a car keeled like a battleship with a stout six-foot torque tube?

Why wait to get acquainted with finger-flick Handishift transmission, the convenience of the Flash-Way Direction Signal, the close-to-five-feet spread of the Buick Super's Foamtex-cushioned front seats?

Why go on doing without any of Buick's more-than-six-dozen new features and conveniences, while months of glorious Buick fun slip surely by?

We know tradition says spring is the time to buy. But that tradition started before cars acquired the rugged strength this Buick's got. Now any season's the right season to start a Buick off and winter's the time you're most likely to need good tires, sure brakes and things like that.

So for your own sake drop that "come spring" idea and get in on the gaiety now. You'll want to sign on the dotted line instanter — when you hear the low delivered prices Buick dealers are quoting.

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up delivered at Flint, Mich. * Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

GUARD PROMISED CITY CHAUFFEURS IN UNION DISPUTE

Officials Complain at Plea to Outside Agency.

City chauffeurs who went to an outside agency asking physical protection while they continued their secession movement from local 726 of the chauffeurs' union were told yesterday they could get help closer to home.

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney; Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the prosecutor's staff, and Ald. William A. Rowan (10th), chairman of the city council labor relations committee, joined in a statement that city employés will be guarded by the regular authorities against slugging and other violence.

Asked Aid of Employers' Body.

A committee of the teamsters and chauffeurs who severed relations with the American Federation of Labor union and launched a new unit, the Chicago Teamsters' union, appealed on Monday night to the Employer's association. They charged that a dozen or more of their members had been beaten with lead pipes, baseball bats, and blackjacks by goons and business agents of the rival teamsters' union, and that their fellow city employés, the police, had failed them.

Typical of the sluggings reported by the rebel group was the beating of William Ryan, who was attacked by goons at 31st street and Cicero avenue, in Cicero, last Sept. 21, a day after another member, Tim Dwyer, had been slugged at the same spot.

On Oct. 5 two more attacks were reported: Nicholas Kesser was slugged at Peterson and Artesian avenues, and Leonard Peterson, 2426 North Bernard street, was beaten at 31st and Cicero avenues, Cicero, by terrorists who chased him in eight automobiles.

Hits Attitude of Officials.

Gordon Hostetter, executive secretary of the Employers' association, said the appeal was an indication that city and county officials had adopted too friendly an attitude to the regular A. F. of L. union, which is affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Hostetter charged that city and county officials had joined in a program which enabled the brotherhood to control every teamsters' union local in the city, thereby having complete control of the city's hauling. He said, however, that his organization was unable to help the group which has defied the brotherhood.

Rowan Tells of Hearing.

"I know of no reason why the city employés should have gone to an outside agency asking for help," Ald. Rowan said. "The council committee of which I am chairman gave both sides to this dispute a hearing last fall. The group led by William Ryan, 2529 Charleston avenue, filed a petition with our committee asking recognition of their new union. They had 500 signatures.

"Officials of the regular union, of which Leslie Goudie is the spokesman as chairman of the teamsters' joint council, countered with a petition containing 700 names. Naturally, as the established union has a majority of city employés, it is recognized as the bargaining agency. We decided against any action.

Denies Aid Was Sought.

"But none of the drivers ever complained to the council that they needed protection on their city trucks. They city is able and willing to protect them."

"They never asked us for any help," said Prosecutor Crowley. "They may be assured we will give them whatever help they need whenever they ask for it."

"I didn't hear of any complaints of slugging by any of the men who are trying to form a new union," said Capt. Gilbert. "I suspect they do not have the best leadership, but, even so, they don't have to go elsewhere for protection."

GARAGE MYSTERY PAYMENTS TOLD JURY BY AUDITOR

Orders Not to Probe Spending Described.

A Chicago accountant yesterday told the grand jury of unusual orders given him by Emil Mermall, executive director of the Affiliated Garages of Chicago, when he was hired to make a report on the books of the garage owners' association. Mermall is being questioned by the jury, which is investigating the goon murder of Marinus Hvid, a north side garage owner who was beaten fatally on Dec. 27.

The accountant was O. A. Finholt. He told the grand jury he had been engaged recently to prepare an income and disbursement balance of the association's books. He said Mermall's unusual orders concerned mysterious expenditures totaling $14,210 not accounted for in the books.

60 Checks Involved.

"I hadn't been working on the books for very long when I came across these expenditures," Finholt was reported to have said. "They involved more than 60 checks made payable to cash and issued from Jan. 1, 1938, to Oct. 31, 1939.

"I was informed that the checks were drawn at Mermall's request, so I asked him about them. He told me not to concern myself about them. He said: 'I'll take care of that matter—all you have to do is see that the books balance.'

"As I had not been hired to make a complete audit, but only a balance of the books, I didn't inquire further."

Queries Told by Secretary.

Miss Mary Alice Mack, office secretary of the association, testified on Monday that she had drawn the 60 checks at Mermall's request. She said she wrote a question mark on several stubs because she did not know where the money was going.

Mermall, who was reported to have refused to answer several questions when he appeared Monday before the grand jury, appeared before the jury again yesterday for a few minutes. Because the members of the jury had been invited to tour the Bridewell, yesterday's hearing was cut short and Mermall was ordered to appear today.

JUDGE EXTENDS TERM OF JURY IN BUILDING QUIZ

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday extended the term of the grand jury investigating alleged trade restraints in the Chicago building industry thru February. The extension was granted on the motion of Daniel B. Britt, chief assistant to Leo F. Tierney, special assistant to the the attorney general. Tierney is conducting the inquiry.

Britt explained that the jurors, who already have considered three phases of the building industry, will take up thirteen new phases in the next few days and will need additional time to complete their work. The grand jury term ordinarily would have expired Feb. 8.

Two officials of local 58 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners yesterday produced records which they had been withholding from the jurors. They were ordered to do so after the grand jury haled them into court on charges of failing to comply with a government subpena. It was the third time that union officials were unsuccessful in efforts to balk the inquiry.

BROWDER GIVES APPEAL NOTICE ON FRAUD TERM

Denied Rights as Citizen, His Action Charges.

New York, Jan. 23 (AP).—Earl Browder, the communist leader under four year sentence for passport fraud, filed notice of appeal today while his comrades took up the cry that his conviction was brought about by the Roosevelt administration to silence a party that once had supported the New Deal.

The legal proceeding was routine. It contended that some of the testimony was inadmissible, that certain rulings from the bench and the court's charge were unfair and that Browder's rights as a citizen had been contravened.

While this phase of the campaign designed to free the country's first communist was in the restrained language of the courts, there was every indication that his attempt to vindicate himself would provide a noisy month before the special election on Feb. 6 at which Browder hopes to be elected to congress.

The conviction, other communist leaders have made plain, will be widely used as an issue in Browder's congressional campaign. Browder seeks to fill a vacant seat from the 14th district, in lower Manhattan, New York county, despite the fact that his residence, he admits, is in suburban Yonkers, Westchester county.

Meanwhile, inquiry of federal officials disclosed that no date had been set for the trial of two of his communist colleagues also under indictment for passport fraud. The trial of a third, Robert W. Feiner, financial secretary of the communist party, was postponed until next Tuesday. A fourth, Nicholas Dozenberg, said by the government to have been a soviet military spy, has pleaded guilty.

LAWYER BLAMES LABOR KILLINGS ON POLICE LAXITY

The responsibility for the slaying of Marinus Hvid, a north side garage owner who was fatally clubbed by goon Dec. 27, and for the other labor murders which have occurred in Chicago in recent years, rests with the city's law enforcing agencies, Attorney Ralph F. Himmelhoch asserted last night.

Himmelhoch, a former special rackets prosecutor in Indiana, addressed members of the Chicago chapter of the National Small Business Men's association in the La Salle hotel.

"Labor murders have become a commonplace in Chicago, and apparently are committed with complete impunity," Himmelhoch declared. "They will continue to be a commonplace until our policing agencies offer real protection to possible victims of labor violence to prevent such crimes, and until there is an active, sincere prosecution of such crimes when they do occur."

ST. CHARLES GRADUATE CONFESSES 60 CHICAGO ROBBERIES SINCE APRIL

Arthur Bittner.

Arthur Bittner, 19 years old, a graduate of the St. Charles School for Boys, sat in a cell at the detective bureau yesterday and recounted more than 60 robberies which he has committed in Chicago since last April. Bittner was arrested in his room at 1317 Grand avenue where police found five revolvers and 85 rounds of ammunition.

Bittner said he had held up taverns, drug stores, restaurants, and filling stations in all parts of the city. Lieut. Kyran Phelan of the robbery detail questioned him concerning the slaying of Dr. James McDonald Scott last April 25, but Bittner denied any part in that crime.

Bittner said he started stealing bicycles when he was 13 years old, and in 1937—when he was 16—he was sent to St. Charles after he was seized in a burglary. He ran away after 13 days, and then was arrested for burglary in Oak Park. He served 18 months in the Bridewell, and was released last April.

INDICT TRUCKER AND CHAUFFEURS FOR CONSPIRACY

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 23 (AP).—Chauffeurs' local union No. 600 was named today in a federal indictment charging conspiracy to restrain and monopolize interstate commerce in the heavy hauling business.

Jointly indicted were the Arthur Morgan Trucking company, said to operate the largest fleet of heavy hauling trucks in St. Louis; its president, Arthur L. Morgan; William Ryan and Lawrence J. Camie, officers of local 600, and Elwood Jones, a union member.

The indictment charged the defendants entered into a conspiracy to eliminate Morgan's competitors.

POLICE ASSIGNED TO GUARD CREW IN HAMMOND STRIKE

Chief of Police Thomas Martinson of Hammond, Ind., yesterday assigned a special police detail to the strike-bound Metals Refining company to protect maintenance crews entering and leaving the plant.

The action was taken after 30 strikers halted two trucks in which batteries were being delivered to the plant Monday. The strike was started last week by about 100 employés, said to be members of an independent union. Maintenance crews continued to work in the plant, but production was stopped. The company rebuilds old electrical batteries.

OVERLORD'S RAID ON UNION LOCAL TAKEN TO COURT

3 Officials Battle Against Ouster by Scalise.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 23 [Special].—The issue of whether an international union can step in and supplant the officers of a local union—while the local's financial records are being audited—was under test in court here today. The action involves George Scalise of New York, president of the Building Service Employés' International union, and the San Francisco locals of the international.

The case is regarded as important because these tactics, or the threat of such tactics, were used successfully by Scalise in recent months to gain control of the locals in Chicago and New York. Recently it was disclosed that Scalise is an ex-convict who served four and one-half years in federal prison for white slavery.

Appeals to Chicago Courts.

Last June Scalise filed a petition in the Cook county Circuit court at Chicago seeking the ouster of Matt Taylor, president of the Elevator Operators' union, local No. 66. The suit asked that Taylor be restrained from acting as president and that he be required to account for the union funds.

Taylor, in fighting the suit, said he had been forced to place his local under Scalise's international, but that he had been promised local autonomy.

On July 5 Louis Schiavone, a former Capone gangster, was shot to death in Chicago. On his body was found a copy of the audit, just completed, of the records of Taylor's union. The murder has not been solved nor has there been any explanation to officials of how Schiavone got the audit.

Case Is Compromised.

Shortly afterward Taylor dropped his defense to Scalise's suit, saying he had made private arrangements with the union boss. All of Scalise's demands pertaining to changes in the charter of Taylor's union were met on Sept. 19 at a meeting of the local union.

In New York, Scalise moved in on local No. 32 of the Building Service union, made accusations of financial dishonesty against its leaders, and suspended them.

The hearing here today was before Judge I. M. Golden of the Superior court on the petition of Charles Hardy Sr., Charles Hardy Jr., and George Hardy, officials of local No. 87 of the Building Service Employés' union. They have been suspended by Scalise and are seeking an injunction to prevent their removal from office.

Racketeering Is Charged.

Scalise charged them with misappropriation of funds and the Hardys countered with affidavits alleging racketeering and gangster methods on the part of Scalise.

"I feel this is the most important labor matter that has come up in years," said Judge Golden. "If labor officials are unworthy, shall not labor rid itself of them? Or is it up to the courts to do so? It is a question of whether a court of equity, lacking California precedent, can properly intervene in intra-union quarrels before exhaustion of remedies available within the union to suspend officers."

The hearing was continued to Feb. 14. Scalise may be summoned to appear at that time.

THIEVES GET $8,500 IN RUGS.

Police were searching yesterday for burglars who took rugs valued at $8,500 from the Oriental Rug shop at 5232 Sheridan road Monday night. M. M. Torcom, the owner, said the thieves took 20 large rugs and 30 small ones.

ELECTION FRAUD CASES RESUMED; 8 ARE ARRAIGNED

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday resumed his contempt hearings in vote fraud cases following the ruling of Circuit Judge Robert J. Dunne on Monday which denied a temporary injunction to halt the proceedings. Eight officials who served in two precincts in the mayoral election last year were arraigned.

Three of them, from the 38th precinct of the 25th ward, were seized Monday night. They are Anna Czech, 2628 23d street, Democratic judge; Albert Feigenbaum, 2625 22d place, Republican clerk, and Theodore Chudy, 2010 South Rockwell street, Republican clerk.

Five officials from the 28th precinct of the 32d ward surrendered in court. They are Valeria Baitti, 1801 North avenue, and Emma Michalek, 1518 North Wood street, Democratic judges; Vera Tyson, 1467 Milwaukee avenue, Republican judge; Edward Rostkowski, 1532 North Wood street, Democratic clerk, and Theodore Rozycki, 1545 North Wood street, Republican clerk. Cashen said 25 straight Republican ballots in this precinct were counted as straight Democratic votes.

Miss Michalek and Rostkowski later were discharged and the other three officials were released on personal bonds when they said the miscount was a mistake.

H. L. Mencken's Reminiscences of Boyhood Are Brimming Over with Gay Humor and Sharp Wit

"Happy Days," by H. L. Mencken. [Knopf, $2.75.] Published Monday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Our nomination for the most entertaining book of the year would go hands down to H. L. Mencken's reminiscences of his childhood in Baltimore [1880-1892]. Its title, "Happy Days," is no more aptly descriptive of its contents than of his reader's reactions to this famous critic's memoirs. Try as you will, you can't keep a grin off your face as you read; and the more sophisticated you are the wider the grin, for while the simple-hearted will beam over the memoirs as such, the nicely knife-edged minds will sharpen their wits on Mr. Mencken's emerylike abrasive style.

H. L. Mencken.

H. L. Mencken's childhood was, as he proclaims by his title, a supremely happy one. "We were encapsulated in affection," he declares, "and kept fat, saucy, and contented. Thus I got thru my nonage without acquiring an inferiority complex and the present chronicle, both in its materials and in its point of view, must needs fall out of the current fashion, which seems to favor tales of tenements, wage cuts, layoffs, lockouts, voracious landlords, mine police, foreclosed mortgages, evictions, rickets, prostitution, larceny, grafting cops, anti-Semitism, Bryanism, hell-fire, drouths, xenophobia, and other such horrors. I was a larva of the comfortable and complacent bourgeoisie, tho I was quite unaware of the fact until I was along in my teens, and had begun to read indignant books."

With, as Mr. Mencken himself declares, "no psychological, sociological, or politico-economic significance" these reminiscences so happily record those happy days that, unless they are read behind doors locked from the outside, every one in the house will be sharing them. For they are full of paragraphs which simply must be read aloud.

Here, in a series of 20 related chapters, but each of which has the entity of subject matter, Mr. Mencken tells of his first memories, his school days when a good walloping from the school head "broke a rattan over the half-wit's caboose." Baltimore in the '80s and summers spent in the country are interlarded with memories of lush food, among them a recollection of the menace of homemade ice cream.

The books he read, the music he played, the trips he took are museum pieces pictured with fidelity, as they were to him at the period, not shining [or dulled] by perspective.

Only rarely does he speak of the boy grown up—once when he mentions his choice of journalism as a profession and says: "More than once I have slipped out of daily journalism to dally in its meretricious suburbs, but I have always returned repentant and relieved, like a blackamoor coming back in autumn to a warm and sociable jail."

"Happy Days" is one of those slips which, however the author may feel about it, could never be regretted by Mr. Mencken's readers.

Fine Biography of Columbus

"Christopher Columbus," by Salvador de Madariaga. [Macmillan, $4.] Published yesterday.

"Like the squid he oozes out a cloud of ink round every hard square fact of his life. This ink, multiplied by the industry of his historians, has made but blacker and thicker the mystery which attaches to him," says the great Spanish writer, Salvator de Madariaga, of his hero, Christopher Columbus.

Columbus was "a painstaking reader and an active scribbler of marginal notes," and his own comments often form that "cloud of ink" about him. He rejoiced in the aura of mystery for a very good reason, his biographer declares, and de Madariaga does as skillful a job of fitting scrap of evidence to scrap of evidence as has yet been done in biography. That reason was that Columbus was by birth of a Spanish Jewish family which had settled in Genoa. The Inquisition was just being born in a passionate denunciation of Jewry. Columbus belonged among the "Conversos," that is, Christians converted from Jewry. His reaction to "the chief problem of the day" was that of a Converso, says Señor de Madariaga.

Evidences of Columbus' race are scattered thruout the recorded data of his life and his own writings, this great Spanish scholar points out. With the most meticulous care the biographer assembles and judges evidence, not only on Columbus' race but on every move of his career. Indeed this biography reads more like a lawyer's brief than it does like ordinary biography, altho it is highlighted now and then by phrases which no reader will forget. Now that he has proved his point, the reader cannot help wishing that de Madariaga would write the glowing, beautifully styled life history which it is evident he could write by his rare divergencies into interpretive writing, as opposed to his recording, collating, and interpreting research.

Señor de Madariaga was Spanish ambassador to the United States in 1931.

Helen Hayes' Life Story

"Letters to Mary," by Catherine Hayes Brown. [Random, $3.] Published today.

The mother of Helen Hayes, the "queen" of the American stage, a title which she earned by her superb interpretations of Queen Victoria and the ill-fated Mary of Scotland, here chooses a unique method of recording the career of her brilliant daughter. In letters to her grandchild, Mary MacArthur, she sets down the life story of one of the great actresses of the American stage. Readers' preconceived belief in Helen Hayes' greatness will stand a good deal of buffeting by this book, however, for while the facts which it records are tremendously interesting, Mrs. Brown's gifts in letter writing do not cope with them.

Charles MacArthur, the enchantingly mad, brilliantly sane husband of Helen Hayes, writes an amusing foreword in which he says the mouthful which will probably provide every reviewer with BB shot to hurl at "Letters to Mary." Says Charlie: "I think that this hatred of amateurishness, or what we call ham around the house, is my greatest tie to Helen's mother, next to Helen herself. Brownie's recognition of ham, always unspoken but always implicit in a look, has sometimes changed my views about life. Once or twice it has even changed by views about myself."

But here "Brownie" seems to be thoroly minus that recognition of "ham," for that word perfectly and uniquely expresses the way this book is done. Helen Hayes hasn't one hair of hamishness in either her head or the most invisible neurofibril of her being, so it is hard to understand how she allowed these letters to achieve the permanence of a book.

Authors and Their Work

The 10,000 franc French prize for the year's best translation has been awarded by a literary jury to Pierre Caille, author of the French translation of "Gone with the Wind."

Ngaio Marsh is not Mr. but Miss. Besides being the author of popular mystery stories she is an actress, a playwright, and an interior decorator. Her newest thriller is "Death at the Bar" [Little Brown, $2]. Incidentally, Miss Marsh's first name is pronounced as Nigh'o, and her tales are pronounced swell.

Aldous Huxley's Latest Novel Sparkles with Brilliant Satire

"After Many a Summer Dies the Swan," by Aldous Huxley. [Harpers, $2.50.] To be published tomorrow.

Take a brilliant and sophisticated novelist and mix well with Hollywood and you usually get a beaker full of sediment—if not sentiment—the brilliance somehow flattened into second rate literary mud. It has happened too often to be an accident. It is almost a scientific formula, and I could name you—but I won't—a right smart list of such literary tragedies.

But occasionally a novelist's brilliance and sophistication is sturdy enough to stand that acid test and from the mixture whoops something that bubbles and foams, that is as sunny and crystal clear as a perfect champagne—satire, of course, in its most carbonated form—that warms your gizzard while it tickles your literary nose.

Such a book is Aldous Huxley's latest novel. He not only never could but certainly never would have written it if he had not been subjected to Hollywood, where anything can happen, and usually does. Nowhere else could the idea of Jo Stoyte's fantastic holdings even have been imagined. These include Beverly Pantheon, "the personality cemetery," with nude statues, a color organ fountain, a miniature reproduction of Shakespeare's church at Stratford-on-Avon, a 24 hour service of automatic organ music, a tower of resurrection, and a children's corner to remove death's sting. There also is Uncle Jo's medieval castle, with its moat and portcullis operated with a photo-electric cell, which some will say was not inspired alone by Hollywood but by another California phenomenon.

Then there are the castle's inhabitants, the chief of which were Jo Stoyte, his "baby," the ultracynical doctor who was working on something to keep death away from Uncle Jo's door and digressed to work on Baby, his youthful and idealistic assistant, and the middle aged English scholar who is imported, as the book opens, to catalog a famous collection of paper dated from the middle ages. Jo Stoyte is a collector—of anything and everything he can buy.

With such utterly fantastic material as warp and an almost equally fantastic world of knowledge as woof, Mr. Huxley weaves a tale of the most sophisticated satire. He satirizes everything, then plates his satire with philosophy. The philosopher is an old schoolmate of the fabulous trillionaire, a scholar who has refused to profit by Jo's profits and who has an esoteric belief which sounds brilliantly convincing.

Ironically, Jo literally gets away with murder, which makes the satire even subtler, and is finally faced with the logical results of his insane fear of death.

"After Many a Summer" is definitely a book for the sophisticated, principally because there are so many hard words in it, and secondly because the philosopher's long drawn out arguments are sometimes pretty steep going. But there's gold in them thar hills—and what gold! F. B.

Newest Poetry: Passion, Sense, and Nonsense

"A Turning Wind," by Muriel Rukeyser. [Viking, $2.]

BY RUSSELL MacFALL.

Few of our poets have gifts equal to those of Miss Rukeyser. Her nervous, broken style at its best turns passion into sense, stacks color on richly like a painter, excites and stimulates, and evokes the mood and the scene—the secret which is at the heart of good poetry. At its worst, and Miss Rukeyser is uneven, her poetry is jerky, irritating, and unintelligible. Both kinds appear in this, her third book and latest collection. "Lives," five portraits of the human face of New England, is of her best, and of that best the poem "Ryder," the artist, is outstanding. Elsewhere, "Seventh Avenue," "Nuns in the Wind," and "The Island" thoroly satisfy, and "M-Day's Child Is Fair of Face" is a small and biting masterpiece. But in the five elegies which open the book, economy of means and excessive compactness, together with the ambitious attempt to make poetry of the metaphysics of form, bewilder more often than they reward the reader.

"One Part Love," by Babette Deutsch. [Oxford, $1.75.]

Miss Deutsch finds inspiration for her best poems in that sense of impermanence which war and social unrest have given to our time. Such are "Escape Denied," "Words for a Lullaby," and "On the Unemployed." Much of these poems' appeal lies in Miss Deutsch's sudden happy phrases and in the clean, skilful style.

"America Was Promises," by Archibald MacLeish. [Duell, Sloan & Pearce, 75 cents.]

The new librarian of congress, who professionally is a poet, summons the people in this short and revolutionary piece to seize upon the good things for which America stands before the self-seekers despoil them. In style, forthrightness, and theme "America Was Promises" is one of the outstanding poems of the year.

"A Modern Hudibras, the New Deal in Rime," by Ulysses Grant Vogan. [Minton-Balch, $1.50.]

The gaudy promises and politics of the last eight years are neatly hit off in this often happy imitation of the 17th century satirist. Its hero, of course, is:

"This most remarkable of men,
Lightly speaking, deeply striving,
Always starting, ne'er arriving."

"Some Verses to Some Germans," by John Masefield. [Macmillan, 60 cents.]

"We are as darkness to each other now," writes the laureate in these quatrains which remind Germany that in arts and civilization—in Shakespeare and Beethoven—they have shared their best thru the ages, so that "our very souls have given each other light." Without bitterness he expresses the hope that the future will repeat the past.

Helen Hull Gives Warmly Human Touch to Stories

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

"Experiment," by Helen Hull. [Coward-McCann, $2.50.] Published Monday.

"Men in Chains," by Thomas Ryan. [Random House, $2.50.] Published Monday.

These two books are collections of long stories. Helen Hull calls hers "four short novels." And the tales of Thomas Ryan are approximately the same length.

Helen Hull's people in "Experiment" are all fairly happy, all leading busy, humdrum, everyday existences. Children romp thru the pages, mothers stand over the stove cooking supper, or come driving down Main street in the old jalopy, and fathers work hard all day at the office and relaxes in the evening.

Helen Hull.

"Snow in Summer" tells what happens when one of these midwestern matrons writes a novel and wins a $10,000 prize. "Food for Thought" shows one of the fathers in the process of having his head slightly turned by the flattery of a sophisticated outsider. In "One Coin for Fee" two old women of widely varying experiences re-live their lives in memory as a hurricane bears down on the house in which they are meeting.

All Miss Hull's tales are warmly human if not grippingly dramatic, and they all make pleasant reading.

"Men in Chains" is written with complete disillusion and in a bitterness that is combined with a white-hot hatred of all the cruelties, injustices, and stupidities of this world. The first story is laid in the far distant past, 7000 B.C. The last takes place in the future, and the others fill the centuries between. In each, man is seen as a martyr caught by his own weaknesses or the inhuman cruelty of his fellow man in the meshes of an agonizing fate.

In "The Proletariat," in which the revolt of the slaves in early Roman times is narrated with clarity, Spartacus, their leader, is doomed to fail because of the ignorance and greed of the miserable creatures for whom he was fighting.

Unforgettable is the tragic lot of Virginia in "Bad Girl," who was the last of a long line of southern aristocrats stranded in a dreary prairie town and too high spirited to grovel before the elect of the community whom her inept banker father has ruined. Equally sad is the horror story, "The Defective," in which an adoring father is responsible for the insanity of his precocious son.

Son Hits Accusation Made Against Dead Man.

The Horner administration's attempt to pin the political sponsorship of State Policeman John Howe on a dead man was received yesterday with skepticism.

Prosecutor Austin.

Howe, who was accused in 1930 of four burglaries, was given a salary of $175 a month and a state policeman's gun and star after he had escaped from the state hospital for the insane at Kankakee. Gov. Horner's office announced on Monday that Howe had been sponsored by the late Henry F. Schuberth, south side real estate man.

Schuberth's son, Elmer Schuberth, voiced regret Monday evening that the sponsorship had been laid at his dead father's door.

Calls for Proof of Charge.

Schuberth said last night that he wishes to be fair-minded, but that he believes the seriousness of the accusation requires that the governor's office submit some proof. He asked that the governor's office produce his father's signature on the sponsorship record or the letter of introduction accompanying Howe's application.

Meanwhile, Richard Austin, assistant state's attorney, reported that Howe had boasted that political influence saved him from the penitentiary and sent him instead to the asylum.

Austin's report was made after he had examined the asylum's records at the order of State's Attorney Courtney. The investigation was begun after Howe was accused of trying to bribe a juror in the 11th ward election fraud trial.

Escaped Asylum Twice.

Prosecutor Austin reported that Howe made two escapes from the asylum. The second one was just three days before he was to have been sent back to Chicago with a recommendation that he be sent to the penitentiary on the banditry charges.

Austin's report said that Howe was committed to the asylum on Nov. 17, 1930, from the Cook county Criminal court, where four holdup indictments had been dismissed on the finding that Howe was insane.

The records showed that Dr. Thomas Crane examined Howe at the asylum, Austin said. Howe told Dr. Crane that he had been in trouble six months previously for carrying concealed weapons, the prosecutor reported, and that he had used his influence to have himself sent to the Psychopathic hospital instead of the county jail.

Returned After First Escape.

On Nov. 28, Howe escaped from the hospital. But he returned voluntarily four days later.

Austin said the records disclosed that Howe told the asylum physicians he was not insane and that he had come to the asylum to avoid the penitentiary.

Austin's report said Howe told the physicians further that he had two trucks which he rented in 1929 to the city water pipe extension department, and that he used them at night for beer running.

[Water pipe extension department records revealed yesterday that a John Howe of 8034 Hermitage avenue rented the department two trucks that year and received $1,968 rental from April 22 to Sept. 30.]

Decide to Imprison Him.

The physicians agreed, according to Austin, that Howe should be sent to the penitentiary. They decided that they would ask Cook county officials to transfer Howe to the prison if no change were apparent in his condition by Jan. 27, 1931.

On Jan. 24, he escaped.

Hospital records show that telegrams were sent the sheriff, the state's attorney, and Howe's father, telling them of the escape.

Howe nevertheless worked in Chicago for several years after making his escape. On Aug. 1, 1936, he was made a state policeman.

The four banditry charges were reinstated Monday before Chief Justice John Prystalski in Criminal court. Howe was locked up when he was unable to provide $40,000 in bonds. He is also facing a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice in the jury fixing case.

No explanation has been forthcoming as to the manner in which Howe was able to conceal his criminal record. Applicants for state policemen's jobs are required to submit their fingerprints to prove that they have no criminal records.

Air Romance Crashes

MRS. MARVIN J. GRIGGS.

SECRET WEDDING OF FLYERS BARED BY DIVORCE PLEA

The secret marriage of an air lines pilot and stewardess and the tailspin of their romance was disclosed yesterday before Judge Rudolph F. Desort in Superior court. Attorney Elmore Boeger, representing Mrs. Lorine Collier Griggs, 25 years old, stewardess on a Northwest Airlines run out of Seattle, Wash., presented her bill for divorce from Marvin J. Griggs of the Del Prado hotel, 5307 Hyde Park boulevard.

Marvin J. Griggs.

Mrs. Griggs, who is in Seattle, said in her bill that she was married June 2, 1938, and that her husband deserted her Nov. 1, 1938. Griggs, a former pilot for United Air Lines, has a cross bill for annulment. Griggs said he planned to join the Royal Flying corps in Canada.

Judge Desort, however, placed Griggs under $2,000 bond to prevent him from leaving the state. Griggs was unable to post the bond and was taken into custody. The judge ordered Mrs. Griggs to come to Chicago for a hearing in the case.

DOCTOR, 70, HELD TO GRAND JURY IN ABORTION DEATH

Dr. Charles M. Bradley, 70 years old, 173 East 154th street, was held to the grand jury on a charge of murder by abortion by a coroner's jury yesterday at an inquest into the death of Mrs. Ruby Vanderhye, 27, mother of four children.

Mrs. Vanderhye, who lived at 10316 Calumet avenue, died Dec. 12 in County hospital. A written statement of her husband, Richard, in which he admitted to the Harvey police that he paid Dr. Bradley $30 on Nov. 4 to perform an abortion was read to the jury by Deputy Coroner James Whalen.

Dr. Bradley denied the charge.

INDICT DOCKMEN OVER COERCION OF LUMBERMEN

Pressure Used to Get A. F. of L. Members.

New York, Jan. 23 (AP).—The A. F. of L. International Longshoremen's association and Joseph P. Ryan, its president, were indicted today for violation of the federal anti-trust laws. They are accused of putting illegal pressure on lumber dealers to coerce their employés into I. L. A. union membership.

Joseph P. Ryan.

The indictment, the broadest of its kind ever returned here against a labor organization, charged a conspiracy to impede interstate commerce. It was the third brought in a continuing investigation into rackeetering in the building trades, earlier bills having named sand and gravel companies and manufacturers of lighting fixtures.

Ten Others Indicted.

The accused, in addition to Ryan and the I. L. A. itself, are Anthony J. Camarda, I. L. A. president; nine officers of union locals, and local union No. 282 of the Building Material Teamsters.

What the government claimed was this: That the defendants, seeking to coerce workers to leave a C. I. O. local of the United Retail and Wholesale Employés of America, prevented lumber retailers from obtaining shipments brought to New York City docks; forcibly prevented retail employés from taking the lumber at the docks; instituted boycotts and issued blacklists of retailers for the purpose of inducing dock employés and trucking companies to refuse to handle the retailers' lumber.

May Go to Jail for Year.

The indictment said that at no time during this campaign was there any dispute with lumber retailers as to wages, hours and laboring conditions.

Maximum penalties upon conviction would be imprisonment for one year and a $5,000 fine, the fine alone applying to organizations.

The International Longshoremen's association is one of the country's most powerful in terms of membership, operating along the Atlantic and gulf coasts.

Ryan, an enemy of Harry Bridges, west coast C. I. O. maritime leader, issued a statement saying "My associates and myself are absolutely innocent of this charge."

FALL FATAL TO RETIRED BROKER.

John S. Stewart, 81 years old, a retired investment broker, died last night in his home at 6108 Kimbark avenue, of injuries received in a fall on Dec. 13. His widow, Emma, and a son, Myron, survive.

3 FOUND GUILTY OF MAIL FRAUD IN CANCER 'CURE'

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 23 (AP).—Norman Baker, 56 years old, and one time candidate for governor and senator in Iowa, was convicted in federal court today along with two associates on a charge of using the mails to defraud in the advertisment of a claimed cancer cure.

The jury heard 16 days of technical testimony and legal argument relating to cancer treatments and returned guilty verdicts on all seven counts of an indictment returned last September. The maximum penalty on each count is five years in prison and $1,000 fine.

JURY INCREASES LAND PRICES AT CHICAGO AIRPORT

A jury of seven men and five women last night fixed a price of $3,283 for four parcels of land which the city needs to use in relocating tracks of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad which now cross an area needed for expansion of the Chicago airport.

The jury deliberated eight hours before returning the verdict to Circuit Judge Denis J. Normoyle. This was the fourth suit in a series to fix the condemnation price on 74 parcels of real estate. Fifteen parcels remain to be evaluated in court.

The verdict was $737 more than the value given by the city appraisers and $6,533 less than the price asked by the owners.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

MR. BROWDER EASES HIS MIND.

Earl Browder, general secretary of the American communist party, was found guilty of passport fraud by a jury in the federal court in New York and sentenced to four years in prison and fined $2,000. He was released on bail, pending appeal, and from the court room went to Madison Square Garden, where he had been billed as one of the speakers at a meeting in commemoration of Lenin, who died 16 years ago.

The tenor of Mr. Browder's remarks in the Garden was undoubtedly influenced by his experience in court and by the verdict against him. He discussed the ingratitude of the New Deal, which had used the American communists to inspire and indoctrinate the masses for its own purposes, until the connection appeared to be disadvantageous and undesirable. Now that "these former associates of ours do not need us any more, we are treated as poor relations."

Mr. Browder said this as one reflecting sadly upon political vicissitudes and the ingratitude of persons in power who would gladly welcome aid until they thought they had no further use for it and then cut their old companions dead. Among those Mr. Browder said had once been eager to have the assistance of the communists in stimulating the popular mind and working upon the electorate were Mr. Roosevelt, Gov. Lehman of New York, and Mr. Murphy when governor of Michigan.

Mr. Browder said Mr. Murphy, altho now distant and a member of the highest judicial body, would not deny that when he was a candidate for reelection in Michigan he sought the advice of the communists and received their aid. Mr. Murphy was defeated, but Gov. Lehman, as Mr. Browder remarked, owed his reelection to the communist vote. The record sustains the general secretary on that point. The margin of Mr. Lehman's vote over Thomas Dewey was precisely the communist vote for their one state candidate.

Mr. Browder added in the course of his remarks that "in the days when they did want to rouse the masses we had the peculiar experience of having to restrain them. They were ultra-leftists and very often we had to warn them that such tactics were not good." Mr. Browder and his associates were a sobering influence then on the New Deal. What Mr. Browder says of the companionship of the communists and the New Dealers had been often said before. The association was an outstanding feature of the 1936 presidential campaign, and altho Mr. Roosevelt denied that he had any truck with the comrades, everything he did after the election proved that Mr. Browder had good reason for regarding him as a fellow traveler.

The sympathy of the White House for the Kremlin was revealed in birthday felicitations. The objectives of the New Deal were stated in socialistic terms and numerous appointments proved the fidelity of the administration to an understanding with the American comrades. The facts deny the denials, and until the notorious Stalin-Hitler treaty the communists were making progress which, as Mr. Browder confesses, was at times of too rapid movement and needed a restraining hand.

The Stalin-Hitler agreement was a blow between the eyes for the American fellow travelers, and when they recovered full consciousness they began to cut the ties which bound them. When they had cut and worked themselves free they scurried for cover, professing a dismay at their new understanding of soviet character and purposes. It wasn't a new understanding to any person who had not deliberately closed his eyes to the facts. But when there could be no deception or self-deception regarding the Russian terror, communism, which had been intellectually fashionable, became scandalously disreputable. The New Deal undertook to clear its skirts and wash its face.

Mr. Browder may attribute his conviction in the passport fraud to the desire of his old friends to make a conspicuous sacrifice of him for their own salvation. They may not have been unwilling to use the opportunity, but Mr. Browder's difficulties were created by himself and, at that, they would not have arisen if the Dies committee had not been able to avoid the attempt of the New Deal to suppress it. If it had been buried under New Deal displeasure, Mr. Browder would not have appeared before it and he would not have made the mistake of saying that he had traveled on passports obtained in the names of other persons for purposes of concealment and deception.

Because of the expiration of time, Mr. Browder was no longer liable to prosecution for these frauds, but it was later discovered that in applying subsequently for a passport in his own name he had falsely said that he had not applied before. That fraud was still actionable and for it he was indicted, with the resulting conviction.

The house rules committee has just voted approval for another year's extension of the Dies committee's investigation. If it had not been for the work of the committee most of the facts regarding the interrelationship of the New Deal and the communist party would be still unrevealed.

MAKE TRAMPS OF THEM.

Relocation of the trade routes of the eighty-eight ships forced by war conditions to discontinue service to European ports has been pretty well taken care of with the exception of the seven so-called B boats the United States Lines sought unsuccessfully to transfer to Panamanian registry and the larger liner President Harding. The maritime commission approved the sale of these eight ships to the North Atlantic Transport company, a newly formed Norwegian corporation. The deal was also approved by the President, but collapsed when the Norwegian ministry of commerce refused to permit its consummation.

In transportation matters the Washington bureaucrats seem to think only in terms of common carrier service—service over fixed routes, operating on regular schedules. Contract carriage of freight and passengers, which requires individual initiative and, in some cases, the taking of a sporting chance of making a profit, is a matter for which they seem to have neither the inclination nor the ability to engage. This class of service on the high seas is provided by so-called tramp steamers. A large share of the world's ocean commerce is carried by these vessels that operate all over the globe wherever a cargo is to be had.

Mr. Kennedy, in his report for the maritime commission in 1937, made the statement that an attempt to develop tramp shipping under the American flag would be a backward policy, because the trend of the world's ocean commerce between 1914 and 1933 was toward liner operation.

World war II. has made a change in world shipping conditions since Mr. Kennedy's report. If the United States is to become the maritime nation which the merchant marine act was intended to develop we certainly need tramp service for world-wide trade. We need American ships of this type to carry our exports of agricultural products, coal, and timber, and they also should play some part in the vast import trade of wood pulp, iron ore, coffee, sugar, jute, etc. Whenever American export grain flows freely there always are plenty of tramp steamers under the flag of the British empire available at Montreal, but not at New York, Philadelphia, or Baltimore.

There are only one or two companies in this country at the present time operating tramp steamers, and their ships are engaged mostly in intercoastal trade. The problem of disposing of the eight ships furnishes an opportunity to the maritime commission to demonstrate that profits can be made if Yankee ingenuity is put to work to keep these boats under the American flag in a service which in recent years has been abandoned.

CHICAGO FOR THE CONVENTIONS.

Chicago appears at present to be the favorite city for both the Republican and Democratic national conventions, provided, of course, that the usual contributions to the party expense chests are forthcoming.

This city's advantages as a center for political gatherings have been recognized since Lincoln's day, with the result that Chicago has been the host to nominating conventions more often than any other city. If the national committees of the two parties have the comfort of the delegates in mind they will follow precedent and come to Chicago.

Its position as the transportation center of the nation makes this the most accessible city, with the lowest average fare. Chicago hotels, moreover, have the space for convention crowds. While they contribute generously to the convention expenses, they are under no temptation to gouge the delegates to recover their contributions. They accommodate hundreds of conventions yearly, many of them with a larger attendance than that at the political meetings, and they get this great volume of business, year after year, because of their wise policy of treating visitors as guests and not as suckers.

Chicago has an added advantage this year. Illinois has no favorite son candidate in either party and in consequence all candidates may feel assured of a neutral forum for the presentation of their claims.

Editorial of the Day

IF SO, WE DON'T ENVY HIM!

[Des Moines Register.]

"Adolph Hitler has been married for two years,"—R. Norburt in the Saturday Evening Post.

Wife—Well, it certainly looks like you have got yourself into a fine jam.

Adolf—There you go again, just because I've had a few reverses!

Wife—I warned you not to get into a war.

Adolf—Now listen to me——

Wife—I'm the only person who doesn't HAVE to listen to you!

Adolf—Please keep quiet, I have a lot of problems to figure out.

Wife—I'll say you have! If you take my advice you'll grab at these peace hints.

Adolf—Germany can never be defeated! I shall fight to the last drop of the army's blood! The Nazis are a superrace!

Wife—O, be yourself! That baloney is all right when you're outside, but you needn't hand it to me.

Adolf—You're just like all the rest; if this war was a big success for me, you'd claim all the credit.

Wife—I always knew there would be no credit in this one. You had everything where you wanted it and were sitting pretty. Then you had to go and drag England and France in.

Adolf—How did I know they weren't bluffing?

Wife—I told you they weren't bluffing.

Adolf—The same old I-told-you-so stuff! Stop harping on that! And get this straight, England and France can't scare me.

Wife—Be yourself! You know very well you haven't had a good night's sleep in three months.

Adolf—I'm just nervous, that's all. Anyhow, if you can't give me encouragement, keep your mouth shut.

Wife—You can't talk like that to me.

Adolf—Silence! You're exhausting my patience.

Wife—That old gag! Please try a new one.

Adolf—I've a good mind to scuttle you.

[And so far into the night.]

SLANTS ABOUT TOWN.

Soon after St. Valentine's day you will be expected to remember where the Blackstone theater is located. It has been there for almost 40 years, and is within shouting distance of two of Chicago's largest hotels, but about 90 per cent of the Four Millions look blank when its name is mentioned. The Blackstone's emergence from the ghost theater class with a New York hit ["Life with Father"] will be the cause of this strain on your memory.

Within a few months you can take your country cousin for a walk along Dearborn street, between Adams and Jackson, and say, "Here we have the longest stretch of 'taxpayers' in the world."

Who wants a fine gargoyle or griffin? There is one on the doomed Bedford building that can be had, almost for the asking, if it survives the wrecking process.

Ornamental weather vanes in situ make a fine hobby for an observant eye. They are fairly rare in Chicago. We know of two excellent specimens, in the neighborhood of North avenue and the "El" tracks. One of them is in the form of a cannon, and its aim into the eye of the wind is unerring.

Among the people whom we admire for patience and determination to get the best for their money are those who stand on windswept "El" platforms yelling at the guards on Howard expresses:

MOUSE OR MAN?

Are you planning on soon going southward?
What are you, a mouse or a man?
Are you thinking because it's near zero
You'll dash off and get you a tan?
What's the matter with facing the winter?
Can't you take it or does this make you squirm?
While brave souls are skiing and skating

O, painting your cheeks with snow roses
Looks better than tan on your nose,
And there's nothing like keen winter breezes
To keep you right up on your toes;
Can you face it and take it and like it?
Or, slug, are you stuck in the house?
This weather will show what you're made of—

The Duke Comes Home Too Early.

His changing Thanksgiving-day didn' mean nuthin to me. If he wants to do a guy a real favor he shood have Saturday afternoons fall on Tuesday or Wednesday morning. Lass Saturday I arrive at "The maison de Bakrak" bout 2 o'clock [yea, smart guy, p. m.] an after tenderly embracing tha Duchess to tha extent of "Har-ya, Ma?" I awsks in a very genteel manna befittin my rank, "Watcha gotta eat aroun tha dump?" to which her Ighness, adjusting her tiara, elegantly replies, "Why didn' cha stop at tha Greek's fore ya come bustin in; you know Saturday is my scrubbing day." Course I cooda come-backed her with a bit of wit like fer instance, "A darn good scrubbin woodn' hurt cha any," but I aint quite that dumb cause as Confucius say, "Wit, smelly, wit empty belly."

Ennyway, instead of gettin porter-house, I get house-porter. Five jobs she's got laid out fer me—a wash boller to be soldered, a trunk to go from tha attic to tha basement. I wish she'd make up her mind—last week I hadda take the same dam trunk from tha basement to tha attic. Then there's a sink that's leakin an a new clothes line to be put up. That's 4 jobs—tha 5th I didn' hear cause I was too far away from her. Ya see "Dematropoulose's Busy Bee" is 3 blocks from tha house, an I much preferred to "Bee Busy" there.

It's none of your business what she did to me when I got home at four [yea, smart guy, a. m.] but she did it.

CAPTURED BEAUTY.

I went in search of beauty long ago
And sought her in the sunset and the dawn,
For she's a shy, elusive, vagrant thing,
And when I thought her captured, she was gone.

I sought her where tall cities scrape the stars
And by the shores of far, exotic seas,
And snowclad mountains and by mystic lakes,
Yet glimpsed her but afar in all of these

Until a dimpled little child of three
Looked up into my eyes and laughed at me.

Story of a List to Starboard.

"Make Way for the Big Boss" [Jan. 18] reminds me of the U. S. S. George Washington after the world war. I had Thanksgiving dinner in 1918 on this ship and still have the menu. When she was put in shape for the reception of the President of the United States and his wife, it was my privilege to see the quarters of both Mrs. Wilson, on the port side, and President Wilson, on the starboard side. It was a standing joke with the boys of the George Washington during the two trips that when the ship listed to starboard the two were occupying his quarters. Monsieur X.

Bulldog Competition, Bulldog Editions.

Regarding "bulldog" edition: A good many years ago, when the New York newspapers were fighting for circulation, the World and the American [I think] struggled furiously to get the first morning edition on a train for the west. It was said that they fought like bulldogs; hence that particular edition has always been known as the "bulldog." S. L. Dare.

THE LONG NIGHT THRU.

THE exquisite torture of a sleepless night may be experienced now and then, particularly by those who have passed the meridian of life. If you have tried all the relaxing stunts that have been suggested and find that they do not work, the best rule is to occupy oneself in some manner that will serve as a distraction—reading, walking, or playing solitaire. More damage is done to the nervous system in trying to force somnolence than by admitting the fact that slumber has vanished for the time being.

Of course, there may be something fundamentally wrong and it is wise to exhaust every possible avenue of investigation before confessing defeat with recourse to sleeping tablets—an "out" accepted by many as the lesser of two evils. Not so much injury to the body as a whole follows the administration of a tiny dose of a barbituric acid preparation than comes thru allowing wakefulness to fret one into a state of "jitters." On the other hand, there are many helpful devices that should be tried faithfully before the decision is made that insomnia is a fixed habit.

Is the bed comfortable? Is it roomy enough so that you can twist and turn and change position frequently? A sense of constriction is annoying. The same may be said of too heavy covering. Difficulty may arise because the patient is too warm. Sometimes a fair amount of nutriment—a glass of warm milk with a slice or two of bread and butter—will calm dancing fancies. Again, 20 minutes spent in walking in the open air before retiring may bring that needed ounce of fatigue. The gait should be leisurely. Many dog owners who take their pets out for a late airing claim that they are never troubled.

Contrary to many notions on the subject, boredom is not conducive to healthy fatigue. It is far more likely to prove nerve racking. Just as an evening of swing music may flay the sensibilities of one who reacts acutely to sound, so hours of hearing nothing or doing nothing may produce a like effect. Even the radio may serve as an offender, particularly when the programs are liberally punctuated with oft repeated prescriptions of what to take for tired nerves.

One basic cause is mental excitement or turmoil that will not quiet down. Like delicate wires on a pianoforte that vibrate at the slightest touch and for a long period, so thoughts may oscillate to and fro unceasingly. Many of us can understand why. Perhaps some disquieting episode cannot be forgotten and it takes a good deal of self-training to bring oblivion.

High blood pressure is always a factor and to those whose cerebral cortex is more generously engorged with blood than it should be have an added burden to combat. While eight hours of slumber is desirable, it may not be essential for you or for me. Some will preserve excellent health with six hours or even less. Then, again, nature has a way of exacting specific requirements. Many an individual who is confident that only two or three hours of unconsciousness came during the night will take frequent naps thruout the day.

Physical therapy—which includes warm baths and gentle massage—is always beneficial. Hospitals have learned that when patients are tucked in for the night a gentle back rub proves soothing. Omit this procedure and most of them will toss for hours. Irritants such as itching, pain, or a dull ache in some part of the system can usually be corrected if the cause is determined. Profound darkness is desired by some, while with others the reassurance of a dim light is of value.

Nutrition must not be forgotten. Overly heavy dinners are likely to induce drowsiness and the patient cannot tumble into bed quickly enough. Such a person may drop off promptly but will waken two or three hours later to remain staring at the ceiling for an hour or more. The remedy, of course, is a smaller evening meal with the digestive apparatus supplied with but a modest load. Four or five hours later a snack may be taken with no discomfort and with some inducement to sleep.

CORONARY ACCIDENTS.

A. B. C. write: 1. Is it possible to bring on a first attack of coronary thrombosis by extreme physical exertion? 2. After an extended rest period what sort of activities must a man deny himself in order to prevent further attacks? 3. What part does diet play in averting further attacks?

REPLY.

1. Many attacks are thought to follow or be associated with physical activity. However, a coronary accident may occur when the victim is at rest or asleep. It must be remembered that exertion is incidental and that the specific cause is narrowing of a coronary artery.

2. One must rearrange his activities and exclude worry, nervous tension, and physical labor. Frequent rest periods, light meals [particularly the evening meal], avoidance of exposure, etc. are helpful.

3. It is thought that overloading the digestive tract may predispose to a seisure, as the heart is obliged to do more work.

DIZZY.

W. C. writes: For the last couple of days I have been waking up slightly off balance, weak, and dizzy. This persists for four or more hours, gradually going away. Then, toward evening I see double, one object on top of the other, and during this time I begin to feel "reely" again and it remains for about 3 or more hours. What can be at the bottom of this? Could it be indigestion or other stomach disturbances?

REPLY.

Diplopia [seeing double] plus dizziness and a loss of balance demands a careful examination. While it may be due to the absorption of some toxin, a disturbance of the circulation is probably the cause. Consult your family physician.

BLUE BABY.

B. writes: 1. What is wrong with the heart of a blue baby? 2. Do they ever recover from that condition?

REPLY.

1. Inasmuch as the fetus does not need to breathe, there is no necessity for the blood to pass thru the lungs, hence it is short circuited thru the auricles [upper chambers] of the heart, passing from the right to the left side thru an opening known as the foramen ovale. This closes automatically as the lungs expand after birth. Failure of the door to shut, results in an inadequate oxygen supply to the blood. The result is a blue or cyanotic baby.

2. Yes, frequently.

THAT COY GLANCE.

E. W. writes:

1. How successful are operations for drooping eyelids?

2. What causes this condition?

REPLY

1. In many instances excellent results have been obtained.

2. Usually due to some disturbance of the nerve supply to the lid.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile.—The chamber of deputies, accepting a Liberal-Conservative initiative, has voted that citizens of Finland be given "the most complete facilities for emigration to Chile" if the Russian invasion results unfavorably to their country. The resolution, which was sent to Foreign Minister Abraham Ortega, indicated Chile would be suitable for settlement by the Finns.

In another motion the chamber impugned the foreign office for refusing to be associated with a united continental condemnation of Russia. Communist Deputy Contreras Labarea defended Moscow and said British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was attempting to start an anti-soviet war.

Conservatives and Liberals pointed out that the communist attitude differed from the resolutions against Russian aggression passed by workers' rallies. The motion was defeated because secret legislative sessions had accepted the foreign minister's explanation of complete Chilean neutrality in face of every class of European event. In a compromise suggested by the Socialists the chamber expressed its sympathy with the Finnish parliament.

The newspaper El Mercurio reiterated Chilean objections to proposed punishment of belligerents violating the 300 mile neutrality "security limit." It printed a strong editorial attack on present trends of Pan-Americanism, which, it said, "by withdrawing from the European conflict was seeking to mix up with it." It called the Pan-American movement "moonstruck." The paper declared any reprisals for violating an imaginary area departed from international standards and would lead to unfortunate incidents. It suggested there also would be economic reprisals which, if emanating from the allied democracies, could almost wreck the economies of some southern states.

Referring apparently to the United States, El Mercurio stated: "It is a curious fact that while there is one country in this hemisphere whose arms factories are working night and day to foster European belligerency it also should take an interest in establishing a neutrality zone of 30 hours' navigation."

The newspaper said there was only one step between declaring a transgressor of the zone to declaring an "aggressor" and demanded that Pan-Americanism abandon dangerous collective experiments.

There has been warm support here for the Uruguayan initiative in issuing a reserve to the continental protest to England, France, and Germany following the battle between three British cruisers and the Admiral Graf Spee off the Plate river.

The Uruguayan government said it would not object to "sanctions" if these could be inflicted equitably. It added that it does not consider that these could be inflicted justly, However. There is a difference, it declared, between those who defend and those who attack commerce. It preferred that American nations draft special regulations to avoid the "self-defeating effects" of the proposed reprisals or sanctions.

How Our States Got Their Names

15. KENTUCKY.

It is agreed that Kentucky derives its name from an Indian word, but the meaning of the Indian word is variously given. Some say it meant "dark and bloody ground," others that it meant "meadow," or "river of blood," or "the land of tomorrow." It is ascribed to the Cherokee or Iroquois language. Kentucky was admitted to statehood on June 1, 1792.

Kentucky state seal. It shows two friends embracing, and motto: "United We Stand, Divided We Fall."

The state motto is "United We Stand, Divided We Fall." The state song is "My Old Kentucky Home." The state flower is the goldenrod, the bird the cardinal, and the tree the tulip poplar. Nicknames include the Blue Grass, Corn-cracker, Hemp, and Tobacco state, and the Dark and Bloody Ground. The last name was given because her territory once was the place of fierce battles between hostile Indian tribes. The Corn-cracker appellation refers to the poor mountaineers who were called by that name, or else to the corncrake, a kind of rail often found in the state.

SIDEWALKS.

Forest Park, Ill., Jan. 16.—I am a resident of Milwaukee and have been visiting in a suburb of Chicago for the last three weeks. Since the recent snowfall I have noticed how lax people are in cleaning the snow off their sidewalks. In many places it is very difficult to walk.

Chicagoans should take a tip from Milwaukee. Within 24 hours after a snowstorm, if your sidewalk hasn't been cleaned a tag is hung on your front door knob. If the sidewalk isn't cleaned then the city comes and cleans it. It is added to your taxes and thus you pay for it. This same procedure is followed in cases of broken sidewalks.

I was also very much shocked to see open garbage boxes still being used in a beautiful city like Chicago.

STRONG FEELING ABOUT HATS.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Odd millinery creations have hampered my view of movies and plays about long enough and I now wish to howl in anguish.

At the legitimate theater or at a movie I invariably sit in back of a three foot mound of felt trimmed with flagpoles and lightning rods and trailing an afghan in back. If I suggest to the individual wearing such a trifle that it be removed I get a mumbled answer about said person having paid for a seat, also; then there is much thrashing around while the proud owner of the Eiffel Tower goes into an epileptic fit, and I morosely settle down to a distorted view of what little I can see of the stage.

Always the wearers of such headgear have nervous twitches of the upper part of the body and jiggle from left to right thruout the entire performance. If they insist on wearing their hats, why do they not have collapsible or removable trimming? I fail to see why I have to peer over and around a hat wired for sound just to please the vanity of a lover of voodoo headgear.

JAPANESE RELATIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The United States has been tweaking Japan's nose in no uncertain manner for the past two years for her infringements upon our insignificant rights in China. Meantime England, which has suffered more from the Sino-Japanese war than we, and is six times more heavily interested in China than we, has done nothing but write polite notes. We terminated our commercial treaty with Japan. Did Britain? Some of our brains in Washington want to place an embargo on Japan. Do the English? No, on the contrary, they are working out an unpublicized understanding with Japan, which to date has taken form in a doubling of British shipments to Japanese-controled Canton and of Japanese shipments to English controled Hongkong; in a series of small concessions in Shanghai by Japan; and in the applying of British censorship on anti-Japanese news in Hongkong's Chinese newspapers.

Our jitterbug diplomacy has been kicking our business men square in the pocketbook. We do all the hating and lose all the trade.

A QUESTION OF INTEREST.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The more abundant life gives less interest to 40 or 80 million bank depositors on their savings accounts. These millions may take a more abundant interest in the election of Republicans to office next November.

THE UPKEEP OF A GIFT.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—I sent a Christmas present to Canada that cost $1.25. The party I sent it to would not accept it, as the duty would have been $5. He paid 26c postage to have it sent back to me. Then I had to pay 15c more postage due before I could get it.

MISS B. JANSON.

NEWS OF THE FARM.

Monmouth, Ill., Jan. 16.—One article I never miss is "Day by Day on the Tribune Farm." Born and reared on a farm, I find it intensely interesting and educational. Hurry the day when it is returned to your paper. It must be a wonderful farm and some day I hope to visit it.

I cut out the recipe for smoked turkey. I may never have a turkey to smoke, but will know how to do it anyway. Also saved the recipe for curing meat. Next spring I am going to start a scrapbook of "Day by Day on the Farm" articles. History may repeat itself. Who knows? Maybe some of my young Vikings will decide to become tillers of the soil. What a wonderful lot of information I will be storing up for them.

THE ITALIAN MASTERPIECES.

Westville, Ind., Jan. 16.—May I offer you my congratulations upon the beautiful work you have accomplished in reproducing the Italian masterpieces recently exhibited at the Art institute? When these reproductions appear I often buy two SUNDAY TRIBUNES. They aid considerably in my art study. I hope we will have the pleasure of viewing all of them in your fine paper.

PLEDGLINGS.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The delegates to the 1940 Democratic national convention will not be selected until next April, so pray tell me how come Mayor Edward J. Kelly has already pledged them, all 58 of them, to President F. D. Roosevelt? Methinks he is just a wee bit premature.

WENDELL H. BLACKBURN.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

LIFE TENANT.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 17 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. If A has a life estate with a remainder to B and A fails to pay the taxes on the life estate and fails to keep the premises covered by insurance does A forfeit his life estate, and if he does forfeit does the remainderman come into possession?

2. Does a judgment outlaw in Illinois?

3. My impression is that a judgment is outlawed by the statute of limitations in seven years but can be revived if an execution is taken out within those seven years.

R. J. K.

1. No. It is stated in 21 Corpus Juris, page 954, as follows: "It has been stated as a general rule that the life tenant is not bound to keep the premises insured for the benefit of the remainderman or reversioner, unless there is an agreement that he shall do so."

2. Yes, in 20 years. The lien expires in seven years if not renewed.

3. Correct, as to the judgment lien.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE.

Chicago, Jan. 18 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. If a person now receiving old age pension [not federal social security] should die, does the state collect all monies paid to the pensioner from the heirs if the pensioner has no real estate whatever, or insurance? What is the statute on this if any?

2. Could the state demand payment from the heirs if they had received no benefit from the monies paid to the pensioner?

J. F. C.

1. No. The accumulated assistance payments are a charge against any estate left by the recipient at his death, but if there is no such estate then they are not a charge personally against those who would have been heirs.

2. No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A JUDGE UPHOLDS TWINS' PATERNITY IN DOMESTIC ROW

Denies Divorce to Father Who Spurned Them.

The father is Edward C. Carnes, 31 years old, an electrical maintenance man for the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. The judge found that Carnes is the father of Cornelia and Constance Carnes, 2 years old, and ordered him to pay $65 a month separate maintenance for them and their mother, Mrs. Virginia Carnes.

Sued Without Knowledge.

Mrs. Carnes told the court her husband filed suit for divorce in Springfield without her knowledge shortly before the twins were born. On June 2, 1938, she filed suit for separate maintenance in Superior court, charging desertion. Carnes filed a cross bill for divorce last June, charging desertion and asserting the twins were not his.

Mrs. Carnes took her daughters to court as evidence yesterday. Her attorneys, Stephen Sullivan and Nicholas Socrates, called Dr. James H. Bloomfield as a witness.

The judge looked at the twins. He listened to Dr. Bloomfield, an obstetrician at 30 North Michigan avenue who attended the mother. Dr. Bloomfield said he had never heard Carnes disclaim parentage, altho he had been reluctant to pay the medical bill. The physician recalled that Carnes had paid only $5 of the $175 owed.

Judge Discerns Resemblance.

Then Judge McKinlay brushed aside the arguments of Carnes' attorney, Thomas O'Neill. The judge said:

"I think Mr. Carnes has shown he is anxious to get a divorce from Mrs. Carnes and filed suit for that purpose. I think the evidence clearly shows these two little girls are children born of this wedlock.

"The court saw two things in the appearance of the twins that might well be inherited from their father. The doctor's testimony merely substantiates what the court had found."

RAIL EMPLOYE INJURED BY TRAIN.

Fred Klopp of 4203 North Paulina street, a refrigerator car attendant for the Burlington railroad, was injured last night when he was struck by a train during switching operations at 18th street and Western avenue. He was taken to Wesley Memorial hospital.

BLIND GIRL OF 17 TO GET DIPLOMA AND A GUIDE DOG

A diploma is only one of the awards Helen Montague, holder of the Dold trophy for blind students, will receive when her class is graduated tomorrow night at the John Marshall High school, 3250 Adams street.

The Central Lions Club of Chicago will present Miss Montague with a German shepherd guide dog from the La Salle kennels in Minneapolis, Minn. J. L. Sinykin, the trainer, has been in Chicago since last week, teaching the girl and the dog to work together.

A delegation of 40 members will accompany Ernest S. Beaumont, president of the club, to the school tomorrow for the formal presentation. The Central club awarded Miss Montague its Dold trophy for outstanding scholarship last June. She is 17 years old and lives at 2646 Rockwell street.

Boy Dies of Injuries After Fall on Toboggan Slide

Frank Lunak, 9 years old, of 4208 Highland avenue, Stickney, died in the Berwyn hospital yesterday of injuries incurred Monday in a fall on a toboggan slide. The accident occurred near his home. The boy went home apparently unhurt and it was several hours before it was determined that he had suffered a skull fracture.

RADIO MESSAGE RECEIVED FROM SNOW CRUISER

The Armour Institute of Technology announced yesterday that radio communication had been established with its snow cruiser, which is with Admiral Byrd's antarctic expedition. The message was received thru amateur station W90VU, operated by Hubert Rieck Jr. of Lombard.

Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, who is in charge of the cruiser, said it had been landed safely and was well back from the shore at Little America. He added that he expected to have a stronger sending set in operation today.

The institute officials expect to get messages regularly thru station W9TP in Downers Grove.

FIREMEN SAVE DAY FOR POLICE HUMPTY DUMPTY

The cobblestones were as slick as so many greased pigs in the alley behind the Mallers building, off Madison street east of Wabash avenue. Ordinarily Jimmy is as sure footed as a mountain goat. But yesterday afternoon Jimmy's feet slipped—the hind ones. And it required the efforts of two fire department squads, working for half an hour with ropes and hoists, to set Jimmy up straight again. Jimmy is the handsome mahogany colored mount Sergt. Thomas Moore of the traffic police rides about the loop. Sergt. Moore had dismounted and was guiding Jimmy thru the slippery alley yesterday. Jimmy stepped on the loose lid of a manhole. The lip slipped under his weight, and Jimmy's two hind legs went in. Apparently only his disposition was affected by the tumble.

Cold Weather Freak Raises Ice Pinnacle 50 Feet High

Bethlehem, N. H., Jan. 23 (AP).—A pinnacle of ice more than 50 feet high stands as a monument here to New England's prolonged recent cold spell. A three-quarter inch water pipe burst at Bethlehem Junction days ago, and a stream rose 50 feet high under 180 pounds pressure. To repair the break would have necessitated shutting off the town supply, possibly causing valves and mains to freeze. Consequently, repairs were deferred, and the water froze higher and higher.

NEUTRALS' OCEAN LINES STILL BUSY DESPITE THE WAR

Offices of Belligerents Are Curtailed.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

Now that the war has shut off travel to much of the old world, what are the steamship companies and travel agencies with offices in Chicago doing for a living? Have they closed or are they staying open in the hope there will be peace by spring? What is their program for 1940?

These questions are among those most frequently asked of the Tribune travel department.

Trans-Atlantic steamship lines representing belligerent countries are running their Chicago offices with skeleton staffs. These include the Cunard, French, Hamburg-American-North German Lloyd, Furness, Anchor, and Canadian Pacific companies. The Gdynia American Line's office closed soon after the German and Russian invasions of Poland.

Neutral Lines Still Sailing.

Companies representing neutral countries are still plying their steamers and maintaining their Chicago quarters. Among these are the United States, American Export, Italian, Holland America, Swedish America, and Norwegian America Lines.

There are few runs to northern Europe, but the service to southern Europe and the Mediterranean has not been seriously affected. Both the Swedish and Dutch lines, together with the Panama Pacific, are carrying out a program of cruises to southern waters this winter. The United States Line has a weekly service to Bermuda. The United Fruit company's ships are doing their customary cruising to the West Indies and Central America.

That covers the travel picture on the north Atlantic. On the south Atlantic, the American Republics Line's steamers are cruising down the east coast of South America, and the Grace Line's ships down the west coast. Neither has had any trouble.

Pacific Ships Busy.

Nor has there been any difficulty on the Pacific. The American Presidents and N. Y. K. [Japanese] Lines still are taking passengers to and from the orient, and the Matson Navigation company is doing its usual business to Hawaii, Australia, and New Zealand.

What about the travel agencies? The three biggest—the American Express company, Thomas Cook & Son, and Raymond-Whitcomb, Inc.—are holding onto their Michigan avenue leases, with no thought of fading from the picture. Some of the smaller ones have been forced to close for the time being, but the larger number has weathered the storm.

What are they doing? Big and small alike have turned from ocean cruises to land cruises. Mexico, California, the southwest, the Gulf coast, and Florida are the goals of hundreds of tours and excursions, and they are attracting thousands of persons who don't fancy the idea of taking to sea this season.

Peace? Soon, They Hope.

What is their program for 1940? They can plan nothing definite until they know what's going to take place on the other side of the Atlantic.

Perhaps, they say, they could do a little formulating if they could get a peek behind the scenes in the chancelleries and the diplomatic chambers of London, Paris, Berlin, Rome, and Moscow.

REOPEN LARGEST NORTH CAROLINA LAKE FOR FISHING

New Holland, N. C., Jan. 23 [Special].—Lake Mattamuskeet, North Carolina's largest, once more is open for bass fishing, following the end of the waterfowl hunting season. It was closed during that period—not to protect the fish but to protect the fishermen. Shot and shell were falling over the region too rapidly to permit anglers to enter.

Large mouth bass are so plentiful there that there never is a closed season on them, except when the hunters are busy. In spring the daily limit of eight usually is reached in a couple of hours.

Lake Mattamuskeet is 100 miles in circumference. In addition to its bases it is known as a winter feeding ground of ducks and geese.

Hamlet Accessible Only by Ladder Is Now on Road

For many years the only approach to Albinen, in one of the remote Alpine valleys in the canton of Valais, from the spa at Leuk has been by a flight of ladders tied to an almost perpendicular rock cliff. It was an everyday sight to see villagers scaling the hight, carrying huge loads—bundles, baskets, and even a pig or two.

Now a road has been built to the mountain town. But the ladders remain as a short cut route.

The honor is usually accorded the Carlsbad caverns in New Mexico. In its intricate series of chambers is one 4,000 feet long, 625 feet wide, and 350 feet from floor to arched ceiling. The Carlsbad caves are also regarded as the most magnificent in the world. Their stalactites and stalagmites are of fantastic shape and gigantic size, and the walls are of gleaming onyx. They were discovered in 1901 and set aside as a national park in 1930. Only in the last few years could the caverns be visited in safety.

What is the population of Mexico City? F. S.

Approximately 1,300,000.

We wish to take in the winter sports in the province of Quebec. Is it difficult for Americans to cross the border? J. L. Z.

No. The war in Europe has had no effect whatsoever in the matter of tourist restrictions in Canada.

Please give me a brief description of jai alai as it is played in Havana and other Latin American cities. R. M. K.

It is known as the world's fastest game. Inherited from the Basques, it is played in an arena similar to a handball court, but much larger. Each player is equipped with a long, hooked basket, strapped to his right arm. With this he catches the small, hard ball and hurls it at the wall at lightning speed. His opponent must catch the ball when it bounces back. The game proceeds until a fault or miss is scored. With the crowd betting heavily on the outcome, the excitement becomes intense. The betting odds change thruout the contest as one side or the other gains an advantage.

Is there any steamship service between St. Petersburg, Fla., and Havana? M. M.

TUCSON FINDS ITSELF CENTER OF MOVIE WORK

Within the last two months several Hollywood producers have built elaborate sets near Tucson, and now western thrillers are being made for release in the course of the next 12 months.

Reproductions of entire frontier towns have been built in the cactus dotted desert. Selection of this part of Arizona for these productions followed a survey of winter atmospheric conditions. The Hollywood interests discovered that the sky and cloud effects, necessary for outdoor photography in color, were near perfection here.

SHIP TO SHORE RADIO SERVES SAILFISH DERBY

BY HAL FOUST.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 23 [Special].—A ship to shore radio system is saving the lives of ocean game in the sixth annual silver sailfish derby. Charter boats in the deep sea fleet are keeping in touch with each other and with the West Palm Beach Fishing club while the gulf stream is being trolled for prize winners.

Broadcasts announce catches by the contestants while they are scattered over a hundred square miles of brine. Thereafter they aren't scattered so much, the boats centering on locations where there are strikes.

Get Daily Statistics.

Ordinarily, you would imagine that such communication might increase the size of the total kill. It doesn't work that way, however.

For example, on the 42 foot cruiser the Empress Ann, Capt. Ben Eldred at 10 o'clock in the morning picked up a message that Lewis E. Jackson of Lake Mohawk, N. J., had landed an eight foot sailfish aboard Capt. Rudy Steinhauser's Black Jack.

Capt. Eldred's party, and every other party on a boat with a radio, knew that for the rest of the day no fish of less than eight feet could win the daily prize. A sail of seven feet and ten inches, uninjured by its half hour tug on a line, could be returned to the ocean without being killed.

Calls Shore From Boat.

The short wave two way radio sets were originally placed on many of the boats as a safety measure. In addition to its use during the sailfish derby, which ends on Feb. 4, the equipment has a further use. A guest on the Empress Ann didn't want to leave the fishing to keep a dinner appointment, Capt. Eldred picked up his phone, and called Miami.

The operator at the Miami station got the number of a telephone in a private residence. After a conversation between the boat and the residence there was a charge of $1.65 including tax.

The radio has opened a new field for fish stories, it seems.

MEXICAN GUIDES' UNION EXPELS 2 FOR DISCOURTESY

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 23 [Special].—Two Mexican tourist guides have been expelled from their union and will not be permitted to practice their trade until further notice. The reason: They were discourteous to visitors.

Members of the union took the matter into their own hands, without waiting for the Mexican Tourist association to act. They took the position that Mexico is judged largely by its guides and that their country cannot afford to be uncivil to its guests.

At the suggestion of the National Tourist association, the federal government some time ago set up courses of instruction for guides in such subjects as Mexican history, art, archeology, economics, and English.

MOBILE'S FAMED AZALEA TRAIL TO BLOSSOM SOON

Expect 100,000 Tourists Late in February.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 23 [Special].—Mobile's Azalea trail will burst into bloom about a month hence.

Each year, in the latter part of February, the first touch of spring transforms the 17 mile route thru this city into a mass of colors ranging from pure white to deep crimson. There are literally millions of blossoms on the many thousands of bushes. World travelers have pronounced it an unrivaled spectacle.

The magnitude of the Azalea trail is a demonstration of civic enterprise. It came into being thru voluntary planting.

Scores of Gardens Open.

It was planned in such a way that it could be enjoyed from an auto. But for persons wishing to make a more leisurely tour, with stops for closer inspection, there are scores of gardens, each with something different in the way of floral attractions.

After this tour has been completed the sightseer may enjoy the Bellingrath gardens, where there are more azaleas, as well as hundreds of camellia japonicas and other semitropical flowers.

Bellingrath is distinctive in that, while intensively cultivated, it preserves the original beauty of its moss draped oaks and its wild flowers. Gardenias, dogwood, hydrangeas, crêpe myrtle, laurels, and oleanders are seen there in bewildering numbers.

More than 100,000 persons make the pilgrimage to Mobile annually to view these natural splendors. The display reaches its peak about the time many winter vacations are ending, so that throngs of northerners come here on their way home. The season lasts from late February until mid-April.

Reach Height of 30 Feet.

Thousands of new bushes have been set out in the last few years. Most of these, of course, are small, but the older ones sometimes reach a height of 30 feet. The blossoms, even on the larger plants, are so dense that the branches and leaves rarely show thru the blaze of color.

First plantings of azaleas were made in Mobile nearly 200 years ago by Fifise Langlois. He brought over three varieties from his native France, and they thrived so well that neighbors soon were adding them to their gardens.

Miami-Nassau Ocean Race Will Take Place on Feb. 13

TOURIST TRADE GAIN EXPECTED BY MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23 [Special].—Minnesota is looking forward to the biggest tourist business in its history.

Victor A. Johnston, director of the tourist bureau in the state department of conservation, predicted that 1940 would surpass all previous records. He based his forecast on these factors:

The war in Europe, making travel to much of that continent impractical—if not impossible.

The showing made last year, in the face of competition from the New York and San Francisco expositions.

Prospects of even better fishing than last year in Minnesota's 11,000 lakes.

The fact that the state is becoming known for the relief it affords hay fever victims.

Johnston announced that the first major event of the new year would be the Northwest Sportsmen's show March 23 to 31 in Minneapolis. The Anoka Sportsmen's show will be the first three days in May.

NEW TYPE PONIES BRED IN NASSAU TO RUN IN RACES

NASSAU, the Bahamas, Jan. 23 [Special].—Horse racing once more is under way at Montagu Park. It will continue each Friday for several months.

"Here in the Bahamas," George Murphy, director of the program, said today, "we are gradually, but expertly, developing a new type of race horse. We are crossing Kentucky thorobred stock with our native ponies, known among fanciers for their small, wiry build and remarkable endurance and speed.

"As a result of these efforts we are producing a pony that, we believe, will revolutionize the sport in Nassau."

TWO GROUPS FETE VISITORS IN OLD ST. AUGUSTINE

St. Augustine, Fla., Jan. 23 [Special].—This resort, Florida's oldest, has two organizations devoted solely to the task of entertaining out of state visitors.

They are the Tourist club, directed by the city recreation department, and the Young Visitors' club, sponsored by the St. Augustine Pilot club and the junior chamber of commerce.

The Tourist club is housed at the civic center; the other one has its headquarters at the municipal golf links. Both have complete facilities for indoor and outdoor sports.

Dr. H. J. Cornwell, 1034 Pleasant street, Oak Park, returned yesterday from a successful eight day mountain lion hunting trip in the Uinta mountains near Vernal, Utah. Dr. Cornwell shot a 175 pound lion which a hunting party trailed for three days in rocky canyons before it was treed in a big spruce. One shot brought the lion to earth, but it was only severely wounded. Dogs killed the lion after it had almost killed one of the dogs. The frozen carcass of the lion was placed aboard a train and brought to Chicago. Dr. Cornwell will skin the lion himself. He expects to make a rug of the pelt.

He said this will entitle them to park from 7 a. m. until midnight each day, allowing them to take their cars out and return as many times as desired. The area will hold about 125 cars. Thru the LOOKING GLASS

The gentlest of women can and do have the impulse to cuss at least a little when they break one of the nails they've so carefully nurtured to a long, chic growth. There are few things as aggravating as breaking or tearing a perfectly good nail when you pull up a girdle, open a package, or even flick your hand accidentally and lightly on some hard surface.

If the nails aren't strong there just is no point in even hoping for long nails. You'll have to build 'em first—and that's easier said than done.

There's a new preparation out that makes no attempt to improve the nail's resistance. Its only purpose is to help in repairing the damage. In other words, to help put the broken nail together again, so that the finger tips look normal while the nail itself is growing out beyond the break.

This is a liquid, colorless, that cements the nail break firmly. It's quite easy to use and in some tests we made we found it held the nail strongly for several days—sometimes as long as 10. First, polish should be taken off with an oily remover and the nail washed with soap and water. When it's thoroly dry—complete dryness is important—apply the liquid over and under the split or tear. Then put a tiny piece of tissue over the break; this absorbs the liquid and gives the repair added strength. When it's completely dry give the nail another coat of the liquid. When this, too, is hardened you can smooth off unevenness, if any, with a fine emery board. Then apply your polish.

Your nail looks as good as new, and it will be just as strong, if not stronger than it was before the tragedy. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Miss Patterson Gives $50,000 to Cancer Clinic

A gift of $50,000 from Miss Edith L. Patterson of Sterling, Ill., as additional endowment for the Patterson cancer clinic at Passavant hospital was announced yesterday by Henry P. Isham, president of the board of directors of the hospital. The clinic is part of the hospital institute which was established by Miss Patterson with a $540,000 donation in 1938 as a memorial to her brother, Floyd Elroy Patterson, pioneer steel man who died in Chicago in 1928. Dr. Irving S. Cutter, medical director of the hospital, said that Miss Patterson's latest gift will assist greatly in the investigation of cancer.

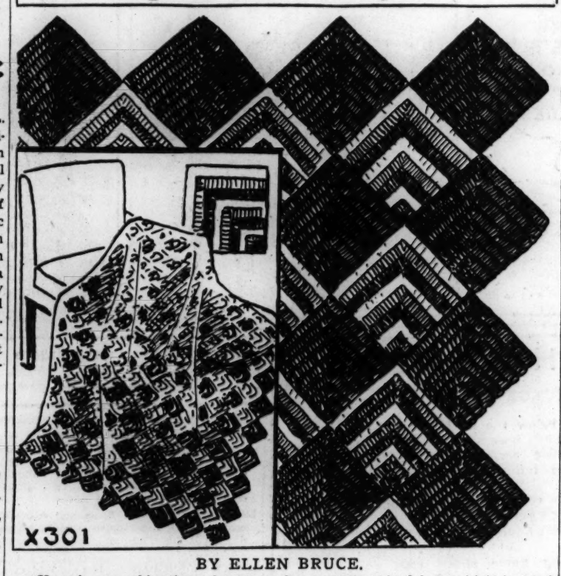
Squares for an Afghan



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is a combination of squares for a crocheted afghan which is hard to beat. It is a variation of the log cabin design and plain blocks worked in the popular slipper stitch. Variety is afforded in making an afghan of this type because, when one tires of making the multi-colored squares, the plain ones may be substituted. Knitting worsted is an ideal wool for this coverlet.

For instructions in crocheting the afghan, No. X-301, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Good Morning!

ACTING: Satisfactory. You'll like best the work of George Sanders, Alan Hale, and George Bancroft.

DIRECTION: Able.

SETS, SCENERY, PHOTOGRAPHY: Effective.

STORY: Douglas Fairbanks, as Keith Brandon, a sort of professional explorer, heads a party to South America for the purpose of excavating wealth from a lost Inca city. . . . Hostile natives endanger their lives, but they're all stout fellahs. . . . Into their midst is borne on a stretcher the slim, sick wife of David, a queer, mysterious sort of chap, destined to die hideously from a poisoned dart—leaving his Stephanie to become the idol of all the big brave men. Developments develop with a vengeance. . . . By the time those get back to civilization who DO get back there, you'll think they'd be ready to cuddle down and stay put. But, well—remember the old song—"You'll Do the Same Thing—Over and Over Again?" That's the note the film ends on.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Can't tell about you, but I was bored.

Cuff Notes.

The word Bill Robinson, star of Hot Mikado, coined and made famous—copesetic—will be included in the next edition of Funk & Wagnall's dictionary. The 61 year old dancer coined the word when he was a newsboy in Washington, D. C., and he has used it ever since. To Robinson copesetic means "O. K.," swell, fine, and just dandy." . . . The Virginia Quarterly Review will shortly print an account of a famous meeting that took place between Norman (South Wind) Douglas and his son, Robin, written by Robin. Young Douglas, who is starting on a new book, is making Chicago his home. He is idea and advertising expert for a transportation corporation. . . . Bookman Ben Abramson, whose north wall of books is well known to book lovers and young writers, is moving, and the north wall will have to be the south wall in the new establishment. He is desperately at work on a poem with which to apprise friends and patrons of the change.

Neck Slices of Lamb Are Best When Braised

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Almost all lamb chops are cooked by broiling, but the slices cut from the neck are best when braised, which means cooking slowly in moist heat. There's plenty of good meat on these neck slices, and they are economical to buy. Onion, green pepper, and tomato seem by nature intended for casseroling with such a cut of lamb.

Spanish style lamb neck slices, on tomorrow evening's menu, can throw off the most wintry chill. Prepare them this way for a family of six, and for fewer persons reduce the recipe accordingly.

Lamb Neck Slices, Spanish Style.
[Serves Six.]

6 lamb neck slices
2 tablespoons lard or bacon drippings
6 thick slices of onion
6 slices tomato
6 rings green pepper
Cooked rice
Salt, pepper

Brown the lamb neck slices on both sides in hot lard. Sprinkle them with salt and pepper. Place them in a greased casserole dish. On each place a slice of onion, topping that with tomato and, finally, green pepper. Fill the ring of green pepper with cooked rice. Sprinkle salt and pepper over the combination, add half a cup of water, cover, and bake at 350 degrees for an hour. Do not let the oven temperature go any higher than this.

A fourth cup of uncooked rice is sufficient for this dish. Cook it in boiling salted water until tender and then drain. If you think your family will like more rice than this small amount cook a cupful, which will make 2 cups of cooked rice, and place some of it around the meat as well as in the green pepper rings.

Chicory, a pleasantly bitterish salad green, is as good cooked as are dandelion greens. Only the crispest, tenderest green and yellow leaves are used for salads. The rest may be cooked. Or cook a whole head, after separating the leaves to wash them. Cook chicory in a small amount of boiling salted water until just tender, drain, and season with more salt, a little pepper, and melted butter, and serve right away.

Marjorie Burgess Displays Delicate, Pleasant Voice

Marjorie Burgess, the soprano who gave last night's Kimball hall recital, had dug up a tremendous number of unfamiliar songs—too great a number for those of us who love something like "Annie Laurie" once in a while. She conducted her wondering listeners thru a whole evening of the music of such rarely represented composers as Glière, Vassilenko [how many have even heard of him?], Alfven, Holbrooke, Bliss, and Duparc.

The performance of this difficult program was marked by sincerity and by a genuine talent for entering into and seeming to live the music. Miss Burgess' basic voice quality is delicate and pleasant, altho she has not yet enough resonance to preserve her beauty of quality in a forte. Also she seems to be often preoccupied with technical problems.

BY REA SEEGER.

New spring suits of all kinds, colors, and streamlines evidently clicked all over town, for the showings tempt you at every window display. Slim, snappy affairs in navy make the most contented shoppers suddenly yearn for spring. There's some perennial lure to this shade that looks more appealing, more smart than any other street or all purpose shade known.

Dull textures make supersslenderizing fabrics perfect for suits and fitted spring ensembles. The brightest of new red costume accessories to complete this annual patriotic fervor are also "in." Jackets are still short, neatly fitted, and amazingly young in outline. Most of the collars are extremely small, crisply cut, and fitted smoothly high around the neckline. Contrasting stitching, flawless tailored details, flap pockets, and a general softened silhouette make these first brave models really something to spend money for.

Red jackets with blue dresses or skirts run along in second place with gray suits for fashion news. The gray collection is unquestionably the best yet unpacked. Three piece stunning outfits consist of trim slim two piece suit and swanky companion top coat also of the same gray. Nubby and gray toned tweed mixtures come in many flattering gray shades, warm grays that are anything but difficult no matter what your coloring. Exceptionally smart ensembles of gray skirt, soft blurred check, or plaid short jacket are sold with a third piece, a long swagger, each piece of the trio a marvel of tailored swank . . . the first whiff of spring in light colored woolens.

New and Exciting Midseason Dinner Dress

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

New and exciting, a midseason dinner dress cut with a wide gathered and flounced skirt. It has a top of monotone crepe to accent the vivid flowered print of the skirt. The same bright red printed silk is used for the long sleeved bolero jacket.

Milstein Violin Magic Is Heard with Symphony

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Nothing new to report about Nathan Milstein. He came to Orchestra hall yesterday to play the Dvorak concerto with the Chicago Symphony orchestra and to display once more the qualities which have made him one of the three or four top ranking violinists of the world.

There were apparent the Milstein nonchalance in the face of heartbreaking technical difficulties, the Milstein genius for ingratiating, finely nuanced melody, and the Milstein ability to achieve momentum without ever becoming actually headlong or uncontroled sounding in his playing.

Frederick Stock began the purely orchestral part of the program with a joyous enough performance of Chabrier's "Joyeuse Marche," then gave the Tuesday subscribers their first taste of Weinberger's new variations and fugue on "Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree."

The audience could not but be impressed with the gayety and good humor of the piece [qualities which are enhanced by the composer's own comments printed in the program book] and by the wealth of obvious and easily followed music which it contains. One of the sections—that concerned with the Dark Lady of Shakespeare's sonnets—could actually be made into a popular song. "Dark Lady, I Love You," suggested the man in the next seat.

Following the Weinberger, and concluding the pre-Milstein portion of the afternoon, was Scriabin's third symphony, subtitled "The Divine Poem." It was played with such clarity and sonority and vigor that a listener could forget its dreary theosophical content and delight in it simply as music.

Guests at Cruise Party to Ride on Roller Skates

BY JUDITH CASS.

CRUISE clothes will be in order at a party Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Thomasson III. are giving tonight. Their large group of guests won't be wearing their very best clothes, however, for the party is to be a roller skating one at the Riverview Park rink. Unless one is an expert, roller skating is apt to be a bit rough on one's clothing.

The Thomassons are providing a real cruising atmosphere. Their guests will be supplied with passports. Entrance to the rink will be over a gangplank. The attendants will be garbed in sailor suits and supplied with pillows which they will give to all those who fall down. In addition a bottle of liniment will be given to the man who falls down oftenest. There will be prizes for the best skaters, a merchandise certificate in the cruise department of a State street store for the man and a traveling kit for the woman.

Party Will Be Held for Raymond Masseys.

The George B. Masseys are giving a luncheon and winter sports party at their home in Winnetka next Sunday for the Raymond Masseys, who are in Chicago during the run of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," in which Raymond Massey plays the leading rôle. Mrs. George Massey Jr. and her little son, John, are leaving on Saturday for New York to join Mr. Massey Jr., whose business interests have taken him there from Mexico. The junior

LOOKING AT HOLLYWOOD. . . . . by Ed Sullivan

The Observation Post

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 23.—"B's" who are box office "A's" in this town—Boyer, Benny, Barrymore, Brent, Bruce, Beery, Baxter, Blondell, Bergen, Bennetts. . . . I wish they'd stop killing off Thomas Mitchell in pictures—let 'em kill off the bad actors in the early reels. . . . Oddest name in flickers, Actor Christian Rub. . . . "Careless" has a nice melody, but that part of the lyric which goes, "You break appointments and think you're smart," is really on the corney side. . . . No dim-wit of the screen can achieve quite the right vacuous note as Frank Morgan. . . . Look alikes: Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Frank Willard, who draws "Moon Mullins." . . . Nobody can look so petulant as Laura Hope Crews. . . . Pet hate: Radio announcers who insist on getting a good natured smile in their commercial announcements: It sounds so completely phoney. . . . Remember 'way back when they kidded Clark Gable about his ears?

On the radio, George Brent in a drama about Hollywood, in which a movie hero is pictured as an impossible sap. . . . Movie hero Brent is a sap to play in radio dramas that depict movie heroes as saps. . . . Jane Darwell gives a grand performance as "Ma" Joad in "Grapes of Wrath," but she was cast badly. . . . It is difficult to believe the starvation theme of the picture when you look at plump Miss Darwell. . . . Most disappointing of French films, to this reviewer, was "Harvest," badly directed, wretchedly cut. . . . I've seen so many French pictures that were infinitely superior. . . . For vicious propaganda, these repeated cracks that American born Jimmy Stewart should be preferred in the academy award voting over British born Robert Donat. . . . What in the name of all that's holy has the accident of nationality got to do with talent? . . . Professional flag wavers make me a trifle ill.

Observation: I've never seen John Carradine give a bad performance. . . . Young Eddie Albert, one of the Warner problem children, is going to short-circuit his career by overacting. . . . What he needs is a director who can tell him where the boundaries are. . . . Rosalind Russell is guilty of the same sin. She overacts, too, and I trust she doesn't believe all of the encomiums that have been heaped upon her, because they ain't so. . . . Charles Laughton dancing with Annabella, the two of them speaking excitedly in French. . . . Odd that W. C. Fields should have such a complex for automobiles. He has three of them and each must be kept polished to the Nth degree. . . . In the teaming of Dolores Del Rio and Wally Beery one thing is certain: She is much prettier.

They would have you believe that Connie Bennett and Jeanette MacDonald are the shrewdest business women in the movie colony. . . . I'll lay odds that Sonja Henie and Deanna Durbin coin more dough outside of pictures than Connie or Jeanette. . . . Walt Disney and Gene Autry also do very handsomely on side products. . . . Surprise of current movie polls, to this reviewer, is the failure of Jimmy Stewart to gain higher ranking. . . . Mickey Rooney and Bette Davis, in establishing themselves as the top national favorites, sort of proved that you don't have to be a glamor boy or glamor girl to click with the public. . . . It's a far cry from Mickey's first picture at M. G. M., in 1932, when he slid briefly down the banister calling "Emmy, Emmy" to the late Marie Dressler . . . a far cry, too, from those discouraging Hollywood days when Bette Davis was advised by Universal execs.: "Quit pictures. It's as difficult to get parts for you, because of your odd face, as it is to get rôles for Slim Summerville."

Why doesn't Virginia Bruce get some parts in important M. G. M. flickers? No flicker heroine is more gorgeous than the beautiful Bruce. . . . You can always spot the fakers in this industry, because they are the best talkers. . . . At a party, or in a story conference, the faker makes the most noise, tells the best gags. . . . Quiet little fellows of great talent, when they first come to Hollywood, are overpowered by the Niagara of noise, but in the long run the quiet fellows come out best.

EVE, a very worldly little nightie

There's nothing demure about Eve. She's a sophisticate from rippling hem (yards of it, by the way) right up to the tiny, bosom-molding Empire bodice with its rows of feathery fringe. She could drift into a ballroom, and you'd think it quite proper, or play the leading role in a Lynn Fontanne play. A glamour gown, if we ever saw one. Shimmering rayon satin in pink, white, star blue, yellow; 32 to 38 and washable.

The Girl in the Shadows

By Roy Vickers

(Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

INSTALMENT XV.

A POLICE CALL.

Marion turned on the light and, as she was a very methodical person, she wrote down all the little incidents.

She was inclined to be a little pompus in her thoughts and phrases, and, as she looked at one item after another on her list, she murmured: "A chain of evidence."

And that suggested another little platitude.

At which she tore the list into tiny fragments and got back into bed and turned off the light.

For there was a link in that chain so weak that it parted when you looked at it, so that you could not reasonably call the thing a chain at all.

Rory Clarke's female accomplice had been sentenced some weeks before Michael had married Cynthia. Cynthia was being married and was on her honeymoon while the accomplice was in Honebyker—some three months before she escaped. So that there was nothing for it but to abandon the whole deliciously horrible theory.

She got up even earlier than usual and was bustling about the kitchen before the servants came down.

At 8 o'clock she took it in to Cynthia and because of what she had been thinking in the night she placed a late rose on the tray.

"O, how sweet!" said Cynthia. "I feel such a spoiled pig." She stirred and stretched luxuriously. Fresh from sleep, her curls tumbled, her cheeks flushed, she looked as dewy as the rose that had outstayed summer to greet her.

Quite sincerely Marion encouraged her to rest. She reminded herself that Cynthia was to bear Michael's child. And, after all, now that the fantastic theory had been abandoned——

But the theory came to life again—partial life, at any rate, when the delivery van dropped the morning's newspapers at the gate.

Marion went to the gate to collect them. The name of Rory Clarke leaped at her from the headlines.

"Rory Clarke Arrested; Shoots Way to Freedom."

"Bystander and Two Detectives Wounded at Paddington."

As she walked up the garden path to the house she read a feverish account of how detectives had met the Taunton express on arrival at Paddington. She skipped the details of the chase and the final disappearance of Clarke into the tube.

Leaving Taunton 3:15, arriving at Paddington at 7. On impulse she turned to the telephone and rang the Lorna Doone Arms.

"O, Mr. Tottle, this is Miss Alloway speaking. Is Mr. Stainham still with you?"

"No, miss. He left for London on the 3:15 from Taunton yesterday. Must'a been that same train that there murderer was on."

"I've seen the headlines. They made me wonder if Mr. Stainham was all right. I see a bystander was wounded. O, well, we shall hear in due course, I expect."

She rang off. Same train. Same man? How could one find out? Then she remembered that Cynthia had asked for a paper. She slowly mounted the stairs to her room.

As she was bidden to enter she noticed with a pang of envy how pretty Cynthia looked. She had put on a little turquoise-blue jacket that lent its color to her eyes, shimmering under their long lashes.

"It's a very mild day," remarked Marion. "If you don't feel up to a walk it would be warm enough for you to sit in the garden with a few rugs after lunch."

"I'm not going to be any invalid any more if I can help it," returned Cynthia. Her eyes, Marion noticed, were glued on the newspaper.

"Michael's old schoolfellow is in the news again this morning," continued Marion. "Apparently he was in this part of the world yesterday, if we'd only known it."

"Really? Not committing any more murders, I hope?"

The indifference was either definitely overdone or it was—well, just indifference.

"It doesn't say where he got in but he was on the 3:15 from Taunton to Paddington. And the police, it seems, were waiting for him at Paddington."

"Did they get him?" asked Cynthia. Marion pretended to be absorbed in something out of the window. "Did they get him, Marion?" she repeated, an edge to her voice.

Marion turned round.

"O, no, he got away."

Cynthia's mouth, Marion was ready to swear, had twitched, and for a moment the eyes closed. If there was anything in human expression, Cynthia was disappointed that Rory Clarke had escaped.

"There's a long report—perhaps you'd like to read it," said Marion, and, putting the paper on the bed, left the room.

"I'm imagining things," she told herself as she returned to her duties of superintending the household. "I simply must keep tight hold of the fact that she can't be the escaped prisoner. So why should she care what happens to Clarke?"

By 11 she had almost forgotten the whole suspicion. To a sheltered girl such as Marion anything to do with the police and crime was fascinating, but remote from the actualities of everyday life. Marion was weighing a joint of beef—a task which cook could never be persuaded to perform—when Jessie brought her a visiting card.

"The gentleman's waiting in the hall, miss. He asked to see Mrs. Michael Alloway."

"Detective Sergeant Stevens, New Scotland Yard." As Marion read it the theory flamed up again. A man from Scotland Yard had actually come to Clouteigh Manor!

She would herself see the detective first, she decided.

"Mrs. Michael Alloway?" he asked.

And then Marion astonished herself. Before she realized what she was doing she had said:

"Yes. What can I do for you?"

"It's a trifling matter, Mrs. Alloway, to do with some irregularity on the telephone," lied Stevens. "Do you happen to remember whether you used the telephone call box at Clouteigh yesterday afternoon at, say, 3 or a little afterward?"

To gain time, Marion repeated the question. While she was doing so she remembered that Cynthia had been in the village at that time.

"Yes, now I come to think of it, it would have been about that time," she answered.

"Thank you very much," said Stevens. "Now do you mind telling me who it was you called, so that I can get it ticked off?"

"O, I just thought of something and decided to ring a friend in case I forgot when I got home."

"Yes, Mrs. Alloway, but——"

"There was no actual call. My friend was evidently out. I waited a bit and then gave it up."

No one was more surprised than Van Asmus Bunting's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Bunting, to learn that the young woman he introduced as his fiancée at Christmas time really was his bride. She is the former Miss Jane Whittemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Audenried Whittemore of Bronxville, N. Y.

The announcement of their engagement was romantic news on Christmas day. Yesterday, however, it was made known that Mr. Bunting and Miss Whittemore were married on Nov. 24 by the Rev. G. Irving Insley, rector of the Episcopal chapel in Northeast, Md. They are at home in New York, but will come to Lake Forest to start housekeeping on May 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Porter [Betty Wales] are being congratulated on the birth of a son, Robert Jr., yesterday at the Evanston hospital. The baby has a sister, Betsy, who is 2½ years old. Their grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Porter of Chicago. The young Porters live in Northfield, west of Winnetka, where so many young couples have built homes recently.

Wells College Alumnae Will Give Tea Today.

Wells college alumnæ who want to hear Nicolas Nabokoff, the music professor at the college, speak at the Arts club and also to attend a tea they are giving for Dr. Robert P. Tristram Coffin will be able to do so. Young Mr. Nabokoff's lecture is this morning at 11:30 o'clock and the tea, of course, is in the afternoon.

The lecture at the Arts club, on "The Influence of Bach on Contemporary Music," will be illustrated with music records. Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, president of the club, is giving a luncheon for the lecturer. Among others who will entertain at luncheon following the lecture are Mrs. John Senn and Miss Emily Larned.

Dr. Coffin, president of Bowdoin college in Brunswick, Me., will read part of his poem, "Strange Holiness," at the Wells alumnæ tea. It will be given, starting at 3 o'clock, at the home of Miss Alice Barler, 436 Arlington place. Pouring will be Mrs. George Dryden, Mrs. John Merrell, Mrs. Calvin Selfridge, and Mrs. Albert R. Martin Jr.

Dr. Coffin and Paul Engle, Iowa poet, will be the especial guests at a dinner at the Tavern tonight, given by the Society of Midland Authors. Martin D. Stevens, the president, is in California, so an ex-president, Kenneth Horan, will preside.

Opera Guild to Hold Business Meeting.

This afternoon at the Arts club members of the Illinois Opera guild will assemble at 3:30 o'clock for a business meeting. The president, Mrs. James G. McMillan, will give a report, after which tea will be served.

Le Cercle Français will sponsor a special benefit performance of "L'Aiglon" at 8:30 o'clock on Feb. 1 in the Goodman Studio theater. Mrs. Nelson Morris, as the duke of Reichstadt, will be assisted by Mrs. Herbert Samuels, Jean St. Anne, Louis Rousseau, and Georges Cauuet.

The second play in the regular International theater series will be "Ces Dames aux Chapeaux Verts" by Albert Acremant. It is to be given at 2:30 o'clock on Feb. 10 and 12. Rachel Descoubes, Suzanne Chor, Zelie Claverie, Louise Champion, Marie Therese Swanton, Louis Rousseau, and John Rust will be in the cast.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes and Mrs. Dawes will celebrate their 51st wedding anniversary today in the sunny south. They are in Hobe Sound, Fla., with Mr. and Mrs. Beman Dawes, Gen. Dawes' brother and sister-in-law. Gen and Mrs. Dawes will return to Evanston about Feb. 1.

Responsibility Should Be Part of Child's Life

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Some weeks ago I wrote an article about home, about the importance of making a child feel that the house he lived in was his as well as his parents'; that to him it should be "our" home, to be enjoyed freely. Here is a letter which, as a sequel to my article, makes valuable reading:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I read with interest your article on the wisdom of making a child feel that his parents' home is also his home. May I tell you a little of my own childhood, to illustrate a point not touched upon in your article?

"Ours was a large family [seven children], and tho my father was industrious and moderately successful, we never had any money to throw around. We could not afford household servants, so each of us children had regular duties to perform. I appreciate now the tact and cleverness with which mother managed to convey to us that work in the home was a privilege, not a burden.

"Our family life was an enterprise in which both rights and responsibilities were shared by all. When guests were expected, mother would say: 'We must all get up early tomorrow and get our work done, so our house will look nice when the Johnsons arrive.'

"As each new baby arrived, the older children had part in its care, and far from feeling abused at having to give up part of our playtime, we felt proud and important. No other babies could equal ours in sweetness, good looks and intelligence, for our babies were ours, not just our mother's.

"I now realize that we were 'underprivileged,' by modern standards; but as I look back on our happy, busy, useful family life, the kids I pity are modern youngsters, with so much of everything, and with nothing to do but play. I feel that we not only received a better preparation for adult life; we were actually happier children than they.

"I wish you would write an article on the benefits of work, and some small responsibility, in developing children's characters.

"Sincerely yours,
"D. B. B."

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Far too many of us have had the awful experience at the contract table of seeing our partner's king of trumps fall to our ace, or vice versa. These tragedies are so sensational that they hardly can go unnoticed, but they are no more costly than similar plays that occur time and again without even occasioning comment. Today's hand is typical. Neither of the defenders realized that what appeared to be a normal play was actually an unnecessary waste of honors.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 club	Pass
1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs	Double
2 diamonds	Double	2 hearts	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

South's opening bid was light, and the part-score situation, plus his own vulnerability, made the bid unwise. He should have known that he would not be able to buy the contract cheaply, and certainly, after his partner had passed, his holding was much too anemic to stand vigorous bidding from his partner. West deserved credit for his restraint in failing to bid over the club. Most players would be unable to resist the strength in both major suits and would either double for a take-out or bid a spade, both of which would be very bad. West's "trap pass" was the only proper call. He could feel certain that on the 60 score North would feel compelled to hold the bidding open. The double of two clubs was exactly what West had been waiting for. He was not nearly so pleased with East's two diamond double, nor with his own double of two hearts, but the situation itself, that is, the fact that it was an odds-on chance that the opponents were "on the run," induced his final double.

West's opening lead probably was unwise. He was in such a hurry to stop the impending cross-ruff that he laid down the queen of trumps, feeling sure that his spade tricks could not get away, since he himself held a singleton diamond and trump control. On the heart lead, East made what might be termed the normal play, but one that was certainly short-sighted: He went up with the ace and returned a heart. Declarer won, and could never be stopped from making eight tricks. He cashed two clubs and ruffed a club, then cashed the ace and king of diamonds. It would have been futile for West to have ruffed in on the second diamond trick, since it would have taken his last trump and would have left dummy with one trump and declarer with two that would make separately for the three fulfilling tricks. Nor could West defeat the contract by laying off the diamond, as he did. Declarer ruffed the third diamond, and West overruffed. Declarer still had to make his own and dummy's heart separately.

The crucial play [aside from the opening lead] on this hand had been East's heart ace on the first trick. East should have seen the virtual certainty that declarer would ruff clubs in the dummy. East could overruff a third club only if he held on to the ace. Thus, had the ace of trumps been preserved as a mere ruffer, the contract inevitably would have been defeated.

Good Grooming Is Basis of Any Woman's Beauty

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"You can be pretty, beautiful, lovely, and be careless about your appearance, but you can never be chic unless you are well groomed. That's why no lazy woman is ever chic."

Why can't a beautiful, lazy woman be chic? Why can't a pretty, lazy sister be chic? Well, there are women with everything about them to be beautiful in a physical way, that is, except in the physical sense of good grooming. We think of one who, in the early thirties, has much left of the physical graces that made her a toast in her 'teens and early twenties. Because adulation came easy, she became easy on herself and today she's heading for a dowdy, slovenly middle age.

One sees scores of women about whom one would say: "My, she must have been a pretty thing when she was younger!" She may still be trying to play the pretty rôle, but now miscast for it with her blowsy and probably bleached hair, her overpainted face, her spreading figure, and her sometimes mincing, silly manner. Now, chic, as her object, would have spared this impression. For chic, somehow to us and to a great many other people, is where one takes up when youth begins to fade.

Henry Risks Title in 15 Round Bout.

New York, Jan. 23 [Special].—Madison Square Garden will be the scene tomorrow night of its first boxing championship of the year. Henry Armstrong, Californian who holds the world welterweight title, is to defend his crown against Pedro Montanez, Puerto Rican challenger.

The championship contenders are scheduled to battle 15 rounds in a struggle that, according to Promoter Mike Jacobs, will attract a gate of at least $50,000.

Armstrong, in his first ring appearance here since the night last summer when he lost his world lightweight title to Lou Ambers, will be making his 15th defense of the championship he won in May, 1938, from Barney Ross of Chicago.

Second Try for Pedro.

Montanez will be making his second bid for a ring title. He lost to Lou Ambers when he undertook to lift the lightweight title from the latter prior to the battle in which Armstrong beat Ambers for the title and became the first man in all ring history to hold three titles at one time. Armstrong also held the world featherweight championship before he voluntarily gave it up because of inability to make the weight.

Armstrong will enter the ring tomorrow night a favorite to retain his crown at betting odds of about 1 to 3. It was reported that even money was being wagered he would knock out Montanez, altho there was little indication of substantial betting. Consensus appeared to be that Armstrong is primed for a fight that will see him leave the ring still champion.

Montanez Means It.

On the other hand, Montanez has prepared for this battle more seriously than for any other bout in his impressive career. It was in 1937 that Ambers repulsed Montanez's lightweight title bid. At the time it was said that making 135 pounds mitigated against Montanez's chances of victory. By the same token, however, it is claimed by the challenger's backers, tomorrow night's fight holds the big chance for the Puerto Rican, because Montanez will be fighting at a natural weight.

Observers at Armstrong's workouts have noted a change in his style. Instead of being springy and flighty in his attack—a characteristic of the 147 pound champion—Armstrong has been assuming a more flat-footed stance and has appeared to be punching more solidly than heretofore.

Belloise vs. Vines.

Four six round bouts and a four round preliminary are scheduled. The semi-final will bring together Steve Belloise and Vinnie Vines, welterweights, for six rounds. Carmine Fatta and Frankie Wallace, lightweights, are carded for six rounds.

Paradox.

Would I were far from the chaos
And tinseled illusion;
The cataclysmic hubbub of
A big town's confusion.
The shooting, looting, tooting hoot,
The screaming cacophony,
The glaring, raring, blaring lair
Of glittering baloney.

Give me the slumbering stillness
And infinite solitude;
The staid and sleepy silence
Of a quiet place to brood.
And now I've found wherefor I seek,
No longer need I hunt;
Where in the world is there more peace

548 TO COMPETE IN CLEVELAND'S GOLDEN GLOVES

Start Program with 200 Bouts Tomorrow.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Cleveland will open its Golden Gloves campaign tomorrow night with 200 amateur bouts. The tournament, which has been sponsored for 12 years by the Cleveland Plain Dealer, will continue Friday evening in Cleveland's Public hall, advance to the semi-finals Monday, and be concluded Feb. 2 with the championships.

Cleveland's eight champions, frequently winner of the team trophy in previous years, then will enter the Tournament of Champions in the Chicago Stadium Feb. 26, 27, and 28. Cleveland will be one of 45 cities in 13 states which will enter amateur boxing teams in the Tournament of Champions. These invaders will compete with Chicago's eight champions who will be determined in the Chicago open division tournament in the Coliseum Feb. 20, 21, and 22.

Chicago Qualifies Only Eight.

For the first time Chicago will be limited this year to eight contestants in the Tournament of Champions. These eight boys, winners in the Chicago finals Feb. 22, will be uniformed by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. for the Tournament of Champions. Each of these Chicago boys will receive a golden glove as symbolic of his title.

Cleveland has long been a contributor to the success of United States amateur boxing teams and its record will rival that of any city. Perhaps Cleveland's greatest tournament in the list sponsored by the Plain Dealer was the 1936 National A. A. U. meet. But when any amateur team is named, national, Golden Gloves, or international Golden Gloves, at least one, and frequently more, Cleveland boxer is on that team.

A City of Champions.

In the past Cleveland has produced such great fighters as Don Gonzales, 1931 Golden Gloves featherweight champion; Jesse Levels [1934] and Jackie Wilson [1936], flyweights; Troy Bellini, 1934 bantamweight champion; Frank Bojack [1934] and Mike Gamiere [1935], lightweights, Danny Farrar, 1934 welterweight; Joe Bauer, who succeeded Joe Louis as light heavyweight champion in 1935, and Dan Merritt, 1938 heavyweight champion. Jimmy Reeves, one of Cleveland's greatest, won the light heavyweight Golden Gloves title last year.

Cleveland has accepted 548 entries for this year's tournament and three rings will be required for the first two nights of the meet. Two champions return from last year, Tony Algeri, 118 pounds, and Max Schindler, 126 pounds, from Lorain, O. Six of the 1939 Novice champions are entered in the Open division in Cleveland. Allen Aubrey, heavyweight, is regarded most highly of this group. Lorain and Akron, O., held qualifying tournaments and are sending their winners to the Cleveland tournament. Bob James, who reached the 1939 finals in the 118 pound class in Cleveland's tournament, is the outstanding boxer from Akron.

Hold Novice Tourney, Too.

Like practically all of the cities conducting Golden Gloves in the south and midwest, Cleveland has a Novice tournament. These boxers, however, do not compete in Chicago's Tournament of Champions. The novice meets, as in Chicago, serve to equalize competition and give inexperienced youngsters opportunity to learn by competition.

Chicago's inexperienced boxers will compete in three sectional tournaments, the first starting at the Madison A. C., 4711 Madison street, Feb. 5; then at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, Feb. 6, and in Loyola university gymnasium, Loyola avenue and Sheridan road, Feb. 12.

The first examination for all Golden Gloves contestants will be held Friday, between 6 and 8 p. m., in Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street. All boxers must pass a physical examination and present a consent card signed by parent or guardian before permission to compete is granted.

Mr. Hostak Fits Nicely Into This Ring Scene

Their Fists Have Helped Punch Out the Beat to Which Cavalcade of Boxing Moves

[Chicagoland's greatest all-time fighters? This is the first of a series that will attempt to answer the question, tracing the top-notchers of the gay '90s down to the present time and recalling some of the famous battles in the city's ring history.]

BY EDWARD PRELL.

When Joe Louis knocked out James J. Braddock the night of June 22, 1937, he became the tenth product of Chicago and its immediate sphere to ascend to a world boxing championship.

Chicago's first ring champion was little Jimmy Barry, who knocked out Casper Leon on Sept. 25, 1894, in Lemont, Ill., the end coming in the 28th round. They were fighting for the bantamweight title surrendered by George Dixon when he graduated to the featherweight division.

Between these dates thousands of Chicago fighting men have sent millions of punches on their way, from the precise, darting thrusts of Packey McFarland to the wild, swishing haymakers propelled by that quaint character, King Levinsky. Eight other Chicagoans have earned the right to be called champion. One of them, Barney Ross, was a double title holder.

Fought Their Way to Top in Stern Pugilistic Mill.

All are alive today. The oldest, of course, is Barry, now 70 years old. All fought their way to the top in the stern pugilistic mill. High honors came to them in the dingy boxing halls of 40 years ago, in spacious outdoor arenas, and in the modern temple of boxing, the Chicago Stadium.

But there were others who contributed to Chicago's boxing saga—from the happy-go-lucky days of Tattersall's to the present period of strictly supervised boxing.

Only in the flyweight, featherweight, and middleweight classes have Chicago's fighting men been shut out. But the town and its environs have produced some lusty 160 pounders, with raw courage, terrific punching power, and an almost joyous love of absorbing punishment. Remember George [Knockout] Brown, Shuffle Callahan, Ted Ross and Kid Leonard? If not, your memory will be refreshed later.

The Game Itself Has Had Its Ups and Downs.

Jimmy Barry, by modern weight standards, was only a flyweight as his fighting poundage was 112 pounds. There was no flyweight division until 1910 and boxers in those early days weren't mindful of a few pounds, give or take.

Boxing, like the men who battled in the ring, has taken its share of punishment over this span. In its first flush of prosperity, back in 1900, the Joe Gans-Terry McGovern fake fight dealt it a body blow. Thirteen years later, after the sport had gradually gained another foothold, it was stamped out by a municipal decree that prevented Packey McFarland and Joe Burman appearing before 10,000 fans in the Coliseum. They were scheduled to appear in two of the bouts.

After being resumed in 1915, a riot in the wake of the Benny Leonard-Pinkie Mitchell fight in Dexter pavilion in 1923 again sent boxing down for the knockout count. Then came 1926, and the present law legalizing boxing, gained mainly thru the efforts of Promoter Jim Mullen and Leonard Hicks.

McFarland Never Held a Title, but He Was a Champion.

During these periods when boxing was banned, there were many fly-by-night clubs that functioned on a catch-as-catch-can basis. One of these was the Portable A. C., operated by Sammy Wolff, and called thusly because he didn't know until the last minute where the gladiators would perform.

The list of Chicago champions, imposing as it is, does not include the name of the man who, in a poll of boxing students, doubtless would be voted the greatest. Those who have followed the game's ups and downs since before the turn of the century agree almost to a man that the late

Hold Finals of I. A. C. Ring Meet Tonight

Finals of the eighth annual amateur boxing tournament sponsored by the Illinois Athletic club will be held tonight in the I. A. C. gymnasium, 112 South Michigan avenue. New champions will be crowned in every weight class with the possible exception of the flyweight division.

Harold Dade, 1939 novice Golden Gloves flyweight champion, will attempt to dethrone Al Noto as the 112 pound title holder. Noto is the only defending champion, altho two other 1939 I. A. C. title holders have qualified for this evening's championship round. They are Frank Bausone, last year's bantamweight title holder, and Hiner Thomas, 1939 middleweight winner. Both boys are competing in heavier divisions, Thomas in the light heavyweight class, and Bausone in the featherweight ranks.

Thomas Meets Williams.

Thomas, who also won the 1937 I. A. C. 160 pound belt, will meet Hezzy Williams of the Savoy Athletic club, and Bausone, 1938 Catholic Youth organization bantamweight champion, will oppose John Ballengee. The latter is 1939 C. Y. O. 126 pound title holder.

Murray Armstrong tied the game for the Americans briefly in the second period and Harvey Jackson cut into the Ranger lead again in the third period. Lineups:

Three Tied for North Section Catholic Lead

The north section senior race in the Catholic High School Basketball league remained in a three way tie last night as St. Philip, St. George, and St. Mel won their games. It was the third victory in four games for each.

St. George had a close call, beating Fenwick, 31 to 29. St. Mel triumphed over Loyola, 29 to 23, on the latter's court, and St. Philip won, 38 to 25, over St. Patrick.

Leo remained undefeated in the south section race, turning back De Paul, 36 to 26, on the latter's floor. The loss sent De Paul to third place, and St. Rita took second by rallying in the fourth quarter to win from Weber, 42 to 38.

St. George also remained in the running for the north section junior title by whipping Fenwick, 36 to 21.

DePauw Swimmers Meet George Williams Today

Waterfowl Men to Hear Annual Report Friday

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicagoland duck hunters will move into the loop several hundred strong Friday to discuss the waterfowl situation in the United States and Canada. The occasion for this big gathering of wildfowlers is the annual January "report meeting" of Ducks Unlimited, the national organization of duck hunters which is working in Canada to restore the breeding grounds of both ducks and geese.

Tom Main, engineer and Canadian manager of Ducks Unlimited, who has supervised the big water control and marsh projects in the north country where most of our waterfowl breed, will be the principal speaker at this Friday meeting to be held at noon in the Union League club, 65 West Jackson.

L. H. Barkhausen, national president of Ducks Unlimited, said yesterday that all duck shooters are invited to hear Mr. Main describe waterfowl conditions in the great prairie nesting grounds of Canada, and his report on the prospects for increasing the numbers of our ducks and geese. Hunters from many downstate cities are expected at this luncheon meeting, for Illinois now has several thousand members of Ducks Unlimited, all of whom are contributing to the support of the duck-growing projects in Canada.

Now entering its third year of activity and with a record of 34 restoration projects, Ducks Unlimited today has set up 680,000 acres of Canadian marshes and sloughs in which the waterfowl now find food and protected nesting spots. Last season the rehabilitated breeding grounds which Ducks Unlimited worked on produced more than 4,000,000 birds.

Judge Decides Against Net Star in Divorce

Salem, Mass., Jan. 23 (AP).—Judge John A. Costello informed Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, Brookline tennis star, today she had not proved cruel and abusive treatment in her suit for divorce from Marshall Fabyan of Manchester. He added, however, he would take the case under advisement if she wanted to file briefs.

IT'S OFFICIAL—HOSTAK AND ZALE ARE IN CONDITION

State Commission Sees Boxers Work Out.

The Illinois boxing commission yesterday put its stamp of approval on the condition of Al Hostak, middleweight champion, and Tony Zale, who meet in a 10 round nontitle bout in Chicago Stadium Monday.

The commission, represented by Chairman Joe Triner, Commissioner James R. Fitzpatrick, and Inspectors Harold Ryan and Sam Gorenstein, watched Zale spar four rounds against two partners and then remained to see the champion also box four rounds against two mates.

Zale in Good Shape.

Before Zale appeared Dr. Frank A. Lagorio, chief medical examiner for the commission, examined the Gary challenger and found him in good physical condition. The examination was necessary because of Zale's recent illness which forced postponement of the match, originally scheduled for last Friday.

"Zale's lungs and heart are back to normal," Dr. Lagorio said.

Winner to Meet Garcia?

Phil Collins and Tommy Thomas, two of Chicago's best known referees, and Battling Nelson, the old lightweight champion, and Henry Lenard, former featherweight challenger, also watched the fighters drill in Trafton's gymnasium.

During the training maneuvers Matchmaker Eddie Long received a telegram from George Parnassus, manager of Ceferino Garcia, which said Garcia is ready to meet the winner of Monday's encounter. However, few took the wire seriously. Garcia is recognized as middleweight champion by the New York commission.

The card:

Wladyslaw Talun, giant Polish wrestler, will meet Felix Slowikowich in the windup bout of a mat card tonight in Ranbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue.

BRUINS QUINTET MEETS HAMMOND AND NEU TONIGHT

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Bruins tonight enter the second half of their National Basketball league schedule by meeting the Hammond Ciesars at the 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets. The Bruins, making their debut in the league this season, finished the first 14 games of the 28 game schedule with a .500 record, based on seven victories and seven defeats, leaving them in third place in the western division.

Tonight's meeting is the second between the Bruins and the Ciesars, the latter having taken a one point decision recently in Hammond. They will play after a preliminary game between two local junior colleges, Wilson and Herzl.

Neu Wins First Round.

The Loyola-De Paul feud angle will be brought to light again this evening. Bob Neu, who was kept out of Hammond's early season games by an injury, will be in the visitors' starting lineup. Bob is an old Blue Demon, holding all of his alma mater's scoring records. In all of his service with De Paul, however, Neu never had the pleasure of playing on a winning team against Loyola.

Two of the reasons for Loyola's supremacy in that span are now Bruins. They are Mike Novak and Wibs Kautz. The latter and Neu always were engaged in an individual scoring race. In the recent Hammond-Chicago game, it was Neu's day, however, for he scored 10 points in Hammond's 34 to 33 triumph, while Kautz was held to a total of nary.

Wilson Stirs 'Em Up.

The Bruins, however, have undergone a considerable change since that defeat. Kautz has come out of a scoring slump; the Bruins have gone over the 40 point mark in two of their last three games, and the team as a whole has shown itself a more aggressive outfit.

One reason for this added punch was the signing of George Wilson, Chicago Bear end. Wilson hasn't played basketball since his prep days, but his play appeared to have aroused the team. Still another acquisition is Tommy [Red] Hayes, former St. Mel and St. Viator star, who has joined Wilson in the sparkplug work.

Lineups for tonight's games:

WILSON.		HERZL.
Brandelle	F	Barsketis
Duncker	F	Meyerowitz
Sherman	C	Karris
Rifas	G	French
Blackburn	G	Levinsky
BRUINS.		HAMMOND.

Yes, They've Met Before

Moriarity Opens Defense of City Cue Title Tonight

Joe Moriarity opens defense of his city 3-cushion billiards title tonight against Rudy Helberg at Bensinger's 131 South Wabash Avenue Recreation. The challenge match at 150 points will be played in three blocks of 50 points each. Tomorrow night's block will be contested at the Hamilton Billiard club, 18 South Dearborn street and the final block back at Bensinger's on Friday night.

Jimmy Wilson Votes for Reds to Win Again

Bradenton, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP).—He may be a little partisan, but Coach Jimmy Wilson of the Cincinnati Reds disagrees with Bill Terry, Giants' manager, and other baseball experts who pick the St. Louis Cardinals to win the 1940 National league pennant.

"As long as you are the champion, they've got to beat you," was Jimmy's comment today.

Acknowledging the utmost respect for the opinions of Managers Terry of the New York Giants, Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs, and James [Doc] Prothro of the Phillies, who have agreed the Cardinals will win, Wilson said he didn't think St. Louis could beat out Cincinnati.

Loyola Declares Rottner Eligible for Varsity Five

A silver lining emerged through the dark clouds on the Loyola university campus today with the announcement that Mickey Rottner, reputedly a very capable player, will be eligible for the Ramblers' basketball game Monday night against Butler university at the Coliseum.

Rottner becomes eligible for varsity competition as the result of completing a calendar freshman year on the North Shore campus.

Mickey is a Chicago boy, having prepped at Tuley High school. Before entering Loyola he played with several independent teams, particularly the Chicago Hebrews, which experience served to make him a finished player.

McCoy Says He'll Join Sox for $40,000

Benny McCoy, rookie second baseman, recently made a free agent by Commissioner K. M. Landis in a farflung cracking down on the Detroit Tigers, demonstrated yesterday that he has at least one of the requisites of a star player—confidence in his own worth. He wired Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Sox, that he would just love to play for the White Sox for a $40,000 bonus and a three year contract calling for $10,000 per year.

Dykes at press time was reported still blinking over McCoy's modest appraisal of himself, but had not given up hope of signing the player after Benny gets over his attack of ego and exaggerted business acumen.

Benny, who hit .302 for the Tigers in 55 games last year, can't be blamed much for his dizzy calculations. He has 10 clubs bidding for him and in a brisk market is entitled to make the magnates pay thru the nostrils. It is reported that the Pittsburgh Pirates have listed a bid of $35,000 for Benny's signature.

HAWKS PREPARE NEW ROOKIES TO OPPOSE BOSTON

Learn Karakas Refuses to Stay in Minors.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Life was all this and that for the Blackhawks yesterday, what with breaking in two rookies, contemplating a possible 14th straight licking at the hands of the Boston Bruins tomorrow night in the Stadium and wondering if Mike Karakas is coming in to the Chicago office to quarrel with the management.

Added to this group of circumstances was the necessity of bringing the whole team up to something that will resemble a big league hockey team after last Sunday night's collapse against the Americans.

Before the list of Hawk emergencies becomes too long, it is perhaps well to amplify the foregoing items. The two rookies broken in yesterday are Johnny Chad and Bobby Carse, who trained with the Hawks last fall and who have been playing with the Providence Reds since the start of the season. They flew into town yesterday and soon were at practice in the Stadium. The newcomers are very tender as far as pro hockey experience is concerned, but are alleged to have been whizzes in the icicle leagues around western Canada. They replace Joffre Desilets and Ab Demarco, released to Providence Monday.

Remember Christmas Night?

And now about the possible 14th licking at the hands of the Bruins. The Bruins started bruising the Hawks as a constant habit in the last game of the 1937-'38 season and have been at it ever since. This year the Bruins have conquered in Chicago, 2 to 0 and 4 to 2, and in Boston beat the Hawks, 3 to 1 and 6 to 3.

That 6 to 3 game in Boston, on Christmas night, brings us gracefully gliding up to the aforementioned Mike Karakas. Yesterday dispatches out of Providence said that Karakas, for four years the Hawks' regular goalie, who was released to Providence after the Christmas game in Boston, had been returned to the Hawks on orders of General Manager Lou Pieri of the Providence club. The dispatches contained the statement that Mike had refused to play minor league hockey for a minor league salary.

Karakas May Be Retired.

Officials of the Hawks, when asked to comment on the Providence action, said that so far as the Hawks know, Karakas to all intents and purposes has retired from organized hockey. There is no place for him on the Hawks, it was explained, and if Mike is not willing to play where he is sent retirement is the only alternative under disciplinary rules of organized hockey.

It was made known yesterday that Goalie Paul Goodman will be able to appear in the nets against the Bruins tomorrow night. Goodman last Sunday night stopped a puck with his right eye and collected seven stitches.

15 MORGAN PARK HIGH CADETS WIN R. O. T. C. MEDALS

Tribune Honors 6 Students for Achievements.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

Fifteen erect, neatly brushed young men in khaki strode across the platform of Morgan Park High school yesterday morning to receive their rewards, for outstanding work in R. O. T. C. training. It was the moment of tribute for which each cadet had striven daily for an entire semester.

The ceremony was brief. Eleven hundred fellow students filled the auditorium, a hushed and admiring audience. They stood together, cadets and their classmates, to salute the flag and sing the national anthem. There was a speech or two. An assistant principal led them in a yell and exuberantly turned a cartwheel as its finale. Everybody laughed.

Cadet Captain Presides.

"Each semester," he began with poised assurance, "the war department, the American Legion auxiliary, the Reserve Officers' association, the United Spanish American War Veterans, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE honor the R. O. T. C. by their interest in its work. Each year the finest cadets are singled out for rewards for distinguished records. Our first medals today will be presented by Maj. Robert L. Renth of the war department."

"Capt. Wayne Meagher," he called, and Meagher, tall and alert, marched across the stage, saluted crisply, clasped the hand of Maj. Renth, saluted again, and strode away, holding a medal for officers' efficiency. The others followed: Sergeants John Ulreich, Warren Ewert, William Custer, and Donald Nieman, all struggling noticeably with pride and self-consciousness.

Tribune Gives Six Medals.

THE TRIBUNE was the chief donor of medals. Six medals were presented by Philip Maxwell for THE TRIBUNE. They were awarded to Lieut. Alexander Ulreich, Sergt. Arthur Mihalovits, Lieut. Kenneth Johnson, Sergt. Robert Martin, Corporal Malcolm Little, and Corporal Donald Greene.

"THE TRIBUNE," Maxwell said as he congratulated each boy, "is proud to have this opportunity to honor you. We are interested in developing leadership, courage, and good citizenship. We feel that you have well earned this token of our respect."

Other medals were received by Capt. Donald McMillan, Lieut. Albert Roebuck, Capt. Ruskamp, and Lieut. Col. Blake Hooper, commanding cadet officer of the Morgan Park unit Hooper, a senior, wore eight medals on his chest.

INVENTORY BARES $2,000,000 ESTATE BY AN 'UNKNOWN'

A fortune of more than two million dollars, the estate of a virtually unknown capitalist who lived in seclusion, was brought to light yesterday when the state inheritance tax appraiser filed an inventory in the County court. The inventory covered the property of George Firmenich, who died last March 4 at the age of 83.

Firmenich, a bachelor who retired 40 years ago after making a fortune in the grain and cereal business with his father, Joseph, lived with his servants in a two family house which he owned at 3149 South Michigan avenue.

According to J. E. Beach, attorney representing his estate, Firmenich was in poor health and seldom left his house except for visits to Mackinac Island in the summer and trips south in cold months.

In addition to minor bequests to distant relatives, and a gift of $5,000 to the Chicago Boys' club, Firmenich left the bulk of his $2,170,118 estate to his only sister, Mrs. Emma F. Hull of Los Angeles. Mrs. Hull is in her late 70s, and, upon her death, his will provides that the estate is to go to the Chicago Community trust, a charitable trust agency, 10 South La Salle street.

Until his death Firmenich was unknown to the Chicago Community trust. Frank D. Loomis, secretary, said yesterday that his will has not designated what charity his money shall aid. It will be administered, he said, as are all undesignated bequests, at the discretion of the trust board to any one of dozens of approved charitable institutions.

Veteran Cattle Buyer Dies After Kick by Cow

James Clark, 59 years old, 5115 South Morgan street, a veteran cattle buyer, died in the Evangelical hospital yesterday of complications that developed after he was kicked by a cow in the stockyards on Dec. 12. The kick broke Clark's left leg. Clark had been connected with Roland C. Foster, commission broker at 1015 West Exchange avenue, for 25 years.

DEBATE EFFECT OF PRICE CUTS ON STEEL TRADE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23 [Special].—Two economists disagreed today on the question of whether a reduction in prices would increase steel producers' sales and thus enable them to hold up employment during depression years.

At a hearing before the federal monopoly committee Theodore O. Yntema of the University of Chicago asserted that full production and employment cannot be maintained in the steel industry thru price reductions.

Yntema testified for the United States Steel corporation, for which he made special studies in connection with the monopoly committee's steel investigation.

"The demand for steel is inelastic," he asserted. "A price reduction will bring only a small increase in consumption."

Yntema's assertions were disputed by Melvin G. de Chazeau of the University of Virginia, economist for the monopoly committee. De Chazeau conceded that steel demand was inelastic on the basis of price alone, but said this was of "little significance."

AUSTRALIA AUTO PLANT WILL BUY AMERICAN TOOLS

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 23 (AP).—William J. Smith, managing director of Australian Consolidated Industries, is en route to the United States to purchase tools and employ supervising experts to establish a government backed £1,500,000 [nearly $6,000,000] automobile plant in Australia. Erection of the factory is part of a government plan to curb the flow of dollars to the United States.

The government will provide a bonus on 60,000 motors of 15 or more horsepower to an Australian owned and controled company. The bonus amounts to £30 [$120] for each of the first 20,000 motors, £25 [$100] for the second 20,000 motors and £20 [$80] for the third 20,000. The plan calls for the government to grant a five year monopoly to the Australian Consolidated Industries.

Illinois Sets New Record in Oil Output

Production of crude oil in Illinois soared to an all time high record of 366,931 barrels a day in the week ended Jan. 20, the Oil and Gas Journal said yesterday. The former record, 344,267 barrels daily, was established in the week ended Sept. 30. The new record exceeds the old by 22,664 barrels a day.

Individual records were set last week by two Illinois fields, the Lake Centralia-Salem pool and the Louden pool, the trade journal announced.

Deep Drilling Increases Flow.

The increase in the lake area, the publication said, was largely a result of recent deep drilling to the Devonian formation. The number of wells drilled to the Devonian sand so far was reported at 17, with all having large flows in initial tests.

The week's production in the lake pool averaged 211,988 barrels a day, compared with 196,123 in the preceding week, and the Louden area yielded an average of 75,611 barrels, against 66,989.

More Wells Drilled in Nation.

The journal's figures showed that 475 wells were drilled in the nation in the week ended Jan. 20, of which 320 were oil producers, 36 were gas wells, and 119 were dry holes.

The American Petroleum institute reported that the daily average crude oil output in the nation last week was 3,637,450 barrels, compared with 3,592,200 barrels in the preceding week and 3,264,450 in the corresponding 1939 period.

Refining activity was at the rate of 81.9 per cent of capacity, the institute said, compared with 82.2 per cent in the preceding week.

CANADIAN ORDER FORBIDS RUSSIAN WHEAT EXPORTS

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 23 (AP).—The Canadian government tonight forbade the export of wheat and other material to countries adjacent to Germany except by license, thus blocking delivery of about 1,250,000 bushels bought by soviet Russia.

Two orders in council were passed, one empowering the government to prevent export of any article to neutral countries "contiguous to territories under enemy occupation or control," and the other listing commodities which may be exported only under permit by the ministry of national revenue.

The office of Prime Minister MacKenzie King issued a statement saying it now would be possible to prevent shipment of wheat to Russia or any country adjacent to Germany or German controled territory, "including wheat sold recently on the Winnipeg Grain exchange and intended for shipment to soviet Russia."

King's government has been criticized for permitting this sale. None of the wheat has been loaded for shipment yet. The second order extends the powers taken in July, 1937, to license export of direct implements of war. Steel ingots, scrap, and a number of other products are now added to the list of commodities which may be exported only under license.

SEC MAY APPLY DEATH SENTENCE TO NINE UTILITIES

New York, Jan. 23 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission is preparing to issue "show cause" orders against nine of the nation's major public utility holding corporations for alleged failure to comply with section 11 of the federal holding company act, it was reported today.

Whereas, a few weeks ago the SEC had planned to issue orders separately against each holding system, it was said, the opinion now is that more effective results can be obtained by issuing the orders collectively. One model draft of the reported "death sentence" action—in the case of the Middle West corporation—already has been completed, it was reported.

The nine major systems upon which the commission is reported to be applying the "death sentence" are Electric Bond and Share company, North American company, Commonwealth and Southern corporation, Standard Power and Light company, United Gas Improvement company, Middle West corporation, United Light and Power company, Cities Service company, and Engineers' Public Service company.

Canners Flail Acts Aimed to Shackle Trade

The National Canners' association yesterday adopted a resolution urging opposition to any legislation which "may have the effect of curtailing freedom of business opportunity for any American business."

The resolution, adopted by the convention at the Stevens hotel, reiterated the position taken a year ago by the association, which represents half of the nation's canning companies and 70 per cent of that industry's output.

The association condemned punitive legislation such as chain store tax bills, and warned of the "threat to democracy embodied in administrative or legislative action which interferes with any business honestly conducted at a fair margin of profit."

Opposes Punitive Legislation.

It urged the 850 member companies of the group to express their opposition to punitive legislation to their congressmen.

Addressing the second day's meeting of the canners' convention, James W. Young, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, said the bureau is establishing a new service which will provide industry with accurate information on inventories, sales, new orders, and unfilled orders of companies in all lines of business.

He asserted that one of the chief needs of business today is for knowledge of the complete situation of each industry. Lack of such knowledge, he asserted, has been one of the primary causes of sudden business booms and collapses in the past.

Urges Accurate Records.

A similar note was struck by Carlos Campbell, director of the National Canners' association's division of statistics. He said the importance of complete and accurate records "cannot be stressed too much."

"Information on the rate of movement from wholesaler to retailer to consumer would be an invaluable aid to the canner in selling his product and planning his production program," Campbell said.

Exhibits Given More Space.

The canning machinery exhibit has overflowed all of the space originally scheduled for it in the ground floor exhibition room and lounges, officials of the group reported. Two elevators lobbies are now filled with exhibits, and there is even an exhibit in the kitchen of the grand ballroom.

"Business is good, and canners are placing orders," commented S. G. Gorsline, of Battle Creek, Mich. He was elected secretary of the Canning Machinery & Supplies group for the 11th consecutive time.

Paul W. Paver of Paul Paver & Associates, Inc., Chicago, was elected second vice president of the National Food Brokers association, which is meeting at the Palmer House. Harry L. Wagner of St. Louis, Mo., was elected president.

Francis A. Bonner Elected Head of Security Dealers

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23 [Special].—The National Association of Securities Dealers today elected Francis A. Bonner of Chicago chairman of the board of governors at the close of the group's two day session. He succeeds B. Howell Griswold of Baltimore, who resigned. The association elected Nevil Ford of New York, and George D. Davis of San Francisco as vice chairmen; George S. Stevenson of Hartford, Conn., as treasurer, and Wallace H. Fulton of Washington, as executive director.

A. T. & T. Adds 20 Pct. to Construction Budget

New York, Jan. 23 (AP).—Plans for $85,000,000 of construction in the first three months of this year were made public today by the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

The rate of outlay, 20 per cent larger than the $69,879,000 for the corresponding 1939 quarter and 10 per cent more than the $77,622,000 for the 1938 period, would, if continued, exceed any year's total since 1931, when $391,000,000 was spent in construction.

Gorrell, president of the Air Transport association. The mileage for the full year 1939 was 42.28 per cent larger than the total for 1938, he announced. The year's total established a record.

Edgar S. Gorrell.

The December revenue passenger mileage was 65,024,044, against 37,342,924 in the 1938 month. The gain last month as compared with November was 7.28 per cent. Revenue passenger mileage for 1939 totaled 677,325,511, compared with 476,039,896 in 1938.

SENATE PLANS QUIZ ON MONEY, BANK POLICIES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23 (AP).—Chariman Wagner [D., N. Y.] announced today that the senate banking committee would start a broad study of the nation's monetary and banking policies by asking federal agencies and nongovernmental authorities to submit reports and recommendations. Hearings will be held as expeditiously as possible, Wagner said.

Wagner said the study, for which the senate provided $25,000 in August, 1939, would embrace gold devaluation, silver purchases, the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, asserted duplication of federal bank examinations, and numerous kindred subjects. He said there had been no decision as to the order of hearings on these various subjects, the dates of hearings, or appointment of a staff to direct the inquiry.

The senator said the committee would seek first reports from the treasury department, federal reserve system, and the Securities and Exchange commission. Other agencies which will be asked to make recommendations include the Brookings Institute, the Twentieth Century fund, and the American Bankers' association.

KEESHIN CONCERN COMPLETES NEW FINANCING PLAN

Details of new financing for the Keeshin Freight Lines, Inc., involving the issuance of $2,850,000 of notes to retire outstanding debentures and to provide working capital were completed yesterday. J. L. Keeshin of Chicago, head of the company, said by telephone from New York that the money has been raised. The company is affiliated with Keeshin Transcontinental Freight Lines, Inc., and other Keeshin truck operations directed from Chicago.

Keeshin said a substantial part of the new funds will be used to rehabilitate trucks thruout the system. About $500,000 will be spent on the first truck installations.

The company last week applied to the Interstate Commerce commission for authority to issue the notes.

Big Rock Island Railway Issue Sold Privately

Sale of $20,400,000 of 2½ per cent trustees certificates of indebtedness of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway was concluded yesterday with an investment banking group headed by Solomon Brothers & Hutzler and including Dick & Merle-Smith and Stroud & Co. The certificates were placed immediately with private investors.

Details of the sale were worked out by the trustees of the road—James E. Gorman, Frank O. Lowden, and Joseph B. Fleming. The price paid for the securities was 100.815, which gave a premium of $166,320. Proceeds from the sale of the certificates are being used to retire an equal amount of certificates of indebtedness—given in exchange for seven issues of equipment trust certificates—bearing interest at 3½ per cent.

Effects Interest Saving.

Taking into account the premium paid and the reduction in the interest rate by 1 per cent, the trustees estimate that the savings to the railroad will be about $1,050,000. The interest cost to the road figures at an average rate of 2.29 per cent.

The Rock Island issue is one of the largest railroad certificate issues placed in years. The First National Bank of Chicago is trustee of the certificates under the indenture.

Utility Issue Sold Privately.

A block of $15,000,000 of 20 year 3¼ per cent debentures, due Jan. 1, 1960, was sold privately by the Consolidated Telegraph and Electric Subway company, wholly owned subsidiary of the Consolidated Edison Company of New York, at a price to yield 3.10 per cent. Six insurance companies and the parent company bought the bonds. Proceeds are being used for debt retirement.

Oversubscribed more than five times, the 225,000 shares of common stock of the Lockheed Aircraft corporation, formally offered yesterday at $28.50 a share, was marketed in less than an hour. Blyth & Co. and G. M.-P. Murphy & Co. announced books were closed before 10 a. m. on the issue.

HEAR WALLACE'S CHARGES AGAINST CARGILL JAN. 29

Hearings on Secretary Wallace's charges of price manipulation against Cargill, Inc., Minneapolis grain concern, will be resumed at the Hotel Sherman, Jan. 29, with Jack W. Bain as referee.

The hearings began in Minneapolis last Sept. 6 and were scheduled for Jan. 8 in Chicago but were postponed due to the filing of an intermediate report by Examiner S. Abbot Maginnis in the earlier case of Cargill against the Chicago Board of Trade.

Both cases concern the September, 1937, corn "squeeze." Maginnis' report upheld the Board of Trade's defense against Cargill's charges on virtually every point, and recommended that the Commodity Exchange administration allow the exchange's plea for dismissal.

INSURANCE FIRM ADMITS THREAT BY SEC AGENT

Sales Data Sought, Concern Charges.

New York, Jan. 23 (AP).—The Metropolitan Life Insurance company declared tonight that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents had "sought to extract information regarding sales and other agency activities" from its agents in Philadelphia, Pa., and Newark, N. J., last fall.

This line of inquiry, the company said in a statement, was in addition to FBI interrogation of agents in connection with testimony given by 13 Metropolitan agents before the federal monopoly committee a year ago to the effect that they had forged signatures of policy holders on ballots in an election of company directors.

[It was disclosed in Chicago two weeks ago that agents of the Securities and Exchange commission had demanded access to private files of the American Life convention, national insurance trade association with headquarters in Chicago. Charles Burton Robbins, manager and general counsel of the association, quoted an SEC agent as stating the information would be presented to the congressional committee investigating monopolies.]

Tells of Threats by Agent.

The Metropolitan company's statement said that an agent of the Securities and Exchange commission had demanded permission to examine agency files. The agent said other governmental agencies would be called into action if the request were denied.

The statement was issued after the justice department announced in Washington that it was investigating the possibility that civil rights might have been violated in the discharge of the insurance agents following their appearance before the committee.

The company asserted that after the hearing had been concluded "the 13 agents, who had confessed their own guilt in forwarding ballots not properly signed by the policyholders purporting to have signed them, were for that reason discharged from the service of the company."

"Distorted Emphasis" to Issue.

It added that the committee vice chairman declared in a statement that the issue had been given a "distorted emphasis and significance" and that he recognized 100 or more other agents were ready to testify that they had no knowledge of such practices.

"It was then understood," the statement added, "that this phase of the investigation was closed."

An investigator of the Securities and Exchange commission, the company continued, subsequently "demanded an opportunity to be permitted to examine the agency files."

"When the company gave its assurance there was nothing of the character in question in the files and it therefore saw no reason for the further examination of them, the investigator stated that all agencies of the federal government, including the department of justice, would be used if necessary if the company refused his demand.

Sales Information Sought.

"Notwithstanding the statement of the TNEC [the monopoly committee] that the testimony had been given a 'distorted emphasis and significance'" the statement concluded, "this bureau of criminal investigation was used by the SEC to interrogate agents with respect not only to circumstances above discussed but also strangely enough the agents of the bureau sought to extract information regarding sales and other agency activities.

"The interviews in Philadelphia and Newark took place last fall and are the basis of the stories appearing in today's press reports."

STOCK EXCHANGE PLANS TO SELL OUTSIDE UNITS

New York, Jan. 23 [Special].—The New York Stock exchange soon will take the first step in its plan to dispose of holdings not directly connected with its business, by sale of the New York Stock Exchange Safe Deposit company, a subsidiary, it was reported today.

It was said negotiations are practically completed for sale of the subsidiary to the Manufacturers Trust company. No real estate is involved, it is understood, the sale to include only the company. Manufacturers Trust would operate the company in conjunction with its own safe depositories, renting the space from the exchange.

Cut in Southern Railroad Rates Is Postponed

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission today postponed for one month—from March 1 to April 1—the effective date of its recent order in the long-fought south-to-north rate case.

Commission officials said the postponement was made to give railroads additional time to comply with the order, or to complete their briefs asking for reconsideration.

Northern Interests Protest.

Northern railroads and business interests either have filed formal petitions asking the commission to reconsider its decision or have served notice they intend to file petitions.

The commission ordered lower rates on a dozen manufactured articles moving from southern producing areas into the north and laid down a general principle that reasonably uniform rates should prevail from producing areas to common markets.

Bennett Files Petition.

New York, Jan. 23 (AP).—John J. Bennett Jr., attorney general of New York, filed today a petition with the Interstate Commerce commission asking reconsideration of the commission's order directing a reduction in railroad freight rates on products manufactured in the south and shipped to northern destinations.

The petition he announced was on behalf of New York and Delaware, the chambers of commerce of the state of New York, of Brooklyn, Buffalo, Jamestown, Rochester, Utica, Wilmington, Del., and Philadelphia, and the Baltimore Association of Commerce.

Bennett asked the privilege of reargruing the case before the commission, asserting "it is believed that a review of the evidence should indicate that the findings and conclusions of fact were not justified."

SEC ANNOUNCES RULES ON TRUST INDENTURE ACT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today announced general rules and regulations, and a series of forms for use in connection with the trust indenture act which becomes effective Feb. 3.

The rules and regulations are similar to those sent out by the commission a few months ago for comment from the industries affected. They closely follow the language of the statute.

The act sets up certain standards for trust indentures under which securities are offered to the public, and outlines the qualifications which must be met by persons seeking to serve as trustees under such indentures.

The utility division of the SEC has for some time been applying the standards of the trust indenture act to indentures which have come before the commission under the holding company act.

GOLD IMPORTS SLACKEN; CANADA CHIEF SHIPPER

Gold imports during the week ended Jan. 17 declined to $57,860,333, compared with $67,168,787 in the preceding week, the commerce department reported yesterday. Canada, with shipments totaling $34,134,491, accounted for most of the imports during the latest week. Other nations which made shipments were Norway, Holland, Italy, Japan, and South Africa.

Central banks and foreign governments increased the amount of gold on deposit with federal reserve banks by $11,770,076, according to the report. This boosted such deposits to $1,151,081,000.

Silver imports were virtually unchanged for the week, aggregating $1,145,177. Mexico, Bolivia, and Canada were the largest shippers. Exports of gold totaled $15,124 during the week. Silver exports were $330,667.

PANAMA OFFERS PLAN TO ADJUST EXTERNAL DEBT

New York, Jan. 23 (AP).—Financial representatives of the Republic of Panama announced today a plan for readjustment of the nation's $18,000,000 external debt, owed principally to bondholders in the United States.

Announcement of the plan was made simultaneously with the filing with the Securities and Exchange commission of a registration statement for two new issues of refunding bonds.

Conditioned upon approval by stockholders, Panama 5 per cent bonds, to the value of $11,313,500, would be refunded with a new issue of 3¼ per cent bonds and back interest payments would be made to bondholders at a 4 per cent rate.

The outstanding $3,603,000 in 5½ per cent bonds would be refunded by an issue of $4,000,000 in new bonds bearing an interest rate not exceeding 4½ per cent.

NAME FEDERAL GROUP TO SPEED WAR MATERIALS

Co-ordination of All Activities Is Aim.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—The White House today disclosed that President Roosevelt last Dec. 6 appointed a special committee to protect American national defense interests from sky rocketing of prices for war materials in view of the huge foreign orders which have poured into the American market.

The President's action was announced by his secretary, Stephen T. Early, who said the committee was particularly interested in preventing interference with the United States aircraft expansion orders, authorized by the last congress.

At the war department it was learned that the army had placed all its orders for delivery by June 30, 1941, for the force of 6,000 planes authorized at the last session of congress. It was said that plane orders are being filled so rapidly that at the present pace, the army will complete its program ahead of time.

Rest of Program Advanced.

It was said that the rest of the army's modernization program also is proceeding ahead of schedule, with contracts concluded for delivery of weapons, ammunition and other material.

The navy department also reported that its expansion program was well ahead of schedule. The navy was authorized to build its air force up to

3,000 planes and was voted a number of new ships now on the ways.

At both departments it was said that neither branch of the service had reason to worry about foreign competition on orders, particularly for aircraft, because no foreign government can get a single plane without approval of the aeronautical board. The board is made up of the heads of the army and navy air corps and planning divisions.

If plane production for the American services would fall behind schedule not only would plane manufacturers suffer, but foreign plane orders could be stopped by the action of the board, inquiry revealed.

Hinged on Efforts to Get Credit.

For this reason the creation of the new committee was believed by observers to be hinged on the empires' efforts to obtain credits in the United States by circumventing the Johnson act which bars credits to foreign powers which have not paid their war debts to this country.

At the beginning of the European war the French and British commandeered securities of its citizens in this country amounting to more than 1¼ billion dollars to offset munitions orders expected to pass the billion dollar mark.

For a time it was believed the empires would threaten to dump these on the market and perhaps create chaos in the American market unless this government was prepared to go along with the allies on credit extension.

As early as last spring the British held secret conferences in an attempt to employ these securities to get loans should they be needed in the event of war. The British representatives were told such loans might not be politically expedient in view of the Johnson act.

May Use Gold Reserves.

The empires also have central gold reserves of slightly more than 5¾ billion dollars, a considerable part of which is in the United States. These, too, might be employed to pay for munition purchases if the United States would give dollar offsets against the gold. There have been rumors of secret conferences between

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, Jan. 23 (AP).—Stocks swung between minor recoveries and declines in today's market. A mild rally at the start held during the larger part of the session, with aviators, steels and specialties favored. There was a slip at the beginning of the final hour, but last minute buying support again propped the list.

Altho gains of fractions to more than a point were fairly well distributed at the close, losers of small amounts were plentiful.

Dealings were slow thruout, but a bit better than yesterday. Transfers totaled 513,340 shares against 437,950 the day before. Indefiniteness of trends was exemplified by the fact 274 issues were up, 216 down, and 235 ended unchanged.

Among gainers were Douglas Aircraft, American Airplanes, Canada Dry, International Paper, Union Bag and Paper, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, General Motors, Chrysler, Southern Pacific and Anaconda. On the losing end were United States Rubber, American Telephone, Santa Fe, American Can, Union Carbide, J. I. Case, Kennecott, and Texas corporation.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 23 (AP).—Utility loans were hard hit today in a bond market which, lethargic in the morning, burst into activity late in the day.

American and Foreign Power 5s slipped 2 points and Portland General Electric 4½s fell 3⅞. On the curb market United Light and Power 6½s slumped 7 points, Pacific Power and Light 5s fell 4¼, Puget Sound Power and Light issues were off 3⅝ to 4, and the six issues of Standard Gas and Electric slipped ½ to 2½ points each.

The break attracted attention in financial circles because of the giant federal power developments on the Columbia river and efforts to provide distributing outlets for the government plants, both thru setting up public power districts and arrangements with private companies.

United States government issues ranged from 7-32 higher to 6-32 lower with plus signs predominating. Bonds of Norway, Australia, and Argentina moved forward fairly strongly in the foreign list.

Chicago Stocks.

Declines again outnumbered gains in yesterday's trading on the Chicago Stock exchange. However, one issue established a new 1939-'40 high price. It was Hormel & Co., which closed at 32 for a gain of ½ point.

Bank Stocks.

First National stock climbed 6 points to $242 a share in Chicago bank trading yesterday in a continuation of an advance that has carried it up from a price of $226 on Jan. 2. The closing bid price on Monday was $236 a share.

Most other Chicago bank stocks were unchanged yesterday. Northern Trust closed at a bid price of $560, compared with $562 on the preceding day.

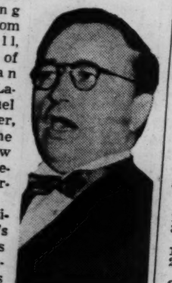
REGAIN TREATY MAKING POWER, CONGRESS TOLD

Woll and Crowther Attack Hull Program.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23 (AP).—Demands that congress reassert its authority over tariff-making came today from Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and Samuel Crowther, writer, who spoke in the name of New England's six Republican governors.



Matthew Woll.

Woll is president of America's Wage Earners Protective conference which is said to represent between 800,000 and 900,000 of a claimed A. F. of L. membership of 4,000,000. In a statement filed with the house ways and means committee, which is considering Secretary Hull's request for continued authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements, Woll opposed extension of the program in its present form and asked that all agreements be ratified by the senate before being put into effect.

Citizens' Group Advocated.

Crowther urged that congress retrieve the pact-making authority and that it set up a commission of distinguished citizens to give the nation "a full picture of our international commercial relations."

The view that high tariffs enacted during Republican administrations had been an original cause of the present war in Europe—a view which Rep. Treadway [R., Mass.] attributed to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace—was described by Crowther as "almost pathological."

"A person needs to have his brain examined then, under those conditions?" Treadway asked him. "Is that your definition of the pathology of it?"

"I think so," Crowther replied.

Reports Jobs in Jeopardy.

Crowther said that if the theory of improving national prosperity by lowering tariffs proved wrong, "the jobs of perhaps millions of men and the usefulness of perhaps billions of property will be destroyed."

Gov. Francis Murphy of New Hampshire, declared the New England governors believed the Hull program "may imperil the very economic existence of our six states." Gov. Murphy said the governors were united on one "vital question"—the delegation of treaty making power.

"We believe it ought to remain in congress," he said.

The committee also heard Wirt Franklin of Ardmore, Okla., voice the opposition of the Independent Petroleum Association of America to the reduction made in the excise tax on oil imports by the trade agreement with Venezuela.

Terms Excise Tax Advantageous.

Declaring the tax had discouraged a trend toward monopoly, by preventing large importing companies from buying up independent properties unable to compete with cheap foreign oil, Franklin urged congress to take whatever action was necessary "to restore the situation of the domestic oil industry to that condition which existed prior to negotiation of the trade pact with Venezuela."

He said the federal treasury had received $56,513,714 from the taxes up to Dec. 1, 1939, and argued that the levies had not increased prices paid by the consumer.

COTTON BREAKS ON SELLING BY BOMBAY TRADERS

Heavy selling kept cotton futures in American markets on the downgrade yesterday and prices at the close of trading showed losses of as much as $2 a bale.

Much of the selling was credited to Bombay, India, interest, and was said to be due to the collapse of a speculative boom in the Indian market.

Selling by speculators on stop-loss orders and considerable pressure from English interests contributed to yesterday's break of 0.27 to 0.41 cents a pound. Liverpool prices slumped the full permissible limit for one day of 25 English points. Prices in Bombay at one time were down the equivalent of $2.50 a bale in American money.

Spot cotton closed 0.27 to 0.37 cent a pound lower, with New York at 10.67 cents; New Orleans, 10.42 cents; Houston, 10.21 cents, and Galveston, 10.22 cents. Prices in chief markets:

the treasury and French and British representatives to this end.

Another problem involved in foreign purchases is the question of depreciation charges for plant enlargements. The manufacturers are concerned over what depreciation offsets the treasury will allow them in their income tax returns.

An unfavorable decision by the treasury may make it impossible for manufacturers to make the expansions called for by the heavy orders and complete contracts at a profit. For this reason Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau is an important figure in the conferences.

Creation of Committee Told.

The White House announcement today said:

"The President, on Dec. 6, 1939, notified the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of war, and the then acting secretary of the navy that he had created an informal interdepartmental committee to represent the United States government in all matters relating to the purchase of military or naval supplies, materials, and equipment purchased in the United States by the United States government or by foreign governments.

"This committee is charged with the duty of protecting the interests of the United States by preventing conflict with the requirements of this country and its citizens in the American markets. Members of the committee are Secretary Morgenthau, chairman; Capt. Harry E. Collins, department; Col. Edward B. Gregory, acting quartermaster general of the army, and Rear Admiral Ray Spear, paymaster general of the navy.

New Inspection Disclosed.

"Liaison between the President and the committee will be provided by the secretary of the treasury. Members of the committee, together with representatives of the various government departments concerned with the purchase of supplies by the government, and including the secretary of the treasury, will leave Washington tomorrow on an inspection trip of industrial plants and factories engaged in the manufacture of supplies and materials, military, naval, and for normal peace-time consumption. The first visit of the committee will be to the Curtiss-Wright corporation and the Bell Aircraft corporation of Buffalo, N. Y."

Early said the committee will scrutinize all types of foreign purchases in this country.

UTILITY ISSUES.

I am interested in the new bonds and debentures of Public Service of Indiana. Kindly send me some data on these issues and its stock.—M. W.

Answer: Public offering was made early last December of $38,000,000 of Public Service Company of Indiana first mortgage, series A, 4 per cent bonds due 1969 and $10,000,000 of 3¾ per cent serial debentures due from 1940 thru 1949.

With proceeds from the sale of these securities and with other company funds, the utility firm called for redemption its entire outstanding funded debt and the debt assumed from absorbed companies. The refinancing resulted in cutting interest charges on its funded debt, which now technically consists of the new bonds and debentures, and in eliminating the assumed debt.

Public Service Company of Indiana is an operating utility furnishing electricity, gas, and water to a population of about 517,000 in 52 counties of central and southern Indiana. The company was incorporated in 1912 as the Interstate Public Service company and the present name was adopted in 1931.

The Midland United company obtained control of the operating firm in 1929. Midland United is in charge of trustees appointed by the federal court. The trustees were named after the company started reorganization under the federal bankruptcy act. The common stock of Midland United is owned by the Commonwealth Edison company, Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and the Middle West corporation.

The outstanding capital stock of Public Service of Indiana is composed of 80,557 shares of $7 cumulative prior preferred stock, 13,000 shares of $6 cumulative prior preferred stock, 70,569 shares of $6 cumulative preferred stock, and 442,500 shares of common stock. All the shares are of no par value. Virtually all of the common stock is owned by Midland United.

Dividends on the preferred stocks have not been paid since 1933. Accumulated unpaid dividends on the prior preferred stocks totaled $44.62½ on the $7 series and $38.25 on the $6 series on Jan. 15, 1940. On the $6 preferred the dividend arrears will amount to $42 a share on Feb. 15, 1940.

The company legally cannot pay dividends on its capital stock until the deficit in its surplus account of $9,067,992 as of Sept. 30, 1939, has been wiped out. the Securities and Exchange commission decided after a public hearing last December. The SEC said the company's management recognized the necessity of prompt recapitalization and had indicated it would submit a readjustment plan by this April.

The company earned the fixed charges on the funded debt 1.51 times in the first 11 months of 1939, 1.38 times in all of 1938, and 1.33 times in 1937.
